SOCIETY OF FORMER FBI AGENTS

SAC Stein, Washington Field Office, called [redacted] and stated that Leonard Viner, former Agent, had requested 2,000 copies of the Director's Statement before the Kefauver Committee so that he could send these copies to the members of the Former Agents Society.

Viner is desirous of taking this step in order to give wide circulation to the Director's Statement and to bring the former Agents into a closer focus of the Bureau's current activities.

There appears to be no objections to complying with Viner's request in this matter and it is accordingly recommended that 2,000 copies of the Statement be made available to Viner.

Chicago THIS MONTH

Next Meeting June 12;
Last session a record.

Now that the attendance problem has been licked, a banner turnout is expected at the next meeting of the Chicago X-FBI Agents Society set for June 12. Prexy JIM CONERTY asks that you mark the date on your calendar now and plan to meet at the Morrison Hotel at 6:00 P.M.

Our enthusiastic session April 10th brought out a total of 55 members, which by the way is something of a record. The interest displayed by all hands demonstrated again that we have a stimulating and worthwhile organization.

One of the major attractions of each 1951 meeting, a $20.00 merchandise certificate given by VINCE CONSIDINE for John T. Shayne & Co., was carried home April 10th by DON McVAY, A.N.P.A.

Added stimulus was furnished by member JOHN BROWN, co-owner of the Brown-Orth Studebaker Agency in Des Plaines. JOHN donated 3 DeLuxe lubrication jobs. Lucky ticket holders were BILL O'ERIEN, HAROLD COLLINS and KEITH CARTER.

It was a pleasure to see the following members again: JOE HENRY, CHARLES JENKINS, PAUL TRAPANI, GUS GERDES, BILL THORSNESS, CHARLEY BOTKIN, GEORGE NEQUETTE, PAT FILTER and FRANKLIN SNYDER.

INCIDENTAL INTELLIGENCE; OR WHAT WE HEAR FROM THE MOB !

Posts of responsibility and importance in Government and industry are being filled from the ranks of FBI alumni. A recent appointment is that of TOM McINERNEY to the position of Chief Investigator for Cook County States Attorney Boyle. TOM had been on Boyle's legal staff prior to the recent advancement.

BILL THORSNESS is receiving congratulations on his appointment as Special Agent in Charge of investigations in the Chicago area for the Office of Price Stabilization . . . ED BUNDY is now with the S. Frederick Anderson Studios . . . BERT HEACOCK represents the Riegel Textile Corp., 222 W. Adams . . . Friends of EVERETT I. HENTHORN down South Bend way were sorry to hear of the recent passing of his father, age 94, a retired doctor . . . O. C. DEWEY has one more decoration in his cluster of achievements - assistant director of civilian defense at Glencoe, Illinois. His experience in the Miami hurricane in 1926, not to mention the Louisville flood of 1937, should draw for ORVILLE many a bow from his neighbors . . . JOSEPH P. SULLIVAN now hangs his hat at 8415 Northcote Blvd., Munster, Indiana . . . JOHN C. NEWELL, JR., Peoria, announces the arrival of a new daughter, Marcia, born March 4, 1951 . . . Everyone missed BILL CONWAY at the last meeting but we understand he is taking a Cook's tour of the south and may be cruising off the coast of Florida.

JOHN ATKINSON has the pot boiling for the 1951 golf outing. Look for plans to be announced soon. Tentative schedule calls for a mid-June golf tourney.

MARTIN J. LOWERY missed our February 6th meeting because on that night he was awarded his Ph. D. degree at Loyola University. Congratulations Doctor! MARTIN says that leaves but one school-boy in the Chicago Chapter - BILL HELME. BILL agrees that he is still a schoolboy but not for long. He gets his medical degree in June and will intern at the Milwaukee General Hospital. BILL is to be applauded for his perseverance in completing pre-med and med school after leaving the Bureau.

SPECIAL PLACEMENT NEWS

Our placement committee continues to forge ahead in locating all types of executive positions for interested members. Under the direction of GIL SMITH and staff members GEORGE STEVENS, BILL THORSNESS and JIM MURNANE, a new and possibly far-reaching program is being instituted to assist members of the Chicago X-FBI Chapter.

Following the regular meeting on April 10th a special meeting was held for those interested in placement problems. During the course of this group discussion it was decided by the members present that a fund should be sought to finance a campaign to circularize on a wide basis the availability of this reservoir of FBI-trained executives. Voluntary subscriptions were collected during the evening to start the placement fund rolling. An aggressive but dignified campaign is now being started to acquaint prospective employers with what we have to offer. Any member who did not have an opportunity to contribute to this fund April 10th is invited to fill out the attached letter and enclose not more than $2.00.

Concurrent with our nation's all-out defense effort and the transition of industrial production from peace-time to war-time goods, there has been a noticeable increase in the demand for FBI trained personnel by many industries. This trend is recognized by the placement committee and for that reason efforts are being doubled in order to assist our members in taking over these important jobs.

Every member is urged to advise the placement committee (GIL SMITH) either by letter or by telephone of any personnel needs which his employer might have, or the name of any other organizations that might be interested in employing X-FBI agents. The more openings the placement committee knows about the better job it can do in placing members.

Each member who receives information as to an available job from the placement committee should maintain same in strict confidence. This is not only to protect our own membership but also to show due consideration and proper discretion to the potential employer. If we are known to have violated his confidence it may jeopardize future dealings of other society members.

The placement committee has knowledge of the following employment opportunities. (For more information on any position, contact GIL SMITH, Telephone: Monroe 6-8300. Just identify the job by symbol number).

Attention: Assistant Director
L. B. NICHOLS

Several weeks ago I advised Inspector JOHN McGUIRE, of the Bureau, that former Special Agent LEONARD VINER advised me he would like to have a sufficient number of copies of Mr. HOOVER's Speech before the Special Committee to Investigate Organized Crime in Interstate Commerce on March 26, 1951. Mr. McGUIRE made a sufficient number available to me. They were then picked up by Mr. VINER and sent to the headquarters of the Society of Former Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in New York for distribution.

Enclosed herewith is a copy of the transmittal letter used by President ROBERT W. DICK for that purpose.

Dear Member:

In the belief you would like to have for reference purposes the prepared statement of Mr. J. Edgar Hoover given before the Kefauver Committee on March 26, 1951, it is being sent to you herewith. You will undoubtedly hear it referred to from time to time by members of the American public.

Undoubtedly, many of you heard Mr. Hoover's statement via radio and television and are aware of the able manner in which it was presented. In my opinion, his statement is interesting, informative and courageous.

Dear Members

Each member of the Society is receiving a copy of this notice. Ed Morgan and the Society would prefer to channel inquiries relative to this possibility of employment by members of the Society through our placement committee. In view of the necessity of quick and early action for obvious reasons, if you are interested in any of the positions with Ed please communicate directly with him % Economic Stabilization Agency, Washington 25, D. C. The Society is confident that Ed will cooperate with the placement committee with advices. The following is Ed Morgan's letter:

"As you know, I have just been appointed Director of Enforcement in the Office of Price Stabilization. To my mind, the stabilizing of our National economy is essential to our successfully resisting Soviet imperialism and aggression and ultimately bringing about our own security as well as the peace of the world. I accepted the job, fully conscious of its difficulties, but at the same time realizing that it must be done.

Whether we succeed or fail will depend largely on the patriotism, ability and integrity of the men in price enforcement. While I am flooded with applications from apparently able individuals, I know of no group of men who so uniformly possess these character attributes than the fellows with whom we both were privileged to serve in the F.B.I.

For this reason, I want to bring into the Enforcement Division as many former agents as possible. Additionally, I want to avoid the expense of training men already so well trained incident to their F.B.I. experience. In addition to the headquarters staff, we will have thirteen Regional Offices and some eighty-one District Offices. We need experienced lawyers, accountants, and investigators. The positions range from Grade 15 ($10,000 per annum) downward, depending on qualifications, with some positions in the so-called super grades for those peculiarly qualified for responsible executive positions.

This is an opportunity, in my opinion, for the Society of Former Special Agents, with the highest motives of patriotism to aid in doing a tough job well, which is of paramount importance to our National security.

With this in mind, I would deeply appreciate you, as President of the Society, immediately acquainting all of our members with the need for good men and that, in the interest of expedition, they communicate directly with me. If, at the earliest possible time, should they be interested and available to come in to the Enforcement Division. In the case of those interested, it would expedite processing if they would send me an executed Civil Service Form No. 57 with their original communication.

Cordially,

Bill Seery

RE GROUP INSURANCE

The purpose of this note is not to create any false hopes with respect to the proposed group insurance plan. In the past few days, however, we are in receipt of assurances which indicate that we will be able to complete this program successfully. Myself again express to you my appreciation for your patience and endurance with respect to this program. It would be appreciated if you would not ask for the return of your money at this time, in order that we can work out this program successfully, which of course, can not be done in a few days.

JUNE NEWS - William S. Devereaux Chapter - X-FBI Society

N. Y. OFFICER TO ATTEND JUNE 12 CHICAGO MEETING

Bill Seery, Placement Chairman of the Society from New York, has advised Jim Conerty that he plans to be in Chicago to attend the next meeting June 12, at the Morrison Hotel.

Chicago always gives a rousing welcome to visitors from the Provinces and from all indications another record crowd will be on hand. It is presumed Mr. Seery is well versed, among other things, in the many facets of group insurance.

A postcard is enclosed for the convenience of all members. Please indicate your plans to attend the next meeting June 12, at the Morrison Hotel, at 6:00 P.M. and mail the postcard tonight.

NOTICE TO ALL HOGANS & SNEADS POLISH UP YOUR PUTTERS BOYS !

Our second annual super-terrific Golf Outing is now out of the talking stage and is on the drawing board, reports John Atkinson, X-FBI Golf Promoter.

Scene of the historic, free-swinging event is the Itasca Golf Club, Itasca, Illinois (out Irving Park Blvd.) and the date is Tuesday, August 7, 1951. This date is later than some had hoped for, agrees Mr. A. But it appears that Itasca is so popular (Buck Wood regularly mutilates the fairways there too) that a June or July date was impossible.

While the Golf Committee hesitates being quoted this is a recent terse but verbatim comment of its chairman:

"Swell golf course--good food--fine accommodations--and cash prizes for winners of contests. Open competition for skillful shooters. Good odds promised (?). Door prize. Tee off at 2:30 p.m. Dinner at 8:00 p.m. Prizes at 9:00 p.m. No speeches or business transacted. Cards thereafter. The works will cost you $8.00. Dinner only, $4.00. A successful party depends on patronage. Good time guaranteed. Mark Your Calendar Today!"

LOOPING THE LOOP: OR GLEANINGS FROM THE LASALLE ST. GRAPEVINE

The eminent barrister, William I. (Bill) Conway, while in Washington, D. C. recently, was admitted to practice before the U. S. Supreme Court. Bill has also acquired a new address and may be found during non-working hours at 423 Washington Blvd., Oak Park.

J. J. Gerber, one of our busiest members, who is vice president and director of public relations at Northwestern University, was recently general chairman of a meeting of business leaders, educators, and public relations executives. The conference was held for the purpose of studying methods of modern communications and how they can be utilized to bring about a closer relationship and better understanding between employer and employee.

James Joice recently had occasion for a double celebration; the acquisition of a bride and his election to secretary of International Packers.

Gus Gerdes and his bride are now comfortably settled in their new Glenview home. Earlier in the year, an extended honeymoon took them on a leisurely cruise to Europe.

Lloyd Briggs laments that recent heavy rains caught him with his levees down. Things out Glenview way got so wet, he was afraid his address might have to be changed to Pier 16.

Paul Hayes is now getting acclimated in his new position as Security Director at Argonne Laboratories. Paul would be the first to deny the rumor that he has taken a correspondence course in combatting fence climbers. (We're still talking about Hayes and not Aurant.)

Buck and Margaret Wood have just returned from a combination business and pleasure trip to San Francisco, Los Angeles and points in between. After looking over the western deserts, Buck really enjoys the appearance of green grass and trees.

The thoroughbred Racing contingent dispersed to their respective offices after the recent Kentucky Derby. Spencer Drayton, Ed Coffey and Bob Laughlin to New York, Keith Carter, Chuck Perrin and Al Wells to Chicago. Ed came to Louisville from Washington, D.C. with Guest Bill Boyle, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Leon Gell was recently promoted from Assistant Cashier to Assistant Vice President at the American National Bank.

Herb Pohlman has just left the Bureau to join International Packers.

Bob Chapman has forsaken the canyons of Manhattan to return to Chicago. He is again in charge here for the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies. Bob, his wife and two children will make their new home at 301 Touhy Ave., Park Ridge.

PROGRESS REPORT ON THE WORLD'S LEAST INFLUENTIAL NEWSPAPER

This is the third issue of "CHICAGO This Month" and the comments from members have been so favorable that your officers believe our little experiment in dog-eared journalism should be continued.

Just a word on our circulation. We now publish nearly 200 copies, which are not only sent to our immediate Chicago group, but are also forwarded to X-Agents within a 200-mile radius. We even clutter the mail of all the other 26 chapter offices with a copy. We see no harm in letting fellow members in other cities know where the liveliest and most active chapter is located!

Funds are always a problem. We have a few bucks in the treasury now, but need more. Very frankly, our only present source of revenue is the door prize, a $20.00 merchandise certificate donated free at each meeting by John T. Shayne & Co. Every member is urged to participate in this drawing.

Meanwhile, you send in the news and we'll print it and send it back.

Society for Former Agents

My dear Mr. Hoover:

The "Society of Former Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation" has authorized me to contact you regarding another "Father and Son Day" at Quantico, Virginia. Your former agents would again like to show their sons or a boy guest where they were trained while they were in the Bureau's service.

No doubt you recall the success of that same event last year and the warm spirit of cooperation, loyalty, and interest in the Bureau which the gathering engendered. In my capacity as Vice-Chairman of the Washington Chapter, I have been often requested to see if similar arrangements can be made this year

If in these critical times you find it possible to have us visit Quantico, the "Society" will be very grateful. A Saturday in September is preferred if our request is granted. In the event this is not possible, we would appreciate any time which is convenient to the Bureau.

I wish to extend my kindest personal regards to you.

Sincerely yours,

Leonard R Viner

In line with my conversation with the Director, I advised Leonard Viner that in view of the stepped-up training program it would simply not be possible at this time to take former Agents to Quantico; that we would be glad to keep this in mind when the situation eased up but at the present time we could not do it.

SOCIETY OF FORMER SPECIAL AGENTS

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION, INC.
70 Pine Street

August 30, 1951

Dear Member:

RE: GROUP INSURANCE

In order to avoid any ambiguity with reference to the group insurance plan on the part of those who did not subscribe to this proposal and to those who did subscribe originally, but in the course of the negotiations insisted that their premium payment be returned to them and who subsequently sent in payment of a semi-annual or annual premium; they will not have any coverage under this plan until October 1, 1951.

It is desired for administrative purposes and easy demands upon our paid secretary to keep this on a fiscal year basis of July 1. For this reason, those members who submitted a check as outlined in the above paragraph, e.g., in the sum of $50. will have paid coverage until June 30, 1952 and to complete their second year premium they will only have to remit the sum of $37.50. The semi-annual premium payments will be handled in the same manner.

There remains a few technical matters to be worked out and as soon as these have been resolved, all members subscribing to the plan will receive certificates and the Society will receive a master policy.

Cordially,

Robert W. Dick

TRAINING GROUND

FBI Fits 'Grads' for Big Jobs

BY FREDERICK BIRD

Old FBI agents don't fade away—they go on to better jobs.

Name almost any occupation, and you'll find that one of the 125 ex-agents in the Chicago area is filling the bill.

There's a doctor, William B. Helme, graduating this year from Loyola, there are lawyers by the dozen.

Martin J Lowery is an expert in Latin American history, Virgil W Peterson is operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission, and one-time agent Walter Devereaux is chief investigator.

THE GRADUATES of the FBI's rigid school—hand picked from the beginning—meet every three months here as the X-FBI society

Nationally they belong to the Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI, with branches in 27 cities

Perhaps a quarter of the men here served together, building up

WALTER DEVEREAUX VIRGIL PETERSON

the close ties that common danger brings to soldiers and crime fighters

THE "OLD SCHOOL TIE" has nothing on the ex-agents' loyalty to J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the FBI since 1924

They credit him with kicking out politics and bringing in the modern crime-detection methods that made the FBI famous.

The Chicago group can boast a couple of college officials: William C Pine, vice president of Lake Forest College, and J. J

REP VELDE

Gerber, vice-president and director of public relations for Northwestern University

Harold H Velde took Sen Dirksen's old seat in Congress as Republican representative from the 18th district.

JOHN S BUGAS is vice president of the Ford Motor Co and four ex-FBI men are Ford executives here Robert Kelly, William O'Leary, William O'Brien and Lawrence Corrigan

There's a banker, Gilbert A. Smith, and department store executives, Ray Cavanaugh and George Van Gerpen, and a super cop, Thomas S. McInerney, chief investigator for the state's attorney.

John A Breen and William J Conway hold up the legal end, and John A Lynch heads an accounting firm

SPENCER J. Drayton, head of the Chicago FBI office in the roundup of the Roger Touhy gang, is president of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau, and his Midwest assistant is Keith Carter, treasurer of the Chicago X-FBI society.

S J DRAYTON

JOHN BUGAS

A clue to how the men are faring is offered in the Chicago society bulletin: The average starting salary of job openings is a neat $7,645 a year, with some starting at $10,000.

Carter, the race-horse man, credits FBI training methods for success in many fields "The esprit de corps of the FBI, and the constant effort to get facts together in an iron-tight way, bring out the best in a man."

JAMES E. Conerty, society president who is public relations man for Curtiss Candy Co, explained it this way

"A man's well started if he passes the original FBI investigation. They take a microscope to every phase of his past life.

"They give him topnotch training, and hold him to high standards of performance. It's a course I'd recommend for anyone."

NEXT MEETING SEPTEMBER 25!

President Jim Conerty has arranged for the Penthouse Room of the Morrison Hotel for the next meeting of the Chicago Chapter on Tuesday evening, September 25.

Mark your calendar now and plan to be on hand at 6:00 P.M. The excellent arrangements for food and drink previously enjoyed at meetings at the Morrison will again prevail.

Get in touch with your friends in the Society and urge them to be present.

Let's have another record turn-out for this first Fall meeting!

VINCE CONSIDINE, John T. Shayne & Co. V.P., will again contribute a $20 merchandise certificate as a door prize to stimulate attendance and help the Chapter pay the freight for such items as postage, printing of notices and news letters to members. The exclusive Michigan Boulevard store has some nifty headgear, men! Get your tickets for the drawing at the door.

NOTICE TO THE HAND MASHIE SET:

THERE WILL BE A GOLF OUTING NEXT YEAR!

For several reasons, chief among which was a disappointing response, the second annual golf outing of the Chicago Chapter has been cancelled. All crafty handicappers, however, should put their sticks away where they can find them as X-FBI Golf Promoter John Atkinson expects to generate some real steam for a bang-up tournament next season. Chapter sharks may assuage their disappointment at the loss of such rare opportunity to exhibit their skill by turning their attention to another time honored sport which is usually performed indoors and for which ample opportunity will be given at the September 25 meeting.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

New faces we'll expect to see at the next meeting are VIRGIL WILLISIE, recently in from St. Louis, now doing public relations work at Crane Co.; EDGAR JONES, just in from Philadelphia with government briefcase and taking up residence in Wilmette. GEORGE Mc-SWAIN, Chicago ex-SAC, has resigned and will be a welcome new member of the Society.

KEITH CARTER, ex-scribe, spelled backwards is pronounced RETRAC HTIEK, has resigned the horse detectives (Thorbred Racing Protective Bureau), and moved with his family to Omaha, when pronounced backwards is spelled A-H-A-M-O, to take up new duties with AK-SAR-BEN, which spelled backwards is pronounced Nebraska and is engaged in the promotion thereof. This last is no rib! Good luck to Keith in his new venture! Nebraska is a great state any way you spell it...so they spell it that way just to prove it. (Keith hasn't entirely forsaken the saddle burr and saliva test...Omaha, he says, has a first class 33-day hoss meet.)

OTHER NEW JOBS.....

BOB KLETT to Augusta, Georgia, with duPont; ex-Lake Forest College V.P. BILL PINE has gone to Detroit to administer one of the Ford charitable funds; JACK GRADY has leased his Normall, Illinois PILGRIM RESTAURANT and gone to work for the Economic Cooperation Administration - now resides at 2778 73rd Place, Kent Village, Hyattsville, Maryland; JIM DOWNING is new Assistant Manager of Inter-State Securities; CHUCK PERRIN, also lately a horse detective, now with Illinois Central.

JAY GERBER, V-P and director of public relations for Northwestern University, is also a publisher, at least part time. JAY is a business partner in the Naperville Clarion.

A contributor to the Placement Committee fund who hasn't been seen in meetings is JOSEPH P. SULLIVAN of Munster, Ind.

BILL O'CONNOR of the Chicago office has resigned to go to Milwaukee with Wisconsin Ice & Coal...BOB KELLY is up from Peoria with Ford Aircraft... JACK RYAN is back on the job after a 10-day sojourn in a Milwaukee hospital. Jack says that during convalescence and before he could assume a normal sitting posture his feet got pretty sore.

If you don't like this letter,

DON McVAY

360 North Michigan Avenue

Room 808

Your name will be mentioned in the next issue.

A postcard is enclosed for the convenience of all members.

Please indicate your plans to attend the next meeting September 25, at the Morrison Hotel, at 6:00 P.M. and mail the postcard tonight.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES

There were quite a few Chicago Ex-Agents' names and faces in the June 16 issue of the Chicago Daily News which carried a feature story with pictures of X-FBIers filling big jobs. Reprints of the article have been obtained by the Placement Committee for use as promotion for Ex-agents using the facilities of the placement service. Committee Chairman GIL SMITH can let you have a copy if you want to show the boss what a whiz you were or if you can put it to good use in cultivating job opportunities of Society members.

The Placement Committee has had some new and very business-like stationary prepared so that any referrals obtained through them will be attended by proper dignity. A number of worth while job opportunities are on tap and are listed in this letter.

Your attention is directed to the attached memorandum from the Director dated September 17, 1951, reflecting his interview on September 14, 1951, with former Special Agent Robert W. Dick, President of the Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI.

While I understand fully why the Director would not be able to respond to Mr. Dick's invitation, I do feel that perhaps the Bureau might want to send a ranking official of the FBI to appear before this particular meeting.

I am aware of the background of this organization and realize that some few former employees who do not have the Bureau's interest at heart are in it. On the whole, however, I think that former Agents of the Bureau are loyal and desire to do everything possible to help the FBI at the present time. It seems to me that a former Agent is in a better position than anyone else to be of assistance to the Bureau since he is thoroughly familiar with the work and knows just how we operate. On the other hand, I feel that a former Agent who has gone sour is for the very same reason in a better position to do us harm than anyone else. He, of course, has in his possession much confidential information which if revealed could do a great deal of damage. I have always felt that we should take whatever action possible within reason to solicit the cooperation of former Agents.

Should the annual meeting of the Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI be a closed one, quite possibly a great deal of good would accrue to the Bureau if a ranking official would address the group and during the course of his remarks cover some of the criticisms which have been made against the Bureau in various quarters. This would acquaint the former Special Agents with the facts so that each could be in a position to squelch a lot of the wild, unfounded accusations which are made against the FBI. I do not see how such an appearance would harm the FBI in the least, and the odds are that it would do a great deal to benefit our organization.

My dear Mr. Hoover:

The Officers and Members of the Society would like very much to have you attend our meeting on November 27th, 1951. It is realized that you are very busy but if you could in any way find it possible to attend we would be all very appreciative. We would also be happy to extend the invitation to any other of your associates in the Bureau that you might wish to have accompany you. We are very sure that we can arrange the meeting to suit your purposes and conveniences.

I want to assure you if you would favor us with your presence that although I know the boys would like to hear a few words from you, it would not be necessary for you to prepare a major address for the purpose of attending this meeting unless you desire to do so.

SOCIETY FORMER SPECIAL AGENTS OF THE
FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION
INC.

ROOM 1025, 70 PINE ST., NEW YORK 5, N. Y.

FOR PRESIDENT

Alfred B. Berry

Alfred B. Berry, a native New Yorker, born April 28, 1911 received the degree of Bachelor of Science in electrical engineering from Purdue University in 1935 and thereafter, while employed with the Consolidated Edison Company of New York attended Fordham Law School and in 1940 received his degree.

Al's service in the FBI covered the period January 1941 to April 1946 and included assignments at San Francisco, Washington and New York. At Washington, for a period of time, he was an instructor in the Training Division and while assigned to the New York Office, was Supervisor in charge of the Criminal Section, the position he held at the time of his resignation in 1946. He was a qualified firearms man and lectured considerably before police schools and public groups.

He was admitted to the New York State Bar while still in the FBI, and after his resignation, became associated with a firm of patent attorneys in New York. In 1948, he himself became a registered patent attorney. In May, 1948, he resigned to accept an appointment as Superintendent of the Security Division of the General Claim Department, Railway Express Agency, Inc. Al is presently employed by C. B. S. as Asst. Director of Scenic Design and construction.

Al, and his charming wife have two boys and live on suburban Long Island. He was formerly an active oarsman, but today his week-ends are spent improving his house, mowing his lawn and occasionally, hacking his way out of the woods of one of the local golf courses.

Howard V. Ross

Howard Ross is one of those fellows that when you meet him you like him immediately. He seems to be an easy going chap, full of life and full of fun. Life is really wonderful and it should be when you consider that he has a most charming wife and a beautiful little girl. Howard has a nice home in Bronxville Manor in Westchester. Incidentally he had just moved in when the snow fell and he was stranded for a number of days. But he will tell you now that there is nothing like the country air.

Howard is just one of thousands who live and work in New York but are not native sons. He hails from St. Joseph, Missouri, where he was born in 1914 and where he received his preliminary and higher education. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri, having received his LL.B. in 1937.

Upon his admission to the Bar, Howard engaged in the practice of law at St. Joe until 1941 and entered the Bureau as a Special Agent in December, 1941, and served until September 1944. While in the Bureau he was assigned to Birmingham and after a time was resident agent at Greenwood, Mississippi. In 1943 he was on Special to

New York and later was assigned to that office

Howard could not stay away from the practice of law for long and in 1944 became associated with the prominent law firm of Simpson, Thatcher & Bartlett where he is now a senior associate specializing in labor law. His legal ability has been definitely established and we are sure that it will not be long when he becomes a member of that excellent firm.

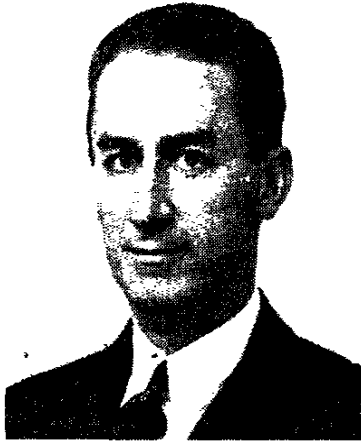

The State of New York had insisted upon Howard showing his knowledge of law. They refused to admit him to practice upon motion despite the fact that he had been admitted in Missouri for a number of years. He showed them by passing their bar examination on the first try.

Howard is very active in the Society and has never been known to miss a meeting or turn down an assignment. He is always willing to do more than his share. He is at present the Chairman of the Membership Committee.

The practice of law leaves little time for extra-curricular activities. On week ends he had played lots of soft ball and once in a while sits in at a game of poker. If you have not played poker with Howard you are really in for something.

Eugene M. Ward

In view of the long period during which Gene Ward has been an ardent worker in Society affairs, it is fitting that he should be nominated for election as President. Gene has been a Society Secretary and has served on the Publications Committee. Due to an inherent love for his fellow men he has long been an unofficial greeter of the new members of the Society, going out of his way to meet the neophytes and make them feel at home. Hence, he has a wide acquaintance among Society members. Gene has just completed three years as an Executive Committee Member — also was co-founder of the Cleveland Chapter.

Gene is a graduate of the public schools of New York City and in common with many of our early special accountants is a graduate of the Pace Institute. He was appointed as a special accountant in the Bureau in June, 1929 and remained on the staff until the close of the year 1935. His initial assignment was as a reviewer of the famous (but unpopular) accounting lessons which were part of the training of all agents. Later he was assigned to the Seattle, Detroit and New York Field Offices. He specialized in investigations in connection with banking cases and in 1938 worked on the Cash kidnapping case in Miami, Florida.

When he left the Bureau Gene went with the Claims Bureau of the Association of Casualty & Surety Executives and was in charge of the Buffalo and Cleveland

offices of that organization. Later he was a senior accountant with the Comptroller's Division of the Office of Alien Property Custodian, New York City. At the present time is with Guggenheim Brothers, 120 Broadway, New York City. He resides at 111-01-85th Avenue, Richmond Hill 18, N. Y.

FIRST VICE PRESIDENT

Robert L. King

Bob King was born September 8, 1913, at Birmingham, Alabama, and educated in the Birmingham public schools. During the 30's, Bob was employed in Washington, D. C. by several of the New Deal alphabetical bureaus, and used his free time to attend law school at George Washington. His formal educational endeavors ended in 1938 when he received an LL.B. degree.

Joining the FBI in July, 1938, as a Special Agent, Bob began the customary trek through the various field offices: thirty days in Des Moines, two months in Knoxville, one year in Memphis, and thence to San Francisco.

In the six years which he spent in the San Francisco field office, Bob distinguished himself by becoming a "Junior Inspector," supervisor of the squad handling communist activities, and a firearms instructor. Affectionately known as the "commissar," Bob was generally regarded as one of the Bureau's foremost authorities on communist activities.

Forsaking the Bureau for private industry, Bob augmented his bar membership (D.C.) by joining the Southern Comfort bar in December, 1945.

Bob joined the Southern Comfort family as General Manager. Six months later he was elected a Director of the company. At the present time, he is Director, Vice President and General Manager of the Southern Comfort Corporation. He is also a Kiwanian, a Director and Advisor of Junior Achievement, Inc. St. Louis, and District Chairman of the Greater Community Chest of St. Louis.

Being the father of two children (both adopted), Bob devotes his spare time to raising his family, which includes—among other things—being a den father for the Indian Guides. When time permits him to enjoy them, his hobbies include hunting, golfing (shoots in high eighties), and fishing.

Harold B. Judell

Harold B. Judell was born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, March 9, 1915. He holds B.A. and LL.B. degrees from the University of Wisconsin and an LL.B. degree in Civil Law from Tulane University. He is a member of both the Louisiana and Wisconsin bars. After graduating from the University of Wisconsin, he practiced law in Milwaukee Harold entered the bureau as a special agent in 1939. New Orleans, Newark and Baltimore were his field office stops prior to becoming an administrative assistant at the seat of government. Before the outbreak of World War II he went abroad on special assignment and served as Legal Attache to the U. S. Embassy in Peru.

Harold resigned in 1944, entered the Navy, served as officer in charge of a landing craft in the European Theater and wound up as legal officer for Demobilization in the Bureau of Naval Personnel. After a tour of duty as Counsel for the Institute of Inter-American Affairs he resigned from the government service and became a managing partner in a Louisiana concern which owns and operates extensive oil and agricultural properties in the state.

A Louisiana "Colonel," Harold is active in civic affairs in New Orleans and currently is Chairman of the New Orleans Chapter of the Society.

SECOND VICE PRESIDENT

Glenn V. Dierst

He gave a quick claim deed to the State of Pennsylvania and migrated to Oregon in 1931 and practiced law in Portland until 1935 at which time he gave up his practice to enter the Bureau. He resigned from the Bureau in July 1940 to become the Plant Protection Manager at the Boeing Airplane Company where he is still employed in that capacity.

Emmett was born in San Francisco in 1912 attended a local high school where he was active in athletics and subsequently received his A. B. from the University of San Francisco in 1934. Here he was active on the basketball and debating teams and other campus activities. He obtained his L. L. B. from the same institution in May 1937, and during his senior year was president of the Law School Student Body.

Emmett entered the Bureau in January 1938, and was assigned to Memphis, Charlotte, Detroit and New York City and San Francisco field offices. He worked on several specials during his stay in the Bureau including the Dequesne espionage case, the Lepke and Christian Front cases. He recalls his amazement at watching the microfilm dots popping out of the informant's watch after he had taken the informant from the liner of the S. A. C.'s office in New York City at the start of the Duquesne case.

In San Francisco, Emmett handled German espionage matters and was, during the past war, supervisor of the German squad.

Emmett resigned from the Bureau in 1946 to handle the security of various Northern California race tracks. He presently conducts his own investigation service with offices at 41 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

Emmett married Marie Costello of San Francisco. They have three children who answer to the nicknames of Regee, Jackie and Muffy.

During the Ketauwer Committee hearing in San Francisco, Emmett achieved a unique honor of which he is justifiably proud. One of the principal witnesses and one of the Committee's attorneys had the high praise for Emmett's integrity and ability when it developed that he had done some work as an investigator for the witness who was under interrogation.

He was admitted to the New York State Bar while still in the FBI, and after his resignation, became associated with a firm of patent attorneys in New York. In 1948, he himself became a registered patent attorney. In May, 1948, he resigned to accept an appointment as Superintendent of the Security Division of the General Claim Department, Railway Express Agency, Inc. Al is presently employed by C B S as Asst. Director of Scenic Design and construction.

Al, and his charming wife have two boys and live on suburban Long Island. He was formerly an active oarsman, but today his week-ends are spent improving his house, mowing his lawn and occasionally, hacking his way out of the woods of one of the local golf courses.

Howard V. Ross

Howard Ross is one of those fellows that when you meet him you like him immediately. He seems to be an easy going chap, full of life and full of fun. Life is really wonderful and it should be when you consider that he has a most charming wife and a beautiful little girl! Howard has a nice home in Bronxville Manor in Westchester. Incidentally he had just moved in when the snow fell and he was stranded for a number of days. But he will tell you now that "there is nothing like the country air."

Howard is just one of thousands who live and work in New York but are not native sons. He hails from St. Joseph, Missouri, where he was born in 1914 and where he received his preliminary and higher education. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri, having received his LL.B. in 1937.

Upon his admission to the practice of law at St. Joe until 1941 and entered the Bureau as a Special Agent in 1941. He served until September 1944. While in the Bureau he was assigned to Birmingham and after a time was resident agent at Greenwood, Mississippi. In 1943 he was on Special to

Howard could not stay away from the practice of law for long and in 1944 became associated with the prominent law firm of Simpson, Thatcher & Bartlett where he is now a senior associate specializing in labor law. His legal ability has been definitely established and we are sure that it will not be long when he becomes a member of that excellent firm.

The State of New York had insisted upon Howard showing his knowledge of law. They refused to admit him to practice upon motion despite the fact that he had been admitted in Missouri for a number of years. He showed them by passing their bar examination on the first try.

Howard is very active in the Society and has never been known to miss a meeting or turn down an assignment. He is always willing to do more than his share. He is at present the Chairman of the Membership Committee.

The practice of law leaves little time for extra curricular activities. On week ends he had played lots of soft ball and once in a while sits in at a game of poker. If you have not played poker with Howard you are really in for something.

Eugene M. Ward

In view of the long period during which "Gene" Ward has been an ardent worker in Society affairs, it is fitting that he should be nominated for election as President. "Gene" has been a Society Secretary and has served on the Publications Committee. Due to an inherent love for his fellow men he has long been an unofficial greeter of the new members of the Society, going out of his way to meet the neophytes and make them feel at home. Hence, he has a wide acquaintance among Society members. Gene has just completed three years as an Executive Committee Member — also was co-founder of the Cleveland Chapter.

Gene is a graduate of the public schools of New York City and in common with many of our early special accountants is a graduate of the Pace Institute. He was appointed as a special accountant in the Bureau in June 1929 and remained on the staff until the close of the year 1938. His initial assignment was as a reviewer of the famous (but unpopular) accounting lessons which were part of the training of all agents. Later he was assigned to the Seattle, Detroit and New York Field Offices. He specialized in investigations in connection with banking cases and in 1938 worked on the Cash kidnapping case in Miami, Florida.

When he left the Bureau "Gene" went with the Claims Bureau of the Association of Casualty & Surety Executives and was in charge of the Buffalo and Cleveland

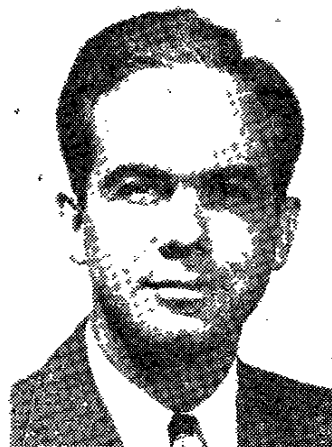

offices of that organization. Later he was a senior accountant with the Comptroller's Division of the Office of Achen, Property Custodian, New York City. At the present time is with Guggenheim Brothers, 120 Broadway, New York City. He resides at 111-01 55th Avenue, Richmond Hill 18, N. Y.

FIRST VICE PRESIDENT

Robert L. King

Bob King was born September 8, 1913, at Birmingham, Alabama, and educated in the Birmingham public schools. During the 30's Bob was employed in Washington, D. C. by several of the New Deal alphabetical bureaus, and used his free time to attend law school at George Washington. His formal educational endeavors ended in 1938 when he received an LL.B. degree.

Joining the FBI in July, 1938, as a Special Agent, Bob began the customary trek through the various field offices, thirty days in Des Moines, two months in Knoxville, one year in Memphis, and thence to San Francisco.

In the six years which he spent in the San Francisco field office, Bob distinguished himself by becoming a "Junior Inspector," supervisor of the squad handling communist activities and a firearms instructor. Affectionately known as the "commissar," Bob was generally regarded as one of the Bureau's foremost authorities on communist activities.

Forfeiting the Bureau for private industry, Bob augmented his bar membership (D.C.) by joining the Southern Comfort bar in December, 1945.

Bob joined the Southern Comfort family as General Manager. Six months later he was elected a Director of the company. At the present time, he is Director, Vice President and General Manager of the Southern Comfort Corporation. He is also a Kiwanian, a Director and Advisor of Junior Achievement, Inc. St. Louis, and District Chairman of the Greater Community Chest of St. Louis.

Being the father of two children (both adopted), Bob devotes his spare time to raising his family, which includes—among other things—being a den tather for the Indian Guides. When time permits him to enjoy them, his hobbies include hunting, golfing (shoots in high eighties) and fishing.

Harold B. Judell

Harold B. Judell was born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, March 9, 1915. He holds B.A. and LL.B. degrees from the University of Wisconsin and an LL.B. degree in Civil Law from Tulane University. He is a member of both the Louisiana and Wisconsin bars. After graduating from the University of Wisconsin, he practiced law in Milwaukee Harold entered the bureau as a special agent in 1929. New Orleans, Newark and Baltimore were his field office stops prior to becoming an administrative assistant at the seat of government. Before the outbreak of World War II he went abroad on special assignment and served as Legal Attache to the U S Embassy in Peru.

Harold resigned in 1944, entered the Navy, served as officer in charge of a landing craft in the European Theater and wound up as legal officer for Demobilization in the Bureau of Naval Personnel. After a tour of duty as Counsel for the Institute of Inter-American Affairs he resigned from the government service and became a managing partner in a Louisiana concern which owns and operates extensive oil and agricultural properties in the state.

Emmett entered the Bureau in January 1938, and was assigned to Memphis, Charlotte, Detroit and New York City and San Francisco field offices. He worked on several specials during his stay in the Bureau including the DeQuessne espionage case, the Lepke and Christian Front cases. He recalls his amazement at watching the microfilm dots popping out of the informant's watch after he had taken the informant from the liner of the SAC's office in New York City at the start of the Duquesne case.

In San Francisco, Emmett handled German espionage matters and was, during the past war, supervisor of the German squad.

Emmett resigned from the Bureau in 1946 to handle the security of various Northern California race tracks. He presently conducts his own investigation service with offices at 41 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

Emmett married Marie Costello of San Francisco. They have three children who answer to the nicknames of Regee, Jackie and Muffy.

During the Kefauver Committee hearing in San Francisco, Emmett achieved a unique honor of which he is justifiably proud. One of the principal witnesses and one of the Committee's attorneys had the high praise for Emmett's integrity and ability when it developed that he had done some work as an investigator for the witness who was under interrogation.

Relative to the inquiry of Mr. Nichols concerning lunch to be served to the former Agents of the FBI who intend visiting Quantico some Saturday in May of this year, there is attached four suggested menus from which to make a selection. The vegetables, desserts, and salads can be interchanged or others selected. advised that he did not wish to make any profit off the meal and would be willing to serve it at cost; however, this would complicate matters on collections. He further advised that he could serve the tenderloin steak and prime ribs of beef at $1.50 a plate or the ham and chicken at $1.25 a plate.

If there is any other meal that would be preferred, this could be easily arranged ATA A LESS OR GREATER COST.

I advised Frip Flanagan of the proposed menu for the Saturday luncheon of the former Agents and sons' visit to Quantico. Flanagan stated they would prefer Luncheon Number 2 with baked Virginia ham at $1.25 per plate.

Flanagan agreed that May 17, 1952, would be the best day for them to go to Quantico. I have cleared this with Mr. Sloan who is agreeable.

I further told Flanagan that we ought to know by Tuesday night, May 13, the number of individuals who will be at Quantico for lunch in order that arrangements might be made.

Flanagan stated that the former Agents would assemble at 9:00 a.m. on May 17 at the Monument grounds and drive to Quantico. I will plan to go with them in line with our recent discussion on this.

On their arrival at Quantico, they will go directly to the range for a firearms demonstration, after which they will visit the Academy, will be taken on a tour, will have lunch after the tour and will then return to Washington.

SAC Scheidt in New York phoned this morning advising that Al Berry, President of the Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI, had told him that the Executive Committee of the organization met last night to consider action to be taken regarding statements made by John Crosby of the New York Herald Tribune on Faye Emerson's program last Thursday night.

You recall during the discussion of Merle Miller's book with Kirkpatrick of Counterattack, Crosby made a crack that even copy boys were in the FBI during the war, implying that the Bureau was full of draft dodgers and that Kirkpatrick was probably a draft dodger too.

Scheidt stated Berry informed him the Executive Committee had decided to write letters of protest to Crosby, to the New York Herald Tribune and to the Dumont Network. They were also suggesting that Crosby make a public retraction, that a private retraction would not suffice. In this connection the Society obtained a copy of a letter written yesterday by Crosby to the Director in which Crosby purportedly apologizes to the Director for having made a low blow at the Bureau on the radio program, explaining that the program was surcharged with emotion and that he lost his temper. Crosby allegedly advises in this letter to the Director that he meant to say the FBI was swollen in war time so that its standards were not necessarily as high as normally, and that Kirkpatrick serving in this period would not necessarily, merely because of his service with the FBI, have the same high standards. Crosby allegedly advises the Director that he still does not think Kirkpatrick's use of the FBI's name and reputation is doing the Bureau any good; that he personally abhors the Communists and has had great admiration for the FBI, but again he regrets and apologizes to the Director for the crack he made on the basis that he lost his temper.

Scheidt stated he understood Crosby's letter to the Director was dated yesterday, April 14, 1952, and was dispatched to the Director last night.

MR. TOLSON:

The former Special Agents and their sons had an unusually fine time at Quantico today. There were approximately 136 in the party. Mr. Sloan and the firearms experts did an exceedingly fine job in putting on a demonstration. It was very well taken. The enthusiasm among the former Agents was excellent.

The boys had a good time but I am not so certain but what the fathers had an even better time.

All in all, I would say it was a very worthwhile activity.

They had luncheon at the Academy, inspected the Academy facilities, and then departed around 2:30 in the afternoon.

FBI to Receive Dumont Apology

The Dumont TV network will tonight carry an apology to the FBI on the "Authors Meets The Critic" program during which it was said last week that the FBI was 'a way of getting out of the Army during the war'

The statement was made during the program by John Crosby, radio columnist for the Herald-Tribune

The apology will be read by a station announcer before the program begins, a spokesman for the network said

After last week's program the executive committee of the Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI was reported considering a demand for time on the air to answer Crosby's statement

APOLOGY BY CROSBY.

Crosby has since written a formal apology to J. Edgar Hoover

The columnist appeared as a guest to defend a book by Merle Miller. Theodore C. Kirkpatrick, managing editor of the anti-Communist newsletter, "Counterattack," was Crosby's opponent on the program

RESEARCH (CRIME RECORDS)

The June, 1952, issue of "The Grapevine," the official publication of the Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI, has been called to my attention with reference to a comment made at a meeting of former Special Agents in Houston.

While undoubtedly this reported remark was made in jest it does appear that this statement was in poor taste.

This quotation appeared as follows:

"Sam Kelly reports this bit of dialogue at the April 12 luncheon meeting of the Houston Chapter. A guest, an agent from the Houston FBI office, commented, 'Well, it's good to see that agents, after leaving the Bureau, are still able to make a living.' Franklin Jones, presiding as toastmaster, replied, 'Glad you have the opportunity to observe how those outside "the walls" live.'"

For record purposes, by reference from Miss Gandy I talked to a [redacted] of the Federal Reserve Board. [redacted] pointed out that [redacted] had a letter from a personal friend who is a banker, inquiring as to the standing of the Society of Former Special Agents.

I told her the society had no connection with the Bureau and that undoubtedly the banker friend might be interested in some one specific member and obviously we could not help out on this without knowing his identity. She thought this would be sufficient.

In accordance with Mr. Mohr's instructions, the names of the former Bureau Agents listed on the attached letter of the Society of Former Special Agents dated 8-8-52 have been checked with reference to their standing at the time they ceased duty and their apparent attitudes toward the Bureau. The letter in question is a mimeographed communication to the members of the Society advising of the names of the applicants for membership and requesting any information which might bear adversely upon their character or reputation.

The standing of the listed former Agents insofar as the Bureau is concerned appears to be satisfactory with the following exceptions:

Dear Member:

Many of you have heard by now of the recent untimely death of Agent Joseph Brock, who was killed in the performance of his duty.

Brock was an associate and friend of many members of the Society. We at national headquarters have had many inquiries from various chapters asking if the Society contemplated taking any action toward raising a fund for the bereaved family, or otherwise expressing in some tangible form its esteem for Brock.

It is felt that if those members who desire to contribute made individual donations ranging from one to five dollars, it would be possible to establish a fund of sufficient amount to permit a substantial memorial.

A committee has been formed in New York to receive donations from members in the name of Brock. When all donations have been received, a suitable expression will be made, perhaps in the form of a contribution toward a scholarship for one of his three children.

Please address all donations to Society Headquarters at 70 Pine Street, specifying that they are for the Joseph Brock Memorial Fund.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON

Leonard Viner has talked to me now on three occasions regarding the Society of Former Special Agents. He told me down at Quantico that a group in the Society are determined to keep out, if at all possible, those who are not in good standing with the Bureau as they have machinery whereby one person can blackball and block a former Agent from coming into the Society of Former Special Agents. He stated he was going to begin sending me on a personal basis the list of members who are applying for admittance and all I would have to do would be to check on any individual whom we felt was questionable.

I told Leonard that, of course, we would make no commitments but would keep this in mind. I further told Leonard it would appear that if they amended their bylaws to require as a condition separation from the Bureau in good standing this would undoubtedly take care of a lot of their problems, and secondly they could of course always require the applicant to submit the letter from the Bureau terminating their service; that they would then be smart enough to detect any who were not in good standing.

The first list of former Agents is attached. It might be a good idea to start reviewing files on this and then decide what to do.

MR. TOLSON:

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

[Redacted] called me a few days ago with reference to a couple of conversations we have had on the Society of Former Agents.

You will recall that last summer, [Redacted] told me they were most anxious to develop the Society into an organization which would have the Bureau's blessing and which could be of service to the Bureau. As a result, in order to test them, on a list of former Agents seeking application where there were six stinkers, I so advised [Redacted]. He subsequently told me they had been blackballed and would not be admitted; that, in addition, they were setting up an index card so that if they ever applied again, they would not be admitted.

The agreement was that [Redacted] were the only ones who knew of the conversation and [Redacted] would handle the matter on his own.

[Redacted] subsequently told me, at the time he stated they had been blackballed, that this was handled by [Redacted]. He, of course, conveyed the impression that [Redacted] did not know of [Redacted] conversation with me.

A few days ago, when [Redacted] talked to me, he stated that [Redacted] had told him the Society had reconsidered the matter and there was one former Agent who had been dismissed with prejudice in 1948 wherein the with prejudice was subsequently withdrawn, who, on further consideration, they had admitted into the Society and he stated they had checked further and this man had been given a job with [Redacted] that it was [Redacted] opinion they should give him another chance as his offense could not have been too serious, otherwise, the with prejudice would not have been withdrawn.

I told [Redacted] I did not care to go into further details; that this, of course, was a decision for the Society and it was up to them.

[redacted] stated [redacted] had asked him to talk to me about this. I immediately inquired as to why [redacted] had asked him to talk to me because it was my understanding [redacted] was not to know I figured into this picture. He stated [redacted] did know it. I told [redacted] there had been a breach of confidence and that hereafter I would govern myself accordingly in anything I said, bearing in mind I had once given information in confidence on a firm understanding and then had the confidence breached.

[redacted] told me [redacted] was very pro-Bureau, that he could be thoroughly trusted.

I told [redacted] I was not contesting this in any way, shape or form, but that had I wanted to talk to [redacted] personally, I would have talked to [redacted] personally; as it was, I talked to him.

[redacted] then took on a very hurt feeling; that he was disgusted with the New York chapter of the Society; that he had tried hard and he was about ready to wash his hands of it himself. I told him that, of course, was a matter for him to decide.

He further stated that the local chapter had put up a slate of [redacted] and that he had frankly told them they had a lot of nerve to put either [redacted] on the slate knowing full well the background, particularly of [redacted] leaving the service.

The case which [redacted] was talking about involved

[redacted]

The with prejudice was withdrawn in January, 1945. In January, 1952, I notice the service record of [redacted] was furnished to the Office of Price Stabilization.

[redacted] then stated that a Kleon Robert Nixon who had been in the Bureau in 1913 and 1915 had made application for admittance to the Society of Former Agents; that he had stated he left the Bureau following a complaint which had been made by a prisoner.

M. J. [redacted] was of D.C. Chapter

I told [redacted] in view of the lapse of time I wondered why the Society was even giving serious consideration to it since he seemingly had not felt interested to join before; that this, however, was not my concern and I frankly was not inclined to waste time checking files. b6

It seems to me that while [redacted] might have been well motivated, this merely goes to show we probably cannot ever do anything with this outfit.

we should have absolutely nothing to do with this group in the future

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

John L. Brennan, former Special Agent, now in charge of investigations and publicity with former Special Agent Spencer Drayton in the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau, New York City, called me February 16 or the week of February 23 to discuss with you some matters pertaining to the Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI, of which he is now National President. I told Brennan that your schedule was very heavy and that there appeared to be no breaks in your schedule for the next few weeks; however I would advise you of his request.

There is attached a brief of the file of former Agent Brennan.

Brennan also mentioned that Quentin Reynolds was publishing a book which would be out sometime this month on Willie Sutton, the title of which was to be "I, Willie Sutton." Brennan wondered what our relations with Quentin Reynolds were, as he was planning on asking Quentin Reynolds to appear before a meeting of the Society of Former Agents of the FBI at sometime in the future in connection with this book, but that he did not want to invite Reynolds to appear before the Society unless his relations with the Bureau were completely all right. I told Brennan that he would have to be guided by his own judgment in this matter.

It will be noted from the attached brief of the file of Brennan that when he resigned from the Bureau he was critical of the fact that it was necessary to give thirty days' notice and he made other derogatory statements.

It is recommended that you not see Mr. Brennan but that he be advised your schedule is such that it is impossible to indicate an appointment date in the foreseeable future.

Respectfully,

b6

Stories about killers, gangsters and spies probably will be plentiful when the Kentucky contingent of the Society of Former Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Inc., meets here next Saturday for an afternoon at the races and a dinner-meeting.

By FRED MINSHALL, Courier-Journal Staff Writer

MOST of the people in the crowd won't see them, but the ghosts of such worthies as "Pretty Boy" Floyd, "Machine Gun" Kelly and the like will be running at Churchill Downs next Saturday.

For in the crowd will be a good part of the membership (35) of the XFBI in Kentucky. Or, more formally, Kentuckians in the Society of Former Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Inc.

The organization will meet here Saturday for an afternoon at the races followed by a cocktail party and dinner at Kosair Temple, 812 S. Second.

Members of the society are leading quiet lives now as Kentucky business and professional men. But a few years back, they were playing exciting roles, capturing the nation's most desperate gangsters or trapping the cleverest spies and saboteurs sent here by Germany and her wartime allies.

They include attorneys, investigators, businessmen, political officials and others.

The society, with about 2,000 members nationally, was formed to give the ex-agents a chance to get together from time to time and talk over the more thrilling days they have known. The days of the 1930's, when they were stalking the Dillingers, the "Pretty Boy" Floyds, the "Machine Gun" Kellys and other killers. Or the 1940's, when they were matching wits with the slickest espionage agents our enemies could find to send against us.

Dramatic Pursuit Of A German Spy

CHAIRMAN of the Louisville XFBI chapter, which serves the whole state, is H. Bemis Lawrence, attorney and secretary of the Kentucky Real Estate Commission.

Back in 1941, he took part in a dramatic transcontinental pursuit of Baron Kurt Ludwig, notorious German spy.

Lawrence, a big fellow who formerly played on championship basketball and baseball teams at Western Kentucky State College, was assigned with a large team of other G-men to shadow Ludwig, who had been sent over by Germany to take a final swipe at American secrets before the war involved this country.

The G-men were instructed to watch Ludwig closely, but to avoid arousing his suspicions if possible. One agent would stay close to Ludwig as he ate one meal. At the next meal, another agent would be there shadowing him. Cars were radio-controlled. One would trail Ludwig for a short distance. Then another would take up the job.

In this fashion, the G-men followed Ludwig from the East to the West Coast, never losing him even in the worst city traffic.

The spy finally was seized as he was preparing to escape from the United States. He had collected several trunkloads of material.

Lawrence recalled that at an overnight stop in a Yellowstone National Park cabin, Ludwig apparently became suspicious and burned some papers that would identify him as a spy. Lawrence and other agents found the ashes in the fireplace.

Documents Restored

Carefully picking them up and packing them in cotton batting, they sent the burned papers to the F.B.I. laboratory. There, skillful technicians completely restored the documents by bringing out the writing on the burned paper.

Lawrence worked on several Kentucky cases, including an investigation that led to the capture in 1945 of George "Bugs" Moran, former Chicago gangster, at Henderson, Ky.

Stoll Kidnaping And G-Man Lemaire

ANOTHER XFBI, attorney Arnold J. Lemaire, joined the F.B.I. in 1934 because of the Alice Speed Stoll kidnaping.

When Mrs. Stoll was abducted here by Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., Lemaire was an attorney for the U. S. district engineers.

He was at his River Road cottage (named "Law's Rest," incidentally) when his radio flashed the news of the kidnaping on nearby Lime Kiln Lane. Lemaire at once joined other citizens and officers in a search of roads and vacant homes in the vicinity.

"I decided then I would join the F.B.I. and do what I could to stop that sort of thing," Lemaire said.

He plunged into the Robinson hunt along with practically every other G-man in the area.

One tip was that Robinson was disguised as a woman.

Following this lead, Lemaire and another agent stayed for a week in and near a dive in another city. But the story proved to be unfounded.

Lemaire recalled an incident that seems amusing to him now, but which was not so humorous at the time.

When Robinson was returned after his capture on the West Coast, a large number of agents assembled here to guard the prisoner.

Moving through a crowd with the prisoner and the large G-man guard, Lemaire happened to be walking between two other F.B.I. men and was dangling a pair of handcuffs in his hands.

Pointing to Lemaire, someone cried: "There's Robinson."

There was a surge of the crowd toward him. Not knowing the temper of the crowd, Lemaire was worried for a moment. But the crowd was only curious.

Lemaire said he never was fired upon or attacked with any kind of weapon in the seven years he stayed with the F.B.I.

"The closest I ever came to getting shot was when I nearly shot myself," he laughed. At that time he was taking F.B.I. training—learning the art of running, sitting, drawing and then firing. Once when he sat, the weight of his body caused the gun to go off, blowing the bottom out of his holster.

Even worse, he recalled, his chief was taking motion pictures of the action, and later exhibited the film under the label "How Not to Do It."

Wilbur Underhill Was Hard To Kill

MEMBER Paul W. Hansen, director of security for Reynolds Metals Company here, helped capture some of the Southwest's desperadoes in the 1930's while a

G-man at Oklahoma City. The ~~killers~~ included members of the gang of "Machine Gun" Kelly as well as Wilbur Underhill, known as the "Tri-State Terror."

Underhill was an expert with weapons who apparently killed without reason. He was wanted for several killings before the F.B.I. was drawn into the case when Underhill was identified as one of the machine gunners in the bloody Union Station massacre in Kansas City. There a special agent, three other officers and their prisoner were slain.

Tip Received

Late in December, 1933, the F.B.I. received a tip that Underhill and some friends were in a house at Shawnee, Okla.

Directed by Agent R. H. Colvin, Hansen and other officers converged on the house. Fully aware they were dealing with a desperate and wanton killer, they were well-armed with guns and gas weapons.

Hansen described the events that followed:

The agents left their cars a block from the house and proceeded on foot. As they drew near to the house, there was Underhill, standing before a window of a rear bedroom.

"This is the law," yelled an officer. "Put up your hands. Wilbur, get your hands up."

Underhill stood still for a couple of seconds, then whirled to grab two Luger automatics from a table. A burst of shots knocked the criminal to the floor, but he came up firing. Outside, 15 guns answered his fire.

Underhill emptied his 31-shot Lugers (they had special magazines), then tried a dash for freedom.

He was knocked down by gunfire as he ran from the back to the front of the house.

After a brief silence, Underhill burst through the front door and ran through a veritable hail of machine-gun bullets and shotgun pellets. He was knocked down twice, but managed to escape behind a nearby house. The officers who saw his spectacular dash could not follow him because they would have had to pass through direct fire of other men.

Later, a policeman received a tip that a wounded man had entered the rear of a second-hand furniture store 16 blocks from the scene of the gunfight. There the sheriff found Underhill. The "Tri-State Terror" made no effort to fight. His body was riddled with bullets.

Still Lived A Week

How he could run through machine-gun fire and, wounded as he was, still walk 16 blocks always will be one of those unexplained mysteries.

At a hospital, a doctor found Underhill had suffered 13 wounds. Any of three should prove fatal, the doctor said. The 33-year-old bandit died a week later at McAlester Prison's hospital.

Everybody Resembled The Hunted Saboteur

ANOTHER Louisvillian, Raymond H. Zollner, now associated with a roofing firm, John A. Zollner & Sons, 118 N. Clay, was a G-man from 1943 to 1945.

He'll tell you that sometimes a G-man is baffled.

When he was stationed in Philadelphia, a German saboteur who had formerly lived there was landed by U-boat on the New England coast. Zollner was given the man's description and told to watch for him at a railroad station.

He was really stumped when, by coincidence, practically all the men coming in by train answered the description.

"I never saw so many people answering one description in my life," Zollner said.

The Nazi agent, however, was trapped later through one item in the description. He was known to read a Bavarian newspaper, and was arrested in New York while buying one.

A G-man meets many types of people.

One XFBI, Donald F. Nemitz, tells of a security interview with an archconservative Down Easterner whose folks probably came over on the Mayflower.

The New Englander allowed as how he was not too sure of the Americanism of a fellow-townsmen. Pressed by Nemitz for a reason, he explained:

"His family came here only 75 years ago—practically newcomers."

Nemitz, in the F.B.I. during World War II, now is executive secretary of the Kentucky Tax Research Association.

Frequently, a G-man's role in a case will be a minor though necessary one. On big cases, many men often are assigned to the same investigation. The man who makes the pinch is not always the man who deserves the most credit.

All Had A Hand

Chairman Lawrence pointed out that "it is safe to say that the Kentuckians in the XFBI chapter worked on practically all the big cases of the bureau under its present organization."

Dean A. C. Russell of the University of Louisville School of Law took part in the investigation that led to the arrest of "Pretty Boy" Floyd, an Oklahoma desperado, in the early 1930's. Dean Russell, a G-man from 1930 to 1936, described his part in the case as routine.

Former State Representative John J. Savage, 2127 Eastern Parkway, joined other agents of the Chicago office in their investigation that broke up the Roger Touhy gang. A G-man from 1942 to 1949, Savage now is an investigator for the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Attorney Robert P. Hobson served in a predecessor of the F.B.I., a Justice Department agency known as the Bureau of Investigation. He's a member of XFBI.

Two other Louisville attorneys, Robert T. Burke, Jr., and James B. Young, both were in the F.B.I. from 1942 to 1944.

Nelson Perry, 119 Gibson Road, director of the field division of the Kentucky Department of Revenue, helped work up the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company antitrust suit for the Government while he was an F.B.I. agent. He was in the service from 1934 to 1946.

Another former F.B.I. agent, John C. Klotter, Frankfort, formerly was connected with Perry's field division, but now is Kentucky's director of probation and parole. He was a G-man for about two years, resigning two years ago.

A former Louisvillian who still is a member of the Louisville chapter is Thomas N. Watkins, district manager of a division of General Motors at Cincinnati. He was a G-man for six years.

State Senator James P. Hanratty, Hopkinsville, is a former G-man, as is County Judge Carroll Redford, Glasgow.

Maxey B. Harlin, Bowling Green, former president of the Kentucky State Bar Association, was a G-man in World War II.

Norris B. Vincent, Owensboro attorney, who in 1946 unsuccessfully sought the Democratic nomination for United States senator, was in the F.B.I. from 1941 to 1949. Other members of the XFBI chapter:

John C. Wilson, administrative assistant, Ashland Oil Company, Ashland; Owen D. Anderson, district supervisor, Monarch Equipment Company, and County Attorney W. Marshall Funk, both of Bowling Green; Thomas E. Magraw, trust officer, Trigg County Farmers Bank & Trust Company, Cadiz; James C. Ware, attorney, Covington; Arthur E. Heckerman, attorney, Fort Thomas; attorneys Walter L. Brock, Jr., Angus McDonald and Arthur B. Rouse, Jr., all of Lexington; Joseph T. Hale, Jr., automobile dealer, Mayfield; attorneys William J. Baird and Edward R. Hays, Pikeville; attorney Leonard S. Stephens, Whitley City; attorneys Carroll Morrow and Beverly P. Waddill, Madisonville; attorney Bernard B. Davis, Shelbyville, and Milton Luker and Roy Tooms, both of London, Ky.

Dean Russell said another former G-man, not listed as a member of the society, teaches at the U. of L. Law School. He is Joseph S. Johnson, formerly of Tampa, Fla., who served in the bureau for 22 years.

The Louisville chapter was formed in 1947 by Hansen, Magraw, Lawrence, Hays, Perry, John S. Faulkner and Raymond H. Kollner.

Though the society was organized primarily for fellowship, Lawrence said it has other purposes.

For one thing, it operates a placement bureau for members. For example, it often sends out calls for members willing to accept jobs with industries. Companies pay $10,000 or more for ex-agents to set up security staffs for plants here or abroad.

The February 1953 release of the Grapevine, the publication of the Society of Former Special Agents, contains a squib to the effect that the Blatz Brewing Company of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, was host to the Milwaukee Chapter of the Society of Former Special Agents at its auditorium in October 1952. The item goes on to state that present were "members of the Milwaukee FBI office, Wisconsin National Academy graduates, Milwaukee area law enforcement officials, their wives and sweethearts."

I checked the Milwaukee field personnel file to determine if the SAC had cleared this with the Bureau beforehand and was unable to locate anything. I also checked with the Training and Inspection Division to find out whether we had ever issued instructions to the field that prior Bureau approval should be secured before accepting invitations of the Society of Former Special Agents. No SAC Letter has ever been written according to [redacted]

I called SAC Murphy of the Milwaukee Office and asked him if Bureau personnel had attended the function in question and he stated that they had. He said the office had received an invitation from [redacted] and other members of the Society, that no prior Bureau clearance was obtained as far as Murphy could remember and he stated he thought it would be O.K. for Agents of the Milwaukee Office to attend. Murphy said he had attended prior functions of the Society in the past but prior Bureau approval had been obtained. He said with respect to the Society Chapter in Milwaukee, it was an above average group and as far as he knew it had no members who were persona non grata with the Bureau. He said as a matter of fact the group as a whole was very cooperative with the local field office and he felt there was nothing improper in the invitation.

Murphy stated as a consequence he attended as well as ASAC Roy K. Moore and about 20 Agents and their wives of the Milwaukee Division. Half of the group in attendance were National Academy graduates. He described the meeting as consisting of a high class group who were served a buffet supper by the Blatz Brewing Company as part of its public relations program, the buffet started at 6:30 p.m. and broke up about 8:30 p.m. There were no major speeches and no Bureau employees participated in the program. Mr. Murphy stated that the Blatz Brewing Company pays for such affairs as do all of the brewing companies in Milwaukee. He stated that Blatz has the best auditorium of all the breweries in Milwaukee and functions are carried on at a very high plane. Former Special Agent [redacted] the Platz Brewing Company and it was undoubtedly through [redacted] that the arrangements were made.

I told SAC Murphy in the future if he receives any invitations to attend any functions of the Society of Former Special Agents that prior Bureau approval should be obtained. Mr. Murphy stated he would abide by these instructions in the future.

Yes. There no doubt are some fine men in the Ex-Acta Society but there are also some "stinkers" & I don't want official recognition of it on any occasion unless it has been cleared here.

FEBRUARY, 1953, RELEASE

VIEWS OF OUR NEW PRESIDENT

The membership of our Society is now approximately 2,200. It is fair to say that we should approach 3,000 members by the end of the year. Remember that these members are "the most carefully selected men in the world," as Tom McDade, our editor, once wrote.

This is a very exclusive club. The requirements for membership are unusually high. Nationally, it can be a tremendous force for good. It is up to all of us to insure that the objectives of the Society remain as high as its requirements for membership.

This brings me to a constantly recurring question raised by different members and various chapters throughout the Society, inquiring as to why we do not participate actively in some popular cause. Most of the programs mentioned for such activity are anti-communism, juvenile delinquency and other worthwhile projects which have their genesis in some phase of law enforcement work. It seems that the newer and younger members of our Society are "straining at the leash" to have the organization become more vociferous in current public affairs. This is understandable since many civic and social organizations do not assume passive roles when matters of interest to them are at issue. However, neither does the Society—when these matters affect its members.

The only difference of opinion between those advocating "activity" and the Society is a difference as to what constitutes "matters of interest" to the Society.

I think they are limited to two objectives: (1) Helping each member whenever and wherever possible, and (2) helping the FBI (from which stem our common backgrounds and mutual interests) whenever and wherever possible. We have no other purpose unless it is purely social.

Our objectives must, of necessity, be broad, such as I have outlined. To take a militant position on these other projects, even though we may feel qualified to do so, is the quickest method I know of exploiting the organization to the detriment of the membership. We are no longer investigators, nor do we have FBI files at our fingertips, nor are we currently aware of the latest developments in such matters. We have individually taken up other tasks which require most of our time.

Sure, we are against communism, and we have a lot of ideas individually and collectively on juvenile delinquency! But let's leave those fields and similar ones to experts. If we do not, because of our past association with the FBI people will assume that we know whereof we speak, and some of us will be speaking in the light of our "inside knowledge" of five, ten or twenty years ago. No, we have done very well without such "publicity." We really do not need it.

Let's put that excess energy into helping each other and the FBI. These are two worthwhile projects, where we certainly can't go wrong.

John L. Brennan
President

The proposed amendment to the Constitution of the Society, to make each outgoing President of the Society automatically a member of the Executive Committee, was passed; the proposed amendment to the By-Laws to increase the annual dues to $10 was defeated.

Committees have been set up as follows:

Chapter—Samuel D'Anna Jr., Chairman, each chapter to assign a member to work with Mr. D'Anna.

Ernest Draper, William Goeslin, John O'Mara and William J. Lusty.

The Membership Committee set right to work processing 75 applications, and the Entertainment Committee set up its dinner dates for 1953, on Feb. 11, May 12, Sept. 15 and Nov. 16; the latter the annual meeting.

Dennis James, noted radio-television performer, and Bees Meyerson, Miss America 1945 and now star of the TV program "The Big Pay-Off," were the entertainers at the February meeting, held at the Toots Shor Restaurant in New York.

Harold Perry's future guest list includes Lawrence A. Appley, President of the American Management Association, an organization engaged in a campaign to help business re-educate itself, and Frank S. Hogan, District Attorney of New York. Perry also says he has Miss Rheingold signed up for a future meeting.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon also may be honored guest at one of the 1953 meetings, if Perry is successful in persuading him to appear.

TWO GOVERNORS, FIVE CONGRESSMEN

Two Governors and five Congressmen, all former members of the Bureau and most of them members of the Society, were honor guests at an Inauguration Eve cocktail party staged by the Washington Chapter at the Touch-down Club in the nation's capital Monday, Jan. 19.

The two governors, both members of the Society, are Governor Frank G. Clement of Tennessee and Governor Edwin L. Mechem of New Mexico.

Former FBI men in the legislative branch in Washington are Congressmen Omar Bureson of Texas, Harold H. Velde of Illinois, Allan Oakley Hunter of California, Ed Edmondson of Oklahoma and Tom Dodd of Connecticut.

John L. Brennan, new president of the Society, and Alfred B. Berry, outgoing President, were among the more than 100 who attended. Cy Keilheer, Treasurer, Charles Blaisdell of the Executive Committee and Bill Seery, Bill Bennett and Tom Myers also represented New York at the gathering.

INSURANCE ADMISSION REOPENED

In a moment of weakness I accepted the chairmanship of the Insurance Committee of the Society. But I am glad I did because we have a wonderful plan which, as you know, gives those members who subscribe $5,000 worth of life insurance at only $50 per year. This is unobtainable at any age anywhere in the United States.

I have been going over the administrative procedure connected with the plan and have had a talk with an official of the Continental Assurance Co., through which the plan is written. Good news! They are arranging to re-open admission to the plan for those who did not take advantage of it within the ninety-day period from the date of membership in the Society which, as you know, is an insurance company requirement.

This means that those who were not ready for it at the time or were not sure about taking it will now be able to get it on the same terms, conditions and rates as if they had joined originally . . . and, of course, still without a physical examination.

So get ready for the announcement, you who did not take advantage of this wonderful insurance plan, and when you receive it act promptly, because the offer will be available for only a short while. More about our Group Insurance Plan at a later date.

Mortimer J. Davis
Chairman, Insurance Committee

"THE BIG CHANGE"

1953 will go down in history as the year of "The Big Change." The Republicans have returned to the White House and be you Democrat or Republican, you can anticipate that something different will be done.

For the members of the Society, the National Chapter also wishes 1953 to be a year of "The Big Change," a change for closer cooperation between the Chapters in the field and the National Chapter in New York.

The Chapter Committee hopes to follow a definite program in the coming year, a program designed to help the Chapters with their problems and to make it possible for each member to enjoy the benefits of his membership in the Society.

At the present time there are three distinct benefits that each member derives in addition to being associated with an outstanding group of men:

- 1: The National Directory
- 2: The Group Life Insurance
- 3: The Grapevine.

To those benefits we should like in the coming year to add others. We are sure that many of you have some ideas of your own as to other programs you would like to see started. Send in your ideas. If they are at all feasible, we will try to work them out.

In the meantime, take advantage of those benefits which you have. Keep us advised of any changes in your personal status. Make sure the National Directory carries the correct information about you. There have been many cases in the past where members, because of the directory, were able to call on fellow members for business assistance.

If you are not a member of the Group Life Insurance Plan, get into it and enjoy these benefits:

- 1: If you are an actively employed member up to and including age 65, you get a $5,000 life insurance policy for $50.00.
2. If you are an actively employed member over 65, you get a $1,000 life insurance policy for $50.00.

Nowhere else can you buy this amount of insurance for the cost available here. For full particulars write to the Insurance Committee chairman (Mortimer J. Davis) in care of the Society.

The Grapevine is a means whereby we keep informed of the activities of former agents and friends with whom we worked. If you men will send in information about yourselves and families, and if the Chapters will send in reports on their meetings and news of the Chapter members and their doings, we will get the news you provide into The Grapevine in the following issue, and all members will be advised of what is going on in your Chapter and with your members. To insure results, please send all material to be printed in The Grapevine in triplicate.

So, fellows, get into the swing of "The Big Change." Sit down and write us a letter. Tell us of yourself and family, about your Chapter and about problems or suggestions for a bigger and better program for 1953.

Samuel D'Anna Jr.
Chapter Committee Chairman.

Minneapolis

Robert L. Martin was elected Chairman of the Minneapolis Chapter at the November meeting, held at the Normandy Hotel in Minneapolis. Robert W. Dygert was elected Vice Chairman, and John C. Buckbee Jr. became Secretary-Treasurer.

Chairman Martin, in a short acceptance speech, drew a favorable reaction when he proposed that at least one quarterly meeting each year be arranged as a social function, with the ladies invited.

After a general discussion about meetings, it was decided to hold them on the second Thursdays of February, May, September and November. The Normandy Hotel had the approval of the membership on the basis of location, facilities and the capability of the chef.

B. J. Landree, retiring Secretary-Treasurer, was given a desk cigarette lighter and engraved ash tray from the members, as a token of appreciation for his service during the past several years.

Washington

The Washington Chapter held a cocktail party in December, to which members were urged to bring and introduce friends who were former FBI agents but had not yet joined the Society. A rough estimate is that the party will produce approximately twenty new members, according to Secretary Fred Robinette, which would seem to indicate that it was a highly successful shindig.

Stork Visits Joe Glennon

The stork, wing-weary after an Atlantic crossing, found Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Glennon in Munich, Germany, on Oct. 14, and delivered Joseph Francis Glennon Jr., an 8 pound 6½ ounce bundle to enrich the lives of his parents. The father, who served in the Bureau 1947-49, is now with the National Committee for a Free Europe.

Ex-Agents At Berchtesgaden

Not so long ago Berchtesgaden was well known as the retreat of a certain ex-paperhanger named Adolph. No, quite as famous as the former resident but certainly more reputable are these six former FBI agents, who gathered at Berchtesgaden for an OSI conference in December.

Prospects, Coast To Coast

Gerard B. Tracy, Manager of the Prudential Life Insurance Company of America's midtown New York office, found himself living an insurance man's dream, talking to prospects from coast to coast, when he was featured as guest on the CBS-TV "Mike and Buff Show" Dec. 1. He discussed life insurance and its uses, and says "the response was excellent and I never realized the effectiveness of television as an advertising medium until this broadcast."

Jerry is a Life Member of the Million Dollar Round Table, member of the Sales Executives Club of New York and the Cardinal's Committee of the Laity. He is on the Board of Directors of the Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI. He's a graduate of Fordham Prep and City College of New York, and attended Columbia University School of Business.

MEMBERS MOVE AHEAD

From various parts of the nation and even from abroad comes word from Society members who are showing steady progress in their profession.

Harold E. Hunsberger of Traverse City, Mich., took office Jan. 3 as Judge of Probate for Grand Traverse County. He was elected Nov. 4. Judge Hunsberger served in the Miami, New York and Detroit offices of the Bureau, 1940-42, then resigned to practice law in Traverse City.

W. Edmund Peters became Director of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce Anti-Backsteering Bureau Sept. 1, after serving since June as chief investigator. Peters went to St. Louis from Chicago, where he was special agent in charge of the claims bureau of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies. He served in the Bureau 1940-42, and was SAC in Charlotte, N. C., at the time of his resignation. He was defense counsel for the War Crimes Defense Division of the Eighth Army in Yokohama in 1946-48, and in 1949 served as special assistant to the Director General of the International Refugee Organization in Geneva, Switzerland.

William M. Widener is executive secretary of the American Liberation Center, formed last August to work with sabotage and spy rings behind the Iron Curtain.

William E. Moran, Jr., is back in Washington, in charge of the Overseas Territories Staff of the Mutual Security Agency, after three years in Brussels, Belgium, for ECA and MSA.

Marion B. "Dusty" Rhodes is now Assistant Director of the Kansas City Crime Commission with offices at 1000 Waltham Building, Kansas City, Mo. He recently purchased a home at 5239 Clark Drive, Kansas City, Kans., and would like to hear from old friends in the Society. "Dusty" retired from the Bureau in October 1951 after eight and a half years as SAC in Minneapolis and 26½ years with the FBI.

William R. Wallace Jr. is out of the Army after two years of active duty and has reopened his law office in Oklahoma City.

Joe Conry's new assignment is work standards and office methods at the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac Assembly Division of General Motors in Kansas City.

John F. Dingwall is President of the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Encoined in a new, modern bottling plant, he writes glowingly of sunshine, golf, Florida's beaches and, naturally, Pepsi-Cola.

Burt F. Wiand is now Manager of Public and Industrial Relations for the Cities Service Gas Company in Oklahoma City.

Gerald M. Gósnell is working as a special agent of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

A. J. Newby has been appointed Assistant to the Superintendent, Industrial Relations at American Steel and Wire in Joliet, Ill.

Ted Kirkpatrick is at the John Deere Harvester Works in East Moline, Ill., in training for an executive position. At the moment, the exact nature of his post-training assignment is undecided.

Ed Gebben and Bill Parriott are now in London. Gebben is Compliance and Security Officer, Defense Materials Procurement Agency, Region 3, and Parriott is his assistant. They're convinced they're a pair of bachelors destined to grow old and feeble together, since this is the fourth time they've teamed up over an 11-year period. Ed was Bill's supervisor in the FBI 1941-42. They got together again at War Assets after Parriott's Marine hitch in 1946-47, and went to Tokyo with CID in 1947-49.

Charles Dickey is West Coast Procurement Manager at the Scott Paper Co. plant in Everett, Wash.

Keith E. Angell is Deputy Director of the Office of Security for the Mutual Security Program, Paris.

John D. Furrh Jr. has withdrawn from the firm of Pike, McLaughlin and Furrh to open his own law office in Reno, Nev.

T. R. Walsh is now Security Specialist at the Office of Naval Research, South Eastern District, Washington, D. C.

Bill Thorsness has been made Executive Secretary of the Chicago Heights Manufacturers Association.

Harry Washington has become General Manager of the Dampman-Schmitt Co., Dodge-Plymouth agency in Evanson, and he lets it be known that he "will be out to sell Chicagoland X-agents the action car of the year—1953 Red Ram Engined Dodge."

James R. McQueen has been upped to Staff Assistant to the General Manager of New Products Corp., Benton Harbor, Mich.

Thomas H. Council is Security Indoctrination Officer for the Southern Air Procurement District, USAF Air Material Command, Fort Worth.

Jerry Garland is in Japan and anticipates being there until March 1954 or thereabouts, in Navy service.

Richard E. Burke has opened his own law office in Red Bank, N. J.

Paul Davidson reports that he is unopposed for Republican candidate for Police Magistrate of Kankakee, Ill., in the primary to be held Feb. 24. The election will be held in April.

Jim Hession writes that he has completed his period of service with a Federal Judge in Newark, N. J., and is now in the process of making a new association as a neophyte lawyer.

Crime Costs Billions

Crime costs the nation billions of dollars each year in hidden tribute paid racketeers by virtually the entire perishable goods industry.

To fight this vicious attack on the nation's pocketbook, a National Association of Citizens Crime Commissions was set up in a meeting at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York, in November, with three members of the Society among the founders. Representatives of 12 major cities heard Spruille Braden, chairman of the New York City Anti-Crime Committee, reveal that consumers pay four to nine cents per case, crate or bushel on nearly all perishable goods to satisfy the demands of racketeers.

Virgil Peterson of Chicago, George Thomson of Burbank and G. Arlon Wilson of Kansas City, all members of the Society, represented their cities at the meeting at which the National Association was formed.

Braden pointed up the need for such a national organization, saying: "The gangsters operating in New York don't stay put. They go off to Miami and Chicago. They have their correspondents and subsidiaries in different cities."

Part of the solution, he said, is to "keep these hoodlums with the spotlight playing on them, and by so doing get an aroused public opinion."

WHAT'S NEWS

Somebody is always asking when the next Grapevine is coming out. Actually, the only thing that keeps The Grapevine from coming out as frequently as people ask for it is a lack of news from the members. Unlike most newspapers, The Grapevine has no paid staff for gathering the material it prints. We have employed assistants in rewriting and organizing the material, but the members are, in effect, the reporters for the paper.

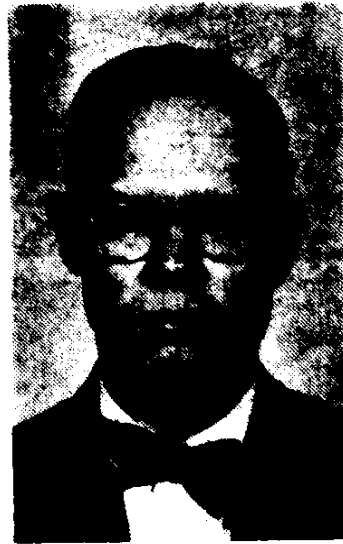

Many chapters still do not regularly report their meetings and, if they do, too frequently they confine the report to a statement of the date and place the meeting was held, and a list of the members who attended. Names may be news, but not when there are 30 or 40 of them with nothing else to say about them. In other words, we have had too many chapter reports stating that the chapter had a very fine meeting at Joe's Hash House attended by 40 members (all of whom are named) and that the speaker, John O'Reilly, entertained everybody with some very funny stories. Just one of those stories would have been more to the point than all the rest of the "information" included in the report.

I'd like to suggest to chapter chairmen that they appoint at each meeting someone to gather information to be sent to The Grapevine, and that they make this announcement early in the course of the meeting so that members can pass on to this "reporter" news and items of interest, particularly new associations or job connections. I am sure the members would also be interested in learning of unusual Bureau activities in your area, either past or present.

Kansas City Names Wayne Murphy

Wayne S. Murphy, an FBI agent with 23 years experience, has been appointed Managing Director of the Kansas City Crime Commission.

Murphy, 51 and a native of St. Clair, Mo., had worked on the vote fraud investigation in Kansas City several years ago. More recently, he had been supervisor in charge of criminal investigations in the Bureau's Chicago office, a post he resigned for the Kansas City assignment.

Murphy, who has been assigned to 15 cities in his Bureau service and has performed special investigation in most of the other field offices, was assistant in charge of the FBI in Hawaii at the time of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. He immediately instituted a roundup of enemy aliens known to be dangerous, and may have been instrumental in the first arrest of an alien in World War II.

Promptly after his resignation from the Bureau, Murphy applied for membership in the Society.

CHAPTER NEWS

Atlanta

Because several members were out of town, the scheduled election of officers of the Atlanta Chapter at the Jan. 22 meeting at the Town House Restaurant was postponed until the session to be held Monday, April 6 at Frickett's Restaurant, just outside Avondale.

The unavoidable poor attendance at the January meeting prompted a sporting challenge, and the DeKalb County (Decatur) and Fulton County (Atlanta) members will compete to see which can promote the larger turnout for the April gathering. An interesting program is being arranged, as further inducement to attend.

Names of several prospective members were proposed, and one application, that of Theodore M. Stewart, was sent on to the Secretary in New York.

It was decided to add a small sum to the price of dinners at each meeting, in order to build up the treasury, Secretary Felix O. Cox reports. The recent meeting at which the wives of members were present incurred a deficit of $75, which Roswell Smith generously paid from personal funds. While Smith said he was pleased to take care of the matter alone, the membership felt that he should not be asked or allowed to do so.

Chairman Tom Davis appointed Don Clegg, Roswell Smith and Charley Edwards as a nominating committee to report at the next meeting.

Boston

Twenty-three couples and three "stags" attended the Christmas party meeting of the James W. Coulter Chapter, held Dec. 15 at the Boston Yacht Club. It was by far the largest turnout for a meeting as long as anybody can remember.

Following the turkey dinner, the members, their wives and sweethearts danced, sang Christmas carols (with an assist by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carroll at the piano), and chatted about their doings since the last get-together. Each of the ladies present received a box of nylon hosiery as a pre-Christmas gift. The hose were purchased by the committee from Aberle Inc. of New York through Frank White, the company's New England sales representative. Much credit for the party's success must go to White and to Frank Conlon, both of whom ably assisted committee chairman Leo Carroll.

William H. "Bill" Ohrenberger, Associate Director of Physical Education of the Boston School System, for many years an official for college and professional football games, was the guest speaker at the October meeting. He recalled many of his experiences as an official, in a talk that was interesting, informative and amusing. Howard Hodgdon, Vice Chairman, presided over the meeting in the absence of Chairman Joe Kenney.

Boston Briefs: John V. Moran, making his first venture into the political arena when he ran for the office of Attorney General of Massachusetts on the Democratic ticket in the September primaries, gathered some 70,000 votes, a very creditable total though not enough to win. Fellow members are wishing him better luck next time. . . . Bill Hulbert, former Chapter Chairman, has become a member of the firm of Fish, Richardson and Neave, patent attorneys. . . . "Hart" Swaffield has been appointed a Director of the Associated Alumni of Brown University. . . . The Citizens Crime Committee of Massachusetts Inc., of which former Chapter Chairman Ken Brown is one of the most ardent supporters, has been organized and is looking for new members. Ken is Treasurer of the group and Thomas McNamara is President.

Cleveland

H. Burton Bracy was elected President of the Cleveland Chapter, to serve for the year 1953, at the December meeting. Alex C. Davidson, Jr. was elected Vice President and also took on the chairmanship of the Placement Committee. Charles J. LaFond was elected Secretary.

Cleveland Comments: Paul Shine, SAC in Cleveland, has resigned from the Bureau to accept a nice job at Packard in Detroit. Lex Davidson reports, adding that he is being replaced by McCabe. . . . The welcome mat is out at all times for visiting Society members.

Detroit

Traffic Judge John D. Watts, who has become widely known now that his court proceedings are televised, was the speaker at the November meeting of the Detroit Chapter, held at the Harmonie Society.

Responding "present" to the rollcall was a "first offender," John Kennedy, newest member of the chapter. Also present were two visiting ex-agents, "the Schenley man" Frank Nolan from New York and George Pepple of Goshen, Ind.

Walter O. "Spike" Briggs, owner of the Detroit Tiger baseball team and member of the board of directors of the world professional champion Detroit Lions football club, was guest speaker at the September meeting at the Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills. Spike enlivened the evening as he recounted the problems and hopes of both organizations.

Congenial Chairman Dave Burgess presided over the meeting and the speaker was introduced by a new applicant for membership, Harry T. O'Connor, former SAC at so many places it is difficult to recall them all. Chicago was the last. Harry is now with the Holley Carburetor Corporation in Detroit.

Three other former agents attending for the first time were Dan Pessanic, formerly of the Philadelphia Chapter, now with the Lincoln-Mercury Division of the Mord Motor Company; Vic Johnson (remember the Herman Banning case?) who is now manager of Charles W. Warren & Co., Jewelers, Detroit; and Harvey Walker, Saginaw attorney.

Detroit Doings: Bob Held suffered a slight heart attack and was at home for several weeks after being released from Henry Ford Hospital. . . . Bill Taylor, former resident agent at Lansing, has returned to that city to take a position with the Oldsmobile Division of General Motors. . . . Wak Crow, Chapter Secretary, credits his efficient secretary as the secretary who gets out the invitations and follows up to see that as many as possible attend the meetings.

Indianapolis

William H. Williamson was elected General Chairman of the Indianapolis Chapter by unanimous acclaim at the Nov. 13 meeting at the Severin Hotel. George P. Doyle was elected Vice Chairman and Robert C. Pruyn Secretary.

Fleming L. Liggett was appointed and elected Secretary and C. Richard Fulmer as Treasurer, both provisionally. Their offices are conditional upon their subsequent admission into the national organization of the Society.

Future meetings were scheduled for Jan. 22, April 23, July 23 and Oct. 22.

Prospective members in the Indianapolis area were discussed and listed, and a membership drive was planned.

Louisville

The Kentucky Chapter plans its next meeting in April, to coincide with the State Bar Convention in Louisville.

About forty ex-agents and guests attended the last meeting, which followed the Kentucky-University of Mississippi football game. The game, a cocktail party, dinner and dance at the Lexington Country Club added up to a full, enjoyable program.

H. Bemis Lawrence is Chairman of the Kentucky Chapter, Norris B. Vincent is Vice Chairman and Donald F. Nemitz is Secretary-Treasurer.

Milwaukee

The Blatz Brewing Company was host to members of the Milwaukee Chapter at its Auditorium, back in October. No one has provided attendance figures, but if a new record wasn't set, something's wrong somewhere.

Present were members of the Milwaukee FBI office, Wisconsin National Academy graduates, Milwaukee area law enforcement officials, their wives and sweethearts. Members of the Chicago and Minneapolis Chapters were invited, too.

Short Stuff

Paris has been swarming with former agents in recent months, according to a report from Keith Angell, who's with the Mutual Security Program there. They've included Dan O'Connor, Carmine Bellino, Bill Parriott, Ed Gebben, John Doherty, Paul Kamerick, Bill Moran, Sid Rubenstein, Horton Telford, Leon Turrou, Tom Coleman, Walter Yeagley, Arthur Avignone, Mark Little, Jack Minor, Warren Dean, Jack Wilhard, John Ford, Arno Brotze, Ronald MacMillan, Walter Gates, Charles Gess, Stanley Mattern, Joseph Smart and Bob Thompson. Thompson was returning to the States after nearly six years in China.

H. William Hess, whose stationery refers only to his law office and doesn't even hint at Chamber of Commerce membership, writes from Los Angeles: "We here in California feel sorry for you as we read how you dig yourselves out of snow banks, land on the one 'spot' as you glance off the ice, and such like the huskies through the part-frozen snow and ice going to your place of duty." He must realize that neither New Yorkers nor Floridians will take this lying down, for the same letter says "I believe my insurance bill is paid up."

Roy L. Baker Jr. of Harrison, Ark., expresses regret at missing the quarterly meeting, but offers a mighty inviting prospectus with the idea of luring some future meeting his way: "Harrison, Boone County, Arkansas, is located in the heart of the Ozarks, with the fifth largest man-made lake within 19 miles, where it is possible to catch your limit of large or small mouth bass within a period of 90 minutes, provided you have the piscatorial art and patience. If this does not appeal to you, I offer also . . . the scenic beauty of the Ozark Mountains and the rugged attractiveness of deer hunting, quail hunting, fox hunting, 17 different meandering streams to fish in and other outdoor attractions, commonly associated with this area of the country. We have one of the most stable climates found in this country, and at present (This was in September: Ed.) are being overrun with windy Texans and arid New Mexicans, who are making an earnest effort to purchase all the lands hereabouts in preference to their present locations."

Aaron Kohn in Chicago

"Crime-conscious Chicagoans are reading their own book of the mid-Century—the six volume, 848-page Kohn Report. It's the work of Aaron M. Kohn, a bachelor lawyer and former Philadelphia FBI agent who has ideas on how to 'clean up' Chicago."

That begins a full-page story titled "Memo from Chicago," in the Feb. 9 issue of the pocket-size news magazine Quick, which reports that Kohn for nearly a year directed nine undercover men seeking proof of a connection between organized crime and ward politics in Chicago. Chicago has had 700 unsolved gang murders since the 1930's, but public indignation boiled when a Republican ward committeeman was killed last year, reportedly for opposing hoodlum invasion of his ward.

The Democratic City Council setup an emergency crime investigating committee and named a $100-a-day general counsel, who resigned when the City Council declined to force policemen to reveal details of their incomes. Kohn resigned too in the ruckus that followed, rather than comply with the demand of the new general counsel that he name his undercover agents.

In his report, given the City Council at year-end, Kohn charged that Chicago policemen have framed citizens to extort bribes, taken bribes for failing to report crimes, permitted gambling, made "constant shakedown" of prostitutes, and conspired with ambulance-chasing lawyers. He called for an overhaul of the police department, a survey to ascertain public opinion on legalized gambling, and action against two police officials.

Police officials deny Kohn's charges, but the newspapers have given the report wide publicity.

IN MEMORIAM

Fred H. Haggerson

Fred H. Haggerson, 66, Chairman of the Board of the Union Carbon and Carbide Corp., died in October at Roosevelt Hospital, New York.

He entered the Department of Justice during World War I and after serving in Cleveland and Washington, became head of that unit's New York City district. He left the Department shortly after the war to join the Union Carbide Co. and remained with it through its expansion and on to the position he held at the time of his death. He became Vice President of the company in 1928, President in 1944 and Chairman of the Board in 1951.

He is survived by a daughter, Miss Jane A. Haggerson; a son, Fred S. Haggerson; and two grandchildren. His wife, the late Ethel Stephenson Haggerson, died in February 1962.

Mrs. William C. Sennett

Catherine E. Sennett, wife of former agent William C. Sennett, died suddenly Sept. 8, 1952 in Poultney, Vt.

Mrs. Sennett, a native of Springfield, Mass., is survived by her husband and three children, Mary E. Sennett, William Sennett and Anne F. Sennett.

Her husband, who served with the Bureau 1941-45, is an attorney at law, residing and practicing in Poultney.

By letter dated April 13, 1953, Brennan transmitted six copies of the Former Agents' Directory and stated that if the Bureau would send a current list of SACs to him that copies of the Directory would be forwarded them.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
U. S. Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Kindly refer to my letter of April 13, 1953 in which I requested a list of current Special Agents in Charge in order that I might send a copy of our membership directory to each of them. (2)

Frankly I believe that this Directory can be of considerable help to the Bureau in its investigative work and I hope that you will look favorably on this cooperative gesture.

I also wonder if it would be possible to set up some mechanics whereby this organization would be advised by the Bureau whenever an Agent terminates his services honorably from the F. B. I. This notice need not be through official channels, but it would be unusually helpful to us not only in our efforts to increase our membership but also in our firm desire to keep out of the Society those who have not performed their duty as Special Agents with due fidelity to their oaths of office. (1)

I wish to assure you as I have in the past that this organization has as one of its two objectives the continued success of the F. B. I. under your outstanding leadership and these requests are only made with that viewpoint in mind. When and if the opportunity presents itself I shall be very happy to discuss these matters in more detail at your convenience.

With expressions of my highest esteem.

Sincerely, 13

Dear Mr. Brennan:

This will acknowledge the receipt of your

Please be advised that the copies of the the Bureau will be adequate for reference purposes.

With respect to your request to be advised

I wanted to advise you that it has never been the

SOCIETY OF FORMER FBI AGENTS

At 5:10 p.m. today I received a telephone call from Former Agent Francis D. Flanagan. He stated he had just returned from leave; that he had read the re- concerning the accusations of [redacted] against the [redacted] that he thought this was a very unfair attack and as First Vice President of the Former Agents Society he was wondering whether he could be of any assistance.

He stated he was seated at the time talking with Former Agent [redacted] and that they thought the ex-agents' society might be of some assistance. Mr. Flanagan suggested that he could have the President of the Society send a telegram to the President, worded in such a way that it would call for a reply; that he thought the telegram would probably be sent to the Department for acknowledgment and thereafter he, Flanagan, could get in touch with [redacted] and suggest the drafting of a reply over the President's signature, to be returned to the Society, which could then be released by the Society, after its receipt.

I told him I did not know whether there was anything that could be done, but that I would pass on his suggestion. It is suggested that Mr. Flanagan be thanked for his offer, but that he be informed that it is not believed anything further need be done.

SUBJECT :

Society of Former Special Agents

While talking to SAC H. G. Foster of Cincinnati on other matters today, he stated that [redacted] a former Special Agent, with whom [redacted] is now active in the Society of Former Special Agents in Columbus, Ohio. They are having a dinner in Columbus on September 17, 1953, and [redacted] asked him to attend the dinner. Foster was wondering what he should do. I asked him if he knew many of the former Agents. He stated he knew several and among those former Special Agents who are active in the Society are [redacted] [redacted] and others. So far as he knows, the former Agents in Ohio have had good relations with the Bureau.

Foster thought it might be well for him to go to this dinner since he feels there may be additional attacks on the Civil Rights situation and he thought it would be highly desirable for him to get as many contacts as he can. He commented that three editorials had already appeared in his district supporting the Bureau on this issue.

I told Foster that while there are some very fine former Agents in the Society, the Society was such we could not give it any official recognition and his very presence would constitute a recognition, even though he did not say a word; that I felt he should not attend; that if there were any contrary views, he would be advised in the next day or two, but that if he did not hear from me in the next two days, he should not attend.

While discussing other matters with former Special Agent [redacted] who has taken a very active part in the Washington Chapter of the above-captioned organization, I asked him if [redacted] was still a member of the Society, pointing out that I had seen a recent article in the New York Journal American which indicated [redacted] [redacted] was his membership card in the Society of Former Special Agents. I reminded [redacted] that he had previously told me that [redacted] was no longer an active member of the organization.

[redacted] told me he checked during either June or July of this year when he was in New York at the main office and ascertained that [redacted] name had been dropped from the membership rolls because of his non-payment of dues. [redacted] name does not appear in the January 1, 1953 directory of the Society of Former Special Agents. [redacted] did state, however, that the society does not have any rule or regulation concerning reinstatement and if [redacted] sent in his dues at any time he could be reinstated to active membership. b6

[redacted] said he personally was rather disgusted with the lax manner in which the society has been operating and his name has been submitted for election to the Executive Committee of the society, the elections being held in November. He stated if elected he plans to take a very active part and also plans to see that there are rules set up for reinstatement of lapsed memberships. He also stated there are many former Agents who are carried as active members in the directory although they have not paid their dues for the last three or four years.

[redacted] did tell me, however, that the society has been successful finally in removing its records from the office of [redacted] and that this was accomplished by the newer element in the society headed by John Vincent, the present President John L. Brennan, and others. He said [redacted] rented space in the mezzanine of the Roosevelt Hotel and the records are going to be maintained there. He said the move of [redacted] matter of fact was effected on September 15, 1953. He advised [redacted] knock-down drag-out fight and [] was most reluctant to release the records, pointing out that they received rent free space and this was a considerable savings to the society. [] said as a matter of fact [] called him on the telephone and told him if the records were going to be moved from [] office he would vote to have them shipped to Washington rather than having them remain in New York City.

[] also stated that the society is planning on hiring a full-time secretary to run the business of the society and pay this individual a yearly salary. He said he was not certain whether the person selected for this position would be a member of the society or some outsider. He did state, however, that he thought the new regime would do much to remove the society from under the direction of the old crowd such as [] and that progress would be made. He said he would advise me of any major developments along this line.

SEPTEMBER (1953) RELEASE

September 15th Is Moving Day

General Foods Elects McDade

The board of directors of General Foods Corporation has elected Thomas M. McDade to the office of Controller. McDade, who was formerly Assistant Controller, succeeds Wayne Marks, Vice President, who was recently promoted to executive supervision of several staff functions.

McDade joined General Foods in 1946 as Accounting Manager and was promoted to Assistant Controller in 1950. He was an agent and supervisor in the Federal Bureau of Investigation 1934-38, after which he joined the law firm Biggam, Englar, Jones and Houston in New York. He left in 1942 to enter the armed forces, serving in General Brehon Somervell's Central Division of the Army Service Forces both in Washington and in the Southwest Pacific. After four years service he left the Army with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Following his graduation from the College of the City of New York, McDade attended St. John's University, where he received Bachelor of Law and Master of Law degrees. He is a member of the New York State Bar, the Controllers Institute and the Society of Former Special Agents. He is Chairman of the Society's Publications Committee.

Mr. and Mrs. McDade and their two children live at 4 Rosemere Ave., Rye, N. Y.

NAMED ASSISTANT MANAGER

Frank M. Ralsbeck has been appointed Assistant Manager of the STR Test Facility of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. Atomic Power Division at Idaho Falls. He formerly was Security Director at Westinghouse's Pittsburgh atomic power plant.

Membership Eligibility

Questions have been asked regarding the eligibility of Special Agent Employees of the FBI for membership in the Society. In years past, there was the one class of Agent, namely that of Special Agent. More recently, a new category designated Special Agent Employee has been created. J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Bureau, in describing this new class, wrote to one of the agents as follows:

"When you were appointed Special Agent Employee you were designated as such rather than as a Special Agent inasmuch as you did not possess a law or an accounting degree. The duties and the responsibilities of your former position as Special Agent Employee, however, were the same as the duties and responsibilities of Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

As there is no distinction between the duties performed by a Special Agent and a Special Agent Employee, both are eligible for membership in the Society.

Some further confusion arises from an entirely different class of employee, namely Special Employee of the Bureau, who do not perform the general investigative duties of a Special Agent and who are, therefore, not eligible for membership in the Society.

Commissioner Scheidt

Ed Scheidt has taken office as North Carolina's Motor Vehicles Commissioner, heading the state's second biggest department. Scheidt served in the Bureau beginning in 1931. He headed the Charlotte FBI office for nine years, the Detroit office for six months and the New York office for six years. He is a native of Winston-Salem and a graduate of North Carolina State University.

On September 15th, the general offices of the Society will move from space furnished by our good and genial member Bill Seery, at 70 Pine Street in the financial district of New York, to the Hotel Roosevelt, at 14th Street and Madison Avenue, adjacent to Grand Central Terminal. Spacious accommodations at a reasonable rental have been acquired on the second floor of the hotel. The new quarters, consisting of two air conditioned offices, will result in tremendously increased efficiency in the operation of the affairs of the Society. It is a long overdue necessity.

The Society has grown to such proportions that more adequate space is necessary to carry on the business. We have more than two thousand members, and with a large percentage of them in the group insurance program, numerous records have been accumulated and equipment acquired. It is not possible to store these records, along with information and data for the Directory, membership, etc., in Bill Seery's office, and Miss Frances Rought, our genial secretary, has to use many precious hours of the day needlessly because of the lack of centralization of equipment and records. Outside facilities are being utilized, such as mail service, addressograph, etc., to an unwise degree, and this move will streamline our business setup.

At the Hotel Roosevelt, there will be sufficient space for all the equipment and records of the Society, as well as an adequate space for the holding of the monthly Executive Committee meetings and for the other standing committees of the Society. There will be space so that out-of-town members visiting the City of New York can sort of hang their hats for a few days, transact personal business.

The Editor's Mailbox

By Tom McDade

In a recent issue, I inquired for information about the oldest of the former agents in the Society. I admit now that my wording was ambiguous and might be taken to mean either the oldest in terms of service or the oldest in terms of age. I now have a note from John Gregarevich, who lives in Freeport, Long Island, and who has reached the grand old age of 81.

"I joined the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice on Oct. 10, 1910," John writes. "Served continuously until sometime in March 1917, when I resigned to engage in special war work which could not properly be done by a Government agency. At the time of my appointment, there were but a very few agents in the service. I am not sure, but I think that there were less than a dozen of them. I recall only one, the late Daniel Betjeman. Stanley Finch was the first Chief of the Bureau. He was succeeded by my good friend A. Bruce Bielaski. My first five years in the service were as Agent in Charge of the Baltimore District. Incidentally, may I brag a little about my record? Almost singlehanded, I secured evidence resulting in indictments in 63 cases, resulting in 61 convictions."

I think John's letter makes a good starting point for my inquiry. I shall now repeat the question: Does anyone have a date of entering Bureau service earlier than John's Oct. 10, 1910? And second, do we have any agents older than he. He was born on Dec. 2, 1871. Good health and God bless you.

Readers of Argosy Magazine may have become familiar with a feature of that publication entitled "The Court of Last Resort." The idea for this series of articles and investigations grew out of discussions between Erle Stanley Gardner and Henry Steeger, the publisher of Argosy Magazine. At one time or another, cases had been called to their attention in which innocent people have been convicted. It occurred to Gardner and Steeger that an independent investigation might produce evidence exonerating the person confined. It was felt that nobody but carefully trained investigators should be used to review the cases and examine any new evidence which might be available. Therefore, the services of leading experts were obtained to aid in parts of the investigation. The result of this effort, familiar to everyone who has read these articles, has been the release of several persons convicted and confined for serious crimes which it was doubtful that they had committed.

Mr. Gardner has put the principal cases investigated so far into a book entitled "The Court of Last Resort" which I am sure, any member would find of interest. Perhaps some day I can get him to stop turning out Perry Mason detective stories long enough to give us a short piece for The Grapevine about how the Court was started and some of the problems they have run into in conducting unofficial investigations in such cases. The Court now has a Committee of Counsel composed of ex-agents who assist in policy and selection of cases for investigation.

Apropos the name of this little paper, I have the following anecdote from Ed Donovan, who is a member of the Massachusetts Commission for revising, etc., the laws of the state: "I shall always remember an amusing incident that occurred at one of the quarterly conferences conducted in the New Haven Field Office of the FBI when Dick Simons was the SAC. In the course of conducting a review on the Manual on Procedures, SAC Simons called upon a sprightly new agent to enumerate the various means which were at the disposal of the agent in notifying the Bureau. After the neophyte quickly reeled off the standard means of communication, such as teletype, letter, copies of reports, etc., SAC Simons inquired 'Can you think of any others?' A voice from the rear of the room roily suggested 'How about the grapevine?'"

A few issues back, I mentioned Ernie Cassill's "Sea Castle on the Ocean" at Pompano Beach, Fla., and the wonderful accommodations his place offers. Ernie now writes and generously offers a week's vacation to the Editor and his wife at his Castle. We never thought of the editorship as a paying job, but this is even better. Does anyone want to offer an all-expense tour of Europe? I'll gladly give the deal space in The Grapevine.

Ernie's place looks like a great spot for a Florida ex-agents' meeting. I only wish New York had such attractions.

I have a note from Walter Walsh, whom many of the agents will remember as the crack pistol and rifle shot who trained many of the agents during their course of induction at Quantico. Walter is a lieutenant colonel in the Marines and recently completed the amphibious warfare course at Quantico. In the fall, he will go to the Second Marine Division for duty. Last spring, he won the Middle Atlantic pistol championship and expects to defend his national match rifle championship at Camp Perry. Walter's 15-year-old daughter, Kathleen, is following in her father's footsteps and, after only a brief amount of training, took third in the ladies' event at the March national sectional championships. She is rated expert with a rifle and, like her father, shoots both rifle and pistol left-handed. I wonder if any other children of agents have taken up firearms instruction.

Jim Kirkland writes from Florida to tell me that Dan Bardin has been elected Mayor of Salinas, Calif. That's a roundabout way to get news.

Apropos Harold Nathan's piece on John Keith, we received the following note from Charlie Brennan, who served in the Bureau from 1912 to 1932:

I probably knew John Keith better than anyone else in the service. He started his service with the Bureau in the Dallas-Fort Worth district when the writer was SAC there, and I was more or less in touch with him during his entire career. Keith was efficient from the beginning. I was a guest in his home on numerous occasions and knew of his devotion to his family. With another agent, we were on special assignment together in Alaska for several weeks, worked and lived in adjoining rooms and traveled together. Keith set a pace for activity that was hard to follow. His outstanding characteristic at all times was to turn in a good job for the Bureau. When off duty, he was always a delightful companion.

"In the field of research and investigations, John Milton Keith had something on the ball a lot of us could envy. He did not promote himself by smearing others. I deeply regretted his untimely passing and I wish I could pay a better and more lasting tribute to his memory."

Regarding the late Sam Pickering, whose death in Tokyo we announced in the last issue, we have the following note from Col. Seth Wiard from Headquarters, Tokyo, Engineering Works Ordnance Shops:

"Pick' came over here to the Far East Command about four years ago as handwriting expert for the CID Laboratory here in Tokyo. Unfortunately, in May he

No Big Shots

"Tinhorn, two-bit punks, instead of the big league gangsters of yesterday now fill the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Ten Most Wanted Men list," reports William A. Millen in the July 5 issue of the Washington Sunday Star.

In contrast with the days when such names as "Baby Face" Nelson, Frank Nash, "Pretty Boy" Floyd and John Dillinger made up the Most Wanted list, today the man in the street would have trouble recognizing any of the names on the list. Reason is that the most wanted men don't stay wanted long, because of better-organized law enforcement and better-trained police.

Though today's most wanted men are comparatively unknown, they are highly dangerous. Many boast that they will never be taken alive. They have not attained the fame of the gangsters of old because they have not been given the opportunity to get organized and to get the publicity build-up that the legendary characters of the prohibition era got.

Joseph Paul Campisi

Joseph Paul Campisi arrived in this world May 8, amid clouds of smoke from cigars distributed by his proud father, Joseph P. Campisi of Rockville Center, N. Y. His father's chest expansion was all the greater because little Joe had been preceded by three sisters, Carol Ann, Donna Susan and Linda Marie.

Both parents of the newcomer are former Bureau employees. His mother, the former Zosh Bulvin, was a communications supervisor and his father was an agent 1941-44, spending most of his time in S.I.S. Pop is now a sales representative for the Bulova Watch Co.

Heads McCarthy Staff

Frank Patrick Carr, 37-year-old FBI agent, was named July 16 a staff director of the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee headed by Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R., Wis.). Carr joined the Bureau in 1942 after he had received his law degree at the University of Pennsylvania. After assignments around the country, he went to the New York office seven years ago and was named supervisor of security there three years ago. He resigned the New York post to accept the McCarthy subcommittee appointment. Carr is a native of Newport, R. I.

Society Pins, Keys

Several members interested in purchasing a key, pin or ring with the Society emblem have asked what they look like. The manufacturer, L. G. Halfon Company of Attleboro, Mass., has supplied this design:

The illustration shows the key design. The ring and the pin use the central part of this design.

As mentioned in an earlier issue, pins cost $3.50, keys $10.50 and rings $19.80. They may be ordered through the Society office.

Tracy Elected

Gerard B. Tracy, Manager of the Prudential Insurance Company's midtown agency at 270 Park Ave., New York, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the New York City Life Underwriters Association. Jerry is also on the Board of Directors of the Society of Former Special Agents, a life member of the Million Dollar Round Table, member of the Sales Executives Club of New York, Columbia University Club and the Cardinal's Committee of the Laity.

FORMS NEW PARTNERSHIP

George R. Blair has formed a new partnership and now heads the law firm Blair, White, Martin, Fitzgibbons and Roberts, with offices at 730 Wallbridge Building, Duffalo 2, N. Y.

N. Y. Sunday News Salutes X-FBI

An exclusive club with a broad-talking name, which meets in New York City every month, has both meek but solid citizens for members. Nevertheless, when these citizens get together they exchange stories about thugs, dope addicts, murderers and other vicious characters. The way most men talk about their golf scores.

Thus began Jack Markowitz's story of the doings of the Society in the Aug. 2 issue of the New York Sunday News, newspaper which has the largest daily and Sunday circulation in America. The story pointed out that the Society has 300 members in New York and 2,200 members in the United States and elsewhere around the world.

The New York group includes 23 men who helped break the DeLoach espionage case in 1941 and ten who helped round up the German saboteurs who landed on Long Island in 1942. Markowitz reported.

Sometimes, when the ex-agents get together, their reminiscing turns to experiences that were never reported to Washington. For instance, Markowitz cited the incident recalled by the Society's President, John L. Brennan, when he and another agent waited two hours for an extortionist to show up for a payoff in a Chicago restaurant.

"We had to eat hot chili all that time to keep from looking conspicuous," Brennan said. "We were picked for the job because we could run fast, but after that chili I felt mighty slow. Anyhow, our man didn't show up that night. We got him later. But I haven't touched chili since."

Invitation To Transfer

The following news item appeared in the newspapers with an Associated Press dateline:

BOISE, Idaho, Aug. 21. "Anything going on today?" a reporter phoning the Ada County sheriff's office asked yesterday.

"I don't know," a voice answered. "I'm an FBI agent trying to get out of this jail."

The agent explained that he had been questioning a prisoner, and had apparently been locked in the jail inadvertently. He asked the reporter to phone the sheriff's home and tell him of the situation.

News From Members

Hawaii

In the last issue, Larry Olney told us of the colorful welcome given visitors to Hawaii, where he is stationed with the Honolulu office of the U. S. Savings Bonds Division. This month, he tells us about sightseeing highlights in the islands, as well as local customs and folklore:

There are so many things to see in Hawaii that it is almost impossible to list what you should see and what I would show a visitor. The five islands of Oahu (Honolulu), Hawaii, Maui, Kauai and Molokai are all different. The island of Hawaii has the volcanoes, three of them active. The island of Maui has the big Haleakala Crater. The island of Kauai is called the "Garden Island" with its tropical, beautiful flowers and scenery. Molokai has the Hawaiian atmosphere.

On all these islands you see acres and acres of sugar cane and pineapple fields. A trip around each of these islands is a marvelous experience and, of course, we have here in Honolulu Pearl Harbor, the center of the Navy in the Pacific; the beautiful Tripler Hospital, one of the most modern in the world, where the wounded from Korea stop enroute home; and Punchbowl National Cemetery, located in the bowl of an extinct volcano, where many of the boys of World War II rest, in one of the most beautiful and impressive cemeteries of the world. When you leave Punchbowl Cemetery you have a deep respect and a patriotic regard for the people of Hawaii, who took a beating in World War II and whose sons contributed immensely to the success of the war. In Korea also, Hawaiian soldiers are far above the number of any state on the mainland in proportion to their population. Their casualties have been higher, too. You further recall that in World War II one of the most decorated units came from Hawaii.

On the island of Hawaii, besides volcanoes you have the coffee industry and the second largest cattle ranch in the world, the Parker Ranch of about 200,000 acres. There is no question that it would take a book to describe the many things that one should see in Hawaii; and two weeks, three weeks, one month is not enough.

Of course, on the mainland we have beautiful scenery and I should know because I have visited every state in the United States. But here in Hawaii not only do you have the unusual scenery, the flowers, different tropical plants, etc., but you also have mingled with it a Hawaiian atmosphere which is difficult to describe because it is a feeling that you have, mingled with certain Hawaiian customs, music and color. You hear Hawaiian music which you have never heard on the mainland; you pick up Hawaiian words; you eat Hawaiian dishes; and you adopt Hawaiian customs.

As an illustration, when you visit a friend's home on an informal occasion, it is often a custom to take off your shoes and loaf around in your stocking feet or barefooted. Mrs. Olney, who has been here for three years, has never worn a pair of shoes, and never a coat. She has colorful sandals and a light cape or light stole for evenings that may be a little chilly. She has never worn a pair of stockings in the last three years. Most of the schools forbid the children to wear shoes in the early grades.

Besides all of this, there are the Hawaiian stories of the past. For instance, the menhunes, who are the pixies or dwarfs of legendary Hawaii, do good things for good people and are noted for their marvelous feats of good construction—all in one night. They have built dams, ditches or even seawalls for the people. Over in Lihue, Kauai, the people needed a good seawall, so one night the menhunes started to build one for them, but the people became curious and went down to see them. The menhunes disappeared, and you can still see this excellent seawall, half-completed. You see, the menhunes will not permit people to watch them.

The menhunes do good things for children, too. My daughter Sandra, 6, and son Laurence, 5, always keep a tooth that comes out and put it under their pillow at night. During the night the menhune takes the tooth and puts some money. They never fail.

Mexico

Emerson Downing writes from Mexico City with interesting highlights and sidelights on life in that country:

Mexico City and its surroundings are a paradise for sightseers. If tourists like the picturesque, there are bull fights every Sunday; Kochimilco's floating gardens; Teotihuacan's pyramids, which are supposed to be larger than their Egyptian cousins; Chapultepec Park and its lovely museums; an endless number of old churches and cathedrals, and hundreds of interesting shops.

Then there are weekends at Cuernavaca, the country's semi-tropical paradise, just one hour outside the city; Taxco and its cobblestone streets and silver mines; Acapulco, with the most beautiful beaches in the world, plus fishing, yachting and quite an assortment of lovely hotels and night clubs. You can swim at Fortin de las Flores in a pool full of gardenias, or go rest at the sulphur springs of San Jose Purua.

Mexico City offers an endless variety of first class restaurants, with French, Italian, American and native food. And for slumming, the Tenampa bar and its native "Mariachis" interest the tourists of every nationality.

Mexican food grows on you. As far as I'm concerned, after ten years, it has agreed with me fine. Tacos, enchiladas, stuffed chiles, dried blackbeans and the good "mole" are just a few of them. You'd be surprised how good and tasty they are, too!

National holidays are plentiful—16 of them during the year, including the church holidays. They mean time off from work. I won't describe every one of them because it would take too much space. However, the Mexican Independence Days are September 15 and 16, which are celebrated with parades, special drawing at the National Lottery, bull fights, etc.

We own a home in a very nice residential section. It consists of living, dining and breakfast rooms, plus garage, kitchen and half-bath downstairs. Upstairs, we have four bedrooms and two complete bathrooms. Maids' quarters on the roof consist of one bedroom and bathroom. We have tiled floors all over, except bedrooms and dining room. And we bought it back in 1950 for $11,500 U. S. We have two full time maids and pay them a total of $30 U. S. a month. One is a cook, the other a combination house girl and nursemaid. Therefore, my wife is completely spoiled.

Clothing is a big item here. It is expensive. In fact, we are always asking friends from the U. S. who are coming for a visit to bring articles of clothing for myself and family.

Food prices are more or less the same as in the U. S., with the exception of beef. A five-pound roast will cost us $2.25 U. S.; filet is about 75 cents a pound. You will be interested to know that personal income tax is very low in this country. The exchange is 865 pesos for the dollar. Local salaries and wages, as a whole, are low. An English-Spanish stenographer will earn around $120 to $150 U. S. per month. You notice how much we pay our servants, and they are considered well paid.

I guess I sound pretty much like the Chamber of Commerce, but you asked for it. Mexico is my adopted country; my wife is Mexican (they make pretty good wives, too!); our children are bilingual, and I expect to spend the rest of my days basking in the good Aztec sun.

Burns-Suarez

The engagement of Miss Amalia Suarez, daughter of Frank C. Suarez, of 115 East 95th Street, New York, and the late Mrs. Suarez to Edward Thomas Burns of 425 Riverside Drive was announced in August.

Miss Suarez is an alumna of the Convent of the Sacred Heart in New York and of Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart. She also attended the Cooper Union Art School and the Villa Schifanoia Graduate School of Fine Arts in Florence, Italy.

Burns was a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation during World War II and later served with the Army Counter-Intelligence Corps. He is now with the law department of Clinton Foods Inc. in New York. Burns is the son of John F. Burns of Albany, N. Y., and the late Mrs. Agnes Collins Burns. He was graduated from Vincent Institute in Albany and Monot St. Mary's College in Emmitsburg, Md. He attended Georgetown University Law School and received an LL.B. degree from Columbia University Law School.

Short Stuff

William E. Gelder is now practicing law in Las Vegas, Nev.

John M. Fisher is moving from Wantagh, N. Y. to Chicago.

Bill Bowman reports that Hal Carey and his family from Cleveland visited him out in the Harbor of the Sun, the Jewel of the Pacific (identified on maps as La Jolla, Calif.). They worked together in New Haven for several years. "The welcome mat is always out to any of the boys when they come out this way," says Bill.

Crime in Casablanca

From Casablanca, French Morocco, John G. Gmerek reports an incident that illustrates the value of good relations with local police. Cooperation with the French police enabled Gmerek, along with former FBI agents William D. Wright, Jr. and Richard S. Bennett, now with the Atlas Constructors, security staff, to solve the theft of a large quantity of refrigeration parts from the Atlas construction project.

Investigation determined that several of the local employees of the refrigeration shop had been engaged in similar business in France. A check with French police revealed their backgrounds and their Casablanca addresses.

After some months of inactivity on the part of the equipment thieves, the French police, through the Atlas security force, requested the suspects to report to the local police headquarters. One of the two suspects, referred to by Gmerek as Pierre Francois, on being invited to police headquarters, requested permission first to visit the men's room. He was observed to bypass the men's room and head for the recreation hall, where he passed an envelope on which he had written something to a man identified by Gmerek as Julian Henri. Pierre Francois then returned to the security office, while Julian Henri was observed to head for the highway across the project and leading to Casablanca. There, he attempted to hitchhike a ride to Casablanca, several miles away. Henri was apprehended and taken to the French police barracks, where he surrendered the envelope, on which was noted the address and exact location of the stolen refrigeration parts of which he was to dispose.

Meanwhile, at police headquarters in Casablanca, Pierre Francois and his other accomplices were busy denying all knowledge of the thefts, assuming that Julian Henri had successfully completed his mission. When confronted with reality in the form of Julian Henri and the envelope, Francois finally admitted the thefts. All concerned admitted that they had been spurred by the motive of establishing their own refrigeration repair shop in Casablanca.

A subsequent search of the suspects' apartments by French police uncovered other stolen items, ten times the amount originally reported missing.

Placement in Philly

The placement program of the Philadelphia Chapter got a strong boost when the Chamber of Commerce News of Greater Philadelphia carried a major article story in a June issue on the Society and its placement efforts on behalf of its membership.

The News, which is circulated to many industrial and commercial organizations in the Greater Philadelphia area covering 14 counties in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, pointed out that members of the Society are available for a variety of positions not only throughout the United States but throughout the world. Referring to the rigid requirements for admission to the Society, the story repeated the Society's claim that its members are "the most carefully selected men in the world."

Wilfred R. Lorry, Chairman of the Philadelphia Chapter, placed the story in discussion with Colonel J. Harry La Bunn, President of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia. Lorry arranged to obtain sufficient copies of the issue for each Chapter, with the suggestion that each local unit contact its local Chamber of Commerce for similar treatment in its own area, thus getting complete coverage throughout the country on a direct local level.

Skills of ex-agents cover a wide field, the article stated, including law, accounting, personal relations, industrial relations, public relations and security work. A number of Philadelphia area firms now employ ex-agents in various capacities.

Cochran's Books

Long Cochran, of Santa Monica, West Coast representative of the Compliance and Investigation Division of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and special agent 1935-41, has signed a contract with Bantam Books, Inc. of New York for reprint rights to two of his novels, "Son of Haman" and "Boss Man." Both are stories of southern plantation life. Initial edition of each book will be 250,000 copies, and they will go on sale in late fall.

Cochran is the author of two other published novels, "Flood Tides" and "Black Earth," as well as "The Lowly Gnome," a collection of fairy tales for children, and non-fiction publications in such magazines as the American Mercury and Readers Digest.

CHAPTER NEWS

Boston

It was "husbands' and wives' night" for the Boston Chapter's June meeting. Following supper at the Boston Yacht Club, the members and their wives embarked on the S.S. Navliator at the Northern Avenue wharf and cruised around Boston harbor until about 10:00 o'clock, viewing such sights as the Mystic Bridge, the Boston Navy Yard, Logan Airport and Castle Island. At the conclusion of the cruise, snacks at local "eteries" brought the evening to a close.

Chapter Chairman P. Joseph Kenney Jr. has appointed John J. McLaughlin as Chairman of the Nominating Committee to present a slate of officers at the October meeting, to serve for the year beginning as of that meeting date. McLaughlin will be assisted by John J. Mahon and William H. K. Donaldson.

Maurice L. Carroll Jr.
Secretary-Treasurer

Buffalo

The Buffalo Chapter made it ladies' night for its June quarterly meeting at the Orchard Park Country Club. Several took advantage of the meeting site to arrive early for a round of golf. Cocktails and dinner preceded the meeting.

James T. Duggan
Secretary

Cleveland

There are now four chapters in Ohio, located in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus and Dayton. That information was included in a letter to the national organization, read by Burt Bracy at the Cleveland Chapter's second quarterly meeting, held in May at the Hotel Carter.

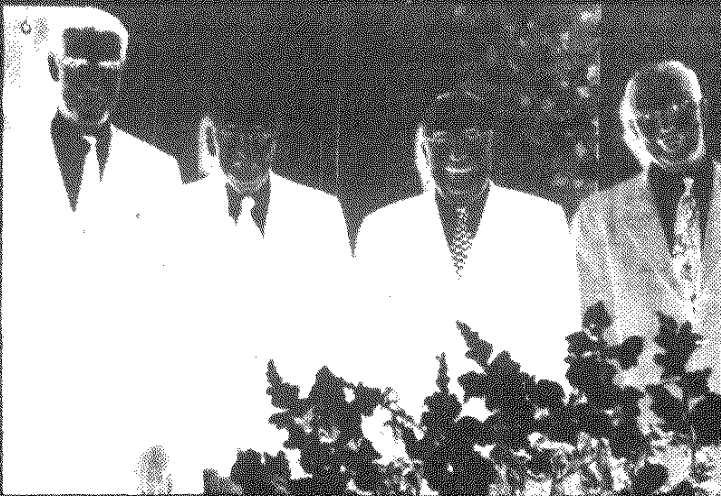

Replies to earlier letters to other Chapters asking information on placement activities were read. Chicago in particular impressed as being active in this respect, having an established procedure, details of which were described. The Chapter recently sent a letter to a selected list of executives. That, coupled with some fine publicity in the Chicago Daily News, has given Chicago's placement activities unusual effectiveness.

The Cleveland Chapter has supplied leads and contacts to members submitting placement applications.

Bob Wilson suggested that the Secretary communicate with the National Chapter requesting advice on admissions of new members. He also suggested that the current mailing list be revised and that the Secretary be furnished with a supply of application blanks.

Lowell Ryan's invitation to the membership to hold a combined summer meeting and steak fry at his home was unanimously accepted.

Golden Gaters

This happy group consists of the officers of the San Francisco Chapter, pictured at the Chapter's recent dinner meeting at Rickey's Studio Inn in Palo Alto. Left to right, they are Bill Connolly, Chairman; Harold Nathan and Carl Hughes, Senior Advisors; and Jim Werson, Secretary-Treasurer. Nathan served the Bureau 1917-45, Hughes' years of service were 1918-26.

Denver

The Denver Chapter has been moving along in great style with Russ Kramer as the chief mogul. Attendance at meetings has ranged from 20 to 40, with the regulars including such standbys as Dud Hutchinson, Bill Cornellison, Hy Calkins, J. Sherman Brown, Bob Main, "Pop" Barkhausen, Ed McMillan, Bill Dugas, Berkeley Clana-han, Bill Gallimore, Ed Perry and Paul Wenke. The Chapter meets bi-monthly, with a ladies' night and a fishing party on the summer schedule.

Recently the group held a dinner dance with 30 couples at the Aviation Country Club. Special credit goes to "Pop" Barkhausen for his organization of these parties.

Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Denver Post, addressed the Chapter at its May meeting at the University Club. The former agent's place in the community and in governmental affairs provided an interesting discussion topic. Plans were made to enlist other prominent businessmen and leaders as speakers for future meetings.

Russ Kramer is spurring the Chapter's membership drive.

The annual fishing party is planned for late August or early September at Glendiv, in the beautiful Laramie River Valley near the Wyoming border. This event is sponsored by the Fort Collins, Colo. contingent, consisting of Bill Dugas, Harold Hafer and Paul Wenke. Fifteen miles of restricted trout stream, three rustic cabins and a few decks of playing cards are at the group's disposal for these jaunts, not to mention the cooking talents of the Fort Collins trio. Last year's party pinned honors on Paul Wenke as "fisherman of the year" and Bill Cornellison as "sucker catcher."

Mike Carroll

Pittsburgh

Further progress in the Pittsburgh Chapter's membership drive was reported at its June meeting at the Fort Pitt Hotel.

A summer picnic for members, their families and friends was scheduled for Aug. 29.

Civil Service benefits available to former special agents were discussed. A query on this subject has been directed to President John Brennan for submission to the Executive Committee.

John H. Devlin, Chairman

San Francisco

Swimming, putting and various other activities contributed to a full program at the San Francisco Chapter's May meeting at Rickey's Studio Inn in Palo Alto. The meeting started at 2:00 P.M. and concluded late in the evening, following dinner and a general good time. There were 86 people present, including wives and girl friends of members.

The event was made possible through the kindness of Harry Kimball and John Rickey. General opinion was that the event should be made an annual one.

A guest speaker will be featured at the September meeting. Meanwhile, regular monthly meetings have been held on the first Wednesday of each month at the Fly Trap Restaurant in San Francisco.

James B. Werson
Secretary

Seattle

John Cherberg, new head football coach at the University of Washington, was featured speaker at the June meeting of the Pacific Northwest Chapter, held in the Arcade Room of the Washington Athletic Club. His discussion of football prospects at the University this fall and individual players to watch was unusually interesting.

Other special guests at the meeting were the entire administrative personnel of the Seattle FBI office, including Dick Auerbach, SAC, and John Holtzman, new Assistant SAC.

W. J. Pennington
Chairman

St. Louis

Thirty members of the St. Louis Chapter assembled for a real fancy outdoor affair recently at the home of William C. Seibert in suburban Webster Groves. There was barbecued chicken and other trimmings for a buffet supper—served by caterers, if you please. Only real work done by chapter members was in the corkball and horseshoe contests.

After the "feed," a five-piece band played for dancing on the patio behind Seibert's spacious home. Lights strung in trees in the yard provided attractive illumination. Intermittently, the band leader would sing verses—composed by an undisclosed author—which panned the profession, personality or proclivities of certain individuals present. Host Seibert and his taxicab business were not ignored. Neither were candle-maker Harry C. Deckert and liquor-maker Oscar Conrad. Attorney John J. Cole and George Capps, the "big money man," also received their share of attention in verse, along with several others.

At evening's end, those present agreed the party was one of the best activities ever held by the local chapter.

Guests included, besides those already named, Ray Behrman, Wayne Bigler, Butler Bushyhead, Edward Diemer, Robert Herr, Stuart Hines, James Kearns, James Laffin, Fred Layhe, Daniel Liess, G. Willard Max, James McNary, Samuel Murphy, Ralph Nolan, Johnston Pearcy, W. Edmund Peters, Gene E. Strong, Lewis Vandover, John Vieth, William Ward, Ed Wetton, Ron Wilson, James Meredith and Robert Fowler. Of course, the "little women" also were present.

Chapter Chatter

Beginning with the new year 1953 your Chapter Committee started off with a program designed to help the Chapters and their members to enjoy more fully the benefits of their membership and affiliation with the National Chapter.

Minutes of all Executive Committee meetings were made available to each of the Chapter chairmen, so that each Chapter in turn would know what was being done for them by the national organization.

All Chapter chairmen were reminded that each Chapter, under Paragraph B, Section 3 of the Chapter By-Laws, was entitled to be reimbursed by the national organization for postage and stationery used for notices to its members for four meetings per year, providing itemized statements were mailed to national headquarters.

Arrangements were made to give each Chapter publicity in The Grapevine in each current issue, provided the Chapters send in their news items and copies of their meeting minutes in triplicate.

The insurance program was reopened for a period of one month during June 1953, so that those members who had not taken advantage of the program at the beginning could do so during that month.

All the Chapters were asked to submit names of candidates for the coming election of the 1954 national officers.

A membership drive was undertaken to increase the membership of the Society.

Every effort was made by the national organization to work and cooperate with each of the Chapters. We asked for suggestions, we helped in solving their problems.

Many Chapters have responded by sending in suggestions and asking for help, which we have given. In the last issue of The Grapevine, in an article titled "I Did, Did You?" we reported on the suggestions received and the assistance granted to those Chapters asking for it.

Since the last issue of The Grapevine we have heard from Lee Murphy of the Kansas City Chapter. He reported activity in the membership drive, with four new applicants signed up.

Gil Smith and Pat Elder of the Chicago Chapter wrote in thanking the national organization for calling attention to the reimbursement for postage and stationery. They also sent along a copy of their local publication, "Chicago, This Month." Chicago too is active in the membership drive. Gil Smith requested 100 application blanks. Here's hoping, Gil, you sign them all up.

George Stevens of the Chicago Chapter asked if they could mail their itemized bills for expenses once or twice a year. We told George we preferred them quarterly. It helps as far as our bookkeeping is concerned.

Bill Pennington of Seattle sent in that Chapter's nominee for Vice President.

The Dayton Chapter, which held its first meeting April 10, sent in a copy of the group's minutes which informed us that A. E. Osboldhoff had been elected Chairman and Wade H. Alley Secretary. Good luck, fellows. If we can be of help, let us know.

Jim Werson of San Francisco sent in their bill for expenses and a check was promptly mailed to his Chapter.

Hugh Steger of the Dallas Chapter thanked us for calling attention to that section of the By-Laws which provides for reimbursement for postage and stationery expenses.

Evelle Younger of Los Angeles thanked us for the check covering their stamp and stationery expenses.

Burton Bracy of Cleveland sent minutes of their last two meetings. Keep them coming, Bart.

Lee Seward of the Pittsburgh Chapter came into New York on business and discussed many problems concerning that Chapter. Hope we were of some help, Lee.

It is gratifying to know that our efforts have brought some results and that many of the Chapters are cooperating and benefitting from our program to bring the Chapters closer to the national organization. We would like to have all Chapters take part in this program.

If your Chapter has not already done so, send us your meeting minutes and news items in triplicate

Job Opportunities

The following job opportunities have come to the attention of the Placement Committee since those listed in the last issue of The Grapevine:

1. Mr. T. M. Murphy of 130 West 42nd Street, Room 606, New York 18, N. Y., has advised that he is interested in getting in touch with a former special agent who would serve part time as a teacher of New York City patrolmen preparing for the civil service examination for sergeant. He prefers a lawyer with some teaching or public speaking experience. He has a place for a teacher whose lectures would be limited to the New York Penal Law and Code of Criminal Procedure and also a place for a man who is expert in crime prevention and police action. Anyone interested and qualified may communicate with Mark Murphy at the above address or by calling him at Wisconsin 7-2465.

2. Society member John D. Noble Jr., who is Director of Public Safety for the Government of Guam, is searching for a replacement for himself in that position. According to him, the Director is responsible for the supervision of five major branches of the Government of Guam, namely police, fire, prison, port security and Guam militia. He suggests that for information about Guam, applicants refer to his letter which appeared in the last issue of The Grapevine. The beginning salary is $10,725 per year, jumps to $11,212.50 at the end of the first year and increases correspondingly each successive year. He suggests that applicants file an application, preferably a Form 57, which can be obtained in most post offices of federal agencies, or some equivalent form of their own choosing, in which they should emphasize their administrative and executive ability as well as professional public safety background. Applications should be mailed directly to Mr. Peter C. Sianenza, Director of Personnel, Government of Guam, Agaña, Guam. John Noble advises that he will be pleased to answer any inquiries personally from any prospective applicants.

3. The Spadesa School for Investigators at 244 West 14th Street, New York, N. Y., is seeking two ex-agents to serve in the capacity of investigator instructor. They would prefer someone with a legal background but this is not an absolute requirement. One of the men would teach two classes a week for a period of five hours, the classes to run from 9:00 AM to 2:30 PM. The other would have a night class one night a week, from 7:00 PM to 10:30 PM. The minimum pay is $5.00 per hour but may be more, depending upon the applicant's individual ability. These courses will start approximately Sept. 21. Anyone interested may communicate with ex-agent James Tighe or Mr. Saccone at the above address or telephone ORegon 5-4357 between the hours of 10:00 AM and 4:00 PM.

ness and visit with other members. There also will be an element of privacy which is important, as the entire space will be devoted to Society activities. Members of the Society interested in employment can be interviewed; conferences with employers from out of town can be arranged at the new office.

Over the past few years, the Grand Central area of New York has developed into the most important business center. Most of the large business organizations have moved from the financial district to this area. It now appears to be the most convenient location in New York, not only for members in the metropolitan area, but for out-of-town members as well. The offices of the Society, being adjacent to Grand Central, will also be convenient to Pennsylvania Station. As you know, most of the meetings of the various committees are held at night, and with this central location and accessibility to transportation, we can expect a more efficient functioning of the committees.

The Executive Committee spent considerable time in examining various locations within the city and feels that the Hotel Roosevelt offers the best selection. A hotel connection will further aid out-of-town members in securing hotel accommodations, and other amenities may be forthcoming.

The Society's new quarters are yours! When you're in town, stop in and visit them. Make use of them, for telephone messages, for typing a note or letter, for any reasonable service or request.

suffered a heart attack at the desk and died in the Army Hospital about four hours later. He was about 60 years of age. He had worked for the National Bureau of Standards as a chemist before coming to the Bureau Laboratory in the early thirties. He and I worked together down there in those days.

"He was a member of two of the most popular American clubs in Tokyo, and was well liked by all who knew him."

When you were in college, you belonged to a class of a certain year and all through life you could keep in touch with men of your class. The training classes in the Bureau were small, but there is no less interest in one's classmates, although some haven't seen each other since the first office assignments were made. At least one member is trying to locate the 30 members of his class, twenty years after, and when he does, we will print the story of "Where Are They Now" in The Grapevine. Just the job for an ex-agent to keep his hand in practice.

Send in your itemized bills for postage and stationery for reimbursement. Send us your suggestions and problems and we will try to work them out. Take part in the membership drive. Increase the size of your Chapter's membership. These are your rights. These are your benefits. Take advantage of them today and every day, and fully enjoy your membership in the Society.

Chairman, Chapter Committee

Frank S. Smith

Frank S. Smith, the only federal officer who was not shot in the famous Kansas City Union Station massacre of 1933, died in Oklahoma City August 12 at the age of 75. Death was caused by a heart attack.

Ottile A. Valvajec

Ottile A. Valvajec, beloved wife of Victor J. Valvajec, died Aug. 7 in Paramus, N. J. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Walter Kloetzli Jr. at the Vander Plaats Memorial Home in Paramus, and interment was in George Washington Memorial Park.

Her husband, Victor, Valvajec, served in the Bureau 1917-30. He is now retired.

The former FBI man and Oklahoma City police chief took part in the battle that followed when "Pretty Boy" Floyd and his gang tried to free Frank Nash from federal officers at the Kansas City station.

DALLAS newspaper plants and printing establishments were somewhat less pretentious in 1890, as shown in the above photograph,* than those of the present day. The business needs of the city of that period required far less than the 300-plus publishing and printing plants that serve Dallas today, and certainly the present-day monthly printing payroll of more than $1,500,000 would have seemed astronomical at that time. Yet, the foundations of Dallas' present leadership in Southwestern graphic arts were being laid in that period, and in 1890 the pioneer printing firm of J. M. Colville & Sons was founded in Dallas. Two years later, William S. Henson, a man who was to play a major part in Dallas' modern printing development, was born in Liberty, Kentucky. He got his first newspaper job at the age of 15 on the Talpa Reporter, a weekly paper printed on a George Washington hand press. He worked on the Cleburne Enterprise while going to college and was editor of the Marshall Messenger and later on the staff of the Fort Worth Record. In 1916 he joined the staff of the Dallas Morning News as a reporter and with Silliman Evans founded the Reconnaissance while in the Army in World War I. He got into the business end of printing in 1919 as a house organ editor with the Johnston Printing & Advertising Company, and in 1930 he became vice-president and general manager of J. M. Colville & Sons. In 1940 he bought out this business and in 1942 changed the name to William S. Henson, Inc.

The Outer Shelf

What might be described as the third act of the drama of the tidelands came to an end late last month, just before the adjournment of the first session of the Eighty-third Congress, with the enactment of legislation which extended the jurisdiction and control of the United States to the seabed and subsoil of the entire outer continental shelf beyond the historic boundaries of the states. The bill was a companion measure to legislation enacted three months earlier which confirmed ownership by the coastal states of the submerged lands within their seaward limits, such limits being interpreted as three miles from shore in the case of all coastal states except Texas and the west coast of Florida. The historic boundaries of Texas are recognized as extending three leagues (10½ miles) into the Gulf by reason of provisions of the annexation resolution which brought Texas into the Union, and the west coast of Florida asserted a similar claim dating from the adoption of its state constitution.

The outer shelf bill has been described by this writer (in the May issue of DALLAS) as the third act of the drama of the tidelands for the reason that this long and emotional struggle over the submerged lands seems naturally divisible into five general phases. The first phase consisted of the litigation which led to the assertion by the Supreme Court, in a four-to-three decision, that the federal government had "paramount rights" in the submerged lands; and the second phase culminated in the enactment last April of the legislation confirming state ownership of the submerged lands within their historic boundaries.

The third phase, which reached its denouement late in July with the passage of the outer shelf bill, will be followed in all likelihood in the months and years ahead by a fourth and fifth act in the tidelands drama, one judicial and the other political. The fourth phase is already underway, a number of inland states having joined in litigation attacking the validity of the legislation affirming title in the states to the submerged lands within their boundaries; and the fifth phase is shaping up also, a bitter partisan struggle in the political campaigns of 1954 and 1956, the so-called liberal elements of the Democratic Party girding themselves to inveigh with stentorian fervor against the Republican "give-away" of federal resources to the coastal states. So the drama of the tidelands has much of its tempestuous course yet to run.

Insofar as the outer shelf bill is concerned, it was a "federal" measure virtually in its entirety, having been intended by Congress as a companion measure to complement, and at the same time offset, the historic boundaries legislation which was strictly a "state" bill. Senators and representatives from Texas and Louisiana sought strenuously to extend relevant state laws co-extensively with federal jurisdiction over the outer shelf, but their efforts to secure adoption of such amendments had no chance to succeed, first because the majority of Congress believed that the interests of the coastal states had been fully accommodated in the historic boundaries bill, and second because the Republicans in particular had become uncomfortably sensitive to the "give-away" demagoguery practiced and dramatized by their liberal colleagues.

Even though the philosophy and major provisions of the outer shelf measure had the approval of the vast majority of both houses of Congress, the bill almost failed of enactment because of a conference deadlock over the controversial "Hill-for-education" amendment. After the bill had cleared the House the Senate inserted an amendment sponsored principally by Senator Hill which provided that the enormous revenue expected from the development of resources on the outer continental shelf should be distributed by the federal government to the states as aid for education. When the House and Senate bills were referred to conference for an adjustment of differences, the seven House conferees, among whom was Dallas Representative J. Frank Wilson, steadfastly refused to accept the Hill amendment, and after a long stalemate the Senate conferees were compelled to yield on this controversial issue. Even then the conference report, from which the Hill amendment had been eliminated, narrowly escaped defeat on the Senate floor, being adopted by a vote of 45 to 43.

Although the Hill amendment was both appealing and plausible, this writer is convinced that Representative Wilson and the House conferees were on sound ground in resisting its adoption. Such federal largess to state schools, amounting potentially to manifold billions of dollars, would create the concomitant danger of federal control over local educational systems. The danger would be inescapable, despite the disavowals of the sponsors of the amendment, for the growing dependence of local schools on bounty from Washington could not fail to consolidate power in the federal bureaucracy over our educational system. In any event, this is an issue which should be determined separately on its merits, rather than as an amendment to the submerged lands bill, since the revenue from offshore development will accrue to the Federal Treasury anyway, and will be available for disposition in due course as Congress may determine.

Be that as it may, the outer shelf bill became law, and, whatever else may be said of the record of the first session of the Eighty-third Congress, at least one major objective of the Eisenhower administration was attained. The enactment of two comprehensive measures dealing with such a complex, and indeed unprecedented, problem was an outstanding achievement, regardless of any difference of opinion which may be held with respect to the merits or shortcomings of certain provisions in both bills. Texas had a vital stake in the whole issue, and, although coastal states were denied participation in the development and exploitation of the outer continental shelf, Texas won an unqualified victory in the historic boundaries bill. It stood—and prevailed—on the basic principle that a solemn contract of annexation, entered into by two sovereign nations, was sacrosanct and inviolable, then and now.

Dallas Presses Set Selling Tempo

Advertising, selling and mass production have built the American mass market and the American standard of living. The key machine in this dynamic combination is the printing press.

The tempo of mass selling and mass advertising is geared to the speed of the nation's presses, and the excellence of the mechanical production rolling off presses from Dallas to Detroit is reflected in ever-rising sales graphs in industry and new products in American homes. The printing press produces the end product that reflects the creative talent of the advertising profession and the precision teamwork of the graphic arts industry, and that gives to American business the finest selling tools in the history of the world.

In September, the thirty-fourth annual convention of the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen, meeting in the Southwest for the first time, will bring to Dallas more than 1000 leading graphic arts craftsmen in America. This will set the stage for a major showing of fine printing, new processes, new equipment and new ideas.

In practical business terms the convention will mean new and better tools for mass selling by American business. It will mean new improvements in the production of more effective advertising—the marvelous communication system that virtually gives every American consumer a personal teletype direct to the production lines of industry.

Just how important the printing press looms in American business may be gauged from the fact that out of total national expenditures of approximately $7,000,000,000 in 1952 for advertising, almost $5,000,000,000 centered in the graphic arts industry. Preliminary figures recently released by Printers Ink show a gross total of $4,449,300,000 that had its final run on some type of printing press.

The importance of technical advances, new processes and new equipment in the graphic arts industry to sales executives may be better gauged by a breakdown of the Printers Ink figures. Newspaper advertising tops the list with a total of $2,458,500,000. Direct mail is second with $1,011,400,000. Magazines accounted for another $614,100,000, farm papers, $29,700,000 and business papers, $335,600,000. These figures apparently do not account for elaborate point-of-purchase material, labels, colorful packages, cartons and shipping containers which involve additional millions of expenditures through the graphic arts to speed American distribution.

The predominance of the printing press in American selling is also pointed up by a comparison with other advertising shown in the Printers Ink figures. Outdoor advertising accounted for a total of $161,600,000, and it must be remembered that a substantial part of cost in this media involves some of the finest and most colorful graphic arts production in the nation. Radio accounted for $722,700,000 and the newest and perhaps most glamorous media, television, accounted for $580,000,000.

All these figures are due to climb during 1953 as the nation's markets become more competitive, and the printing craftsmen's convention comes to Dallas at a time when realistic sales executives are preparing for more intensive selling to create new markets and take up production slack that may come about as a result of the truce in Korea.

Just how leaders in the Dallas graphic arts industry are preparing to meet this challenge may be gauged by estimated expenditures of at least $1,000,000 for new printing equipment installed in Dallas plants during the past two or three years. These installations enhance Dallas' position as the graphic arts center of the Southwest and mean better selling tools to enable Dallas business to keep pace with the fast-expanding Southwestern market.

As this convention focuses the attention of the graphic arts world on Dallas, it should also serve to center the attention of Dallas businessmen on the importance of the craftsmen who man the industry. The leadership of Dallas in Southwestern advertising stems from "know-how" and completeness of production facilities. In this combination experience and technical skill are by no means of secondary importance.

Perhaps in no other area of business is an unbroken line of teamwork from top to bottom so essential. The production economy latent in the most modern color press depends not only on the technical skill of its production crew, the engraver, typographer, artist and agency account executive, but also on the understanding of the businessman who pays the bill.

The why of better printing and advertising is the most important thing for the business man to understand. He must understand that advertising and selling have built today's American market, which Fortune in its current issue calls: "the most portentous economic phenomenon in all history." He must also understand that better advertising and selling are America's main hope for the future.

In perhaps the most significant speech at the 1953 Advertising Federation of America convention this June in Cleveland, A. H. "Red" Motley, publisher of Parade, and one of the nation's most astute advertising men, states this why very clearly.

"Selling and advertising are needed as never before to build markets that can absorb our production and provide employment when defense slows down. We do not have the huge backlog of deferred demands that helped us over the transition after World War II. We must create new demands." Mr. Motley said.

"Our economy is based on created human wants rather than 'needs' or necessities. This makes production and the selling of that production increasingly important as an economic and social force.

"The only course offering real hope for the future to all segments of our economy is to expand our markets. There is only one way to intelligently and solidly expand markets for the future and that is through improved product research, improved products and improved marketing practice, including both advertising and selling."

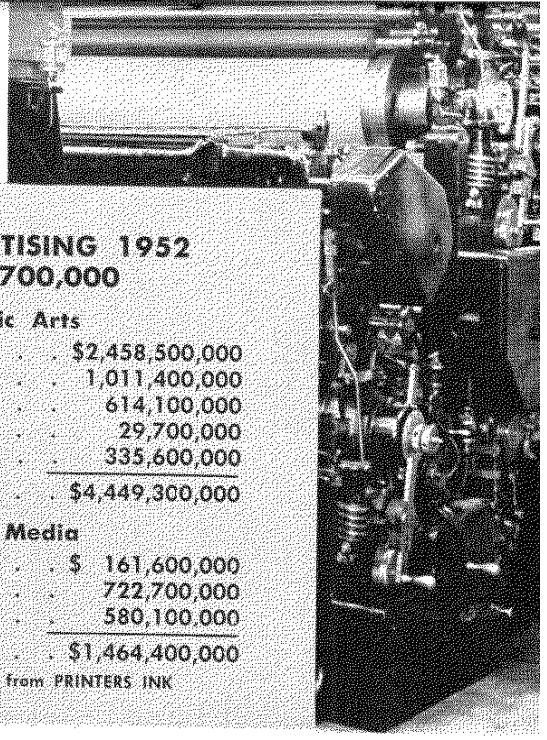

The post-war expansion of Dallas' graphic arts industry and the steady rise in billing of Dallas advertising agencies would indicate that Dallas businessmen are applying "Red" Motley's philosophy. And those who are getting the best individual results and taking advantage of the technical advances in graphic arts are the firms who are making use of Dallas' fine backlog of professional advertising men and women. Just as the complicated machinery and processes of modern graphic arts require expert craftsmen, their proper use requires a knowledge the busy business executive does not have time to acquire.

The advertising agencies of Dallas bridge the gap between the businessman and the craftsmen. The personnel of these agencies speak the language of the businessman and also the language of the craftsmen. That is one reason the expansion of Dallas as the advertising center of the Southwest has gone hand-in-hand with its graphic arts development. The professional advertising man has become the executive officer of the businessman in making use of the steady improvement and processes in the graphic arts.

line, printing presses in plants throughout the city continue to provide an increasing part of the motive power for Dallas selling. The intelligent use of that power revolves more and more on the competence of professional advertising people and skilled craftsmen.

And new equipment in Dallas plants provides Dallas businessmen with more and more tools to meet modern competition. In the past two years one manufacturer has installed 20 new offset presses in Dallas plants. New production methods are being introduced and improved machines that operate faster.

In addition to new, improved presses, special attachments for high-speed folding machines are now in use in Dallas. These machines can fold and glue booklets in a single operation. There is also a new proof press now in use in Dallas that allows the printer to proof an entire insurance policy form at considerably less cost, creating a distinct saving for the insurance company.

Some of the recent improvements in the graphic arts industry are as follows:

Modern designing and more color are in widespread use in loose-leaf covers used by industrial concerns in sales kits, et cetera.

One-time carbon snap-out forms are now produced locally. The volume of business of one company alone has reached 50 per cent of the company's entire volume.

Installation of what is believed to be Dallas' only automatic Polyman cylinder flat-bed press, manufactured in Germany, was another step forward.

Also, the only licensee in the Southwest for the Litho-Krome four-color process is located in Dallas.

FIRST MEMBER to sign the charter of the Dallas Club of Printing House Craftsmen 26 years ago was Emil Borak, below, vice president in charge of production at Johnston Printing & Advertising Company. Largely responsible for organizing the Dallas club—the first in the Southwest—Mr. Borak submitted a drawing which was accepted as the organization's official emblem.

Another improvement is the combination of letterpress and offset printing processes on a single job, producing unusual effects and creating an economy in printing.

And there is increased utilization of air conditioning in printing plants. This has served not only as a comfort measure that increases employe efficiency, but also provides balanced humidity control for better registration in four-color process printing.

In summarizing the strides made in recent years by the Dallas graphic arts industry, one printer made this observation:

"Printers today offer businessmen higher quality printing than ever before, better service, more individual services and more printing, dollar for dollar, at a lower cost than at any time in the industry's history. This has been accomplished not only through marketing competition and better equipment, but also as a result of streamlining printing plant operations and utilizing more efficient production systems."

Dallas engravers have also expanded their facilities to keep pace with the steady growth of this city as the graphic arts center of the Southwest. Within the past few years, new plants have been built and substantial additions and improvements made to existing plants. The increased use of offset printing in Dallas is reflected in the installation of special offset plate departments in Dallas engraving plants. Since quality engraving is most important in the production of better printing, this has resulted in increased business for Dallas from all over the Southwest.

A great advance has been made during the past few years in the manufacture of rubber printing plates and these are now being manufactured in Dallas. These plates are extremely adaptable for certain types of printing. In the printing of cellophane, metal foil paper and highly glazed paper the use of rubber plates are a necessity when aniline inks are used.

This also points up the fact that Dallas has perhaps the most varied group of specialized printing plants in the Southwest. Dallas has printing plants that print one, two and three colors on glassine, wax paper and cellophane. Other plants print burlap bags, wallpaper, egg cartons, fancy wrapping paper and even metal such as metal bottle caps. Dallas is perhaps the largest center of envelope printing in the Southwest with a number of large national organizations and locally owned plants specializing in the production of all types of envelopes.

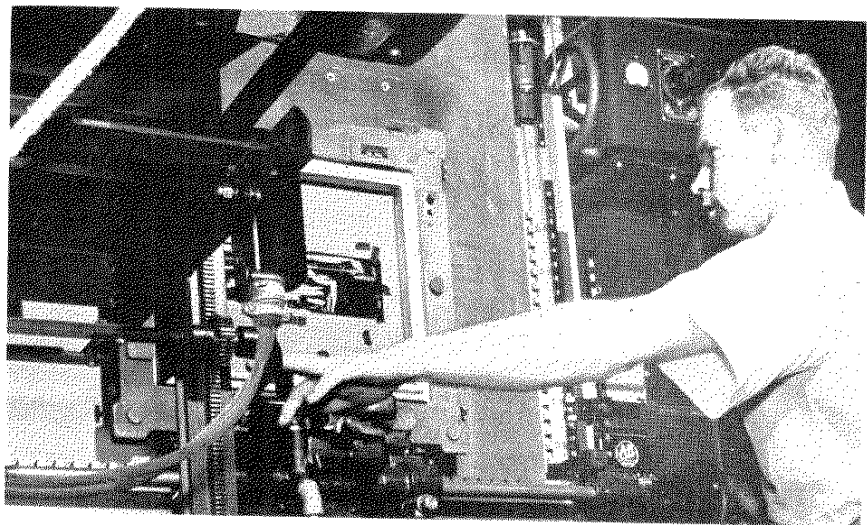

Paper is an important supply phase of the graphic arts and Dallas paper merchants carry tremendous stocks of printing papers. This makes proper selections and quick deliveries possible from Dallas stocks. There are few requirements for printing papers regardless of kind or quality that cannot be handled by Dallas paper wholesalers from their stocks.

Dallas is also the largest center of typography in the South. The excellence and quality of Dallas typesetting attracts business to Dallas from a wide area and gives local printers ready access to the finest custom typesetting. Other special services such as die cutting, decals, silk screen plants, electrotipers, bookbinders round out the Dallas graphic arts picture.

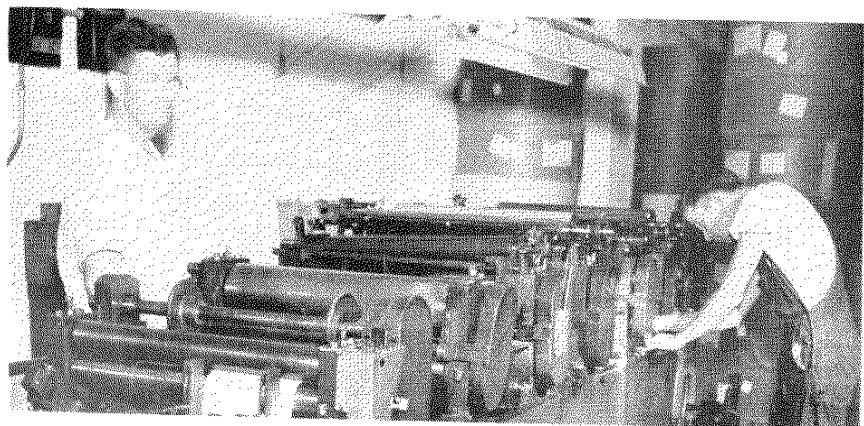

All of this means that Dallas has the equipment and the know-how to cope with the selling tempo of the dynamic Southwest. The marketing knowledge and creative talent of its advertising men and women, the skill of its craftsmen and the expanding excellence of its facilities and equipment insure to Dallas business the modern selling tools required for future competition.

Printing School Unique in Southwest

THE Southwest School of Printing in Dallas, the only non-profit institution in the entire Southwest designed solely to provide low-cost printing training, is now in its thirty-third year of existence.

Owners of commercial printing establishments and newspaper publishers throughout the vast Southwest jointly own and actively support the school, which has trained 295 men for composing room and press room jobs in the past seven years.

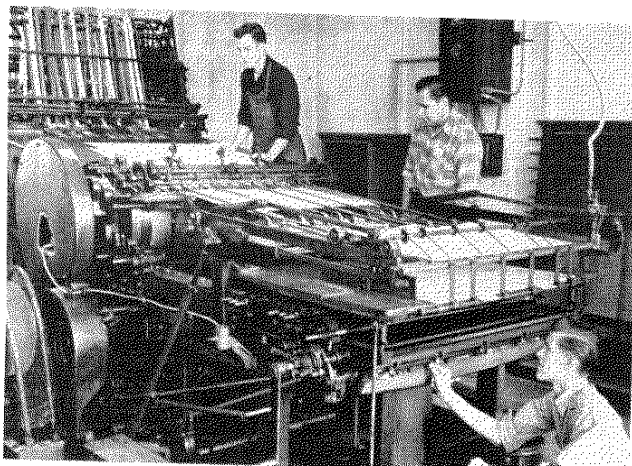

Approximately 90 per cent of these men are now active in the printing industry, reports Robert Gleason, the school's general manager. Mr. Gleason pointed out that Southwest trains its students so thoroughly in the fundamentals of printing that its graduates are capable of making a smooth transition from classes to actual commercial production and are well on their way to becoming journey-men printers.

Southwest began as a privately-owned training school for printers. Four years later, a group of Dallas businessmen became interested in the program of well-balanced training for craftsmen and formed the Dallas Vocational School, which absorbed the original Southwest School of Printing.

Interest in the institution grew and in 1930 it acquired its present plant, located on a 16-acre site on Clarendon Drive. At that time, the school name was changed to Southwest Vocational School.

Although printing was the primary course offered at the school, other trades were also taught until 1937 when the commercial printing and newspaper publishing industries of the Southwest assumed control. Then the curriculum was revised to a complete course in printing and the school's name was changed back to the original Southwest School of Printing.

Numerous veterans of World War II and of Korea have been trained, and are now attending classes at the school under provisions of the two G.I. Bills of Right. In addition, several handicapped students have received training at the school through cooperation with the Texas Education Agency.

Currently, leaders in the printing and publishing industries have joined school administrators in encouraging high school graduates to prepare themselves for a printing career.

Curriculum of the Southwest School of Printing is based on the general printing course, which includes on-the-job practical training under experienced instructors in hand composition, machine composition and press work. A course in printer's English also is required work for all students. In addition, specialized courses are offered in each of the three major divisions. The general printing course includes 600 hours of instruction in hand composition and floorwork, 390 hours in press work and 790 hours in composing machine operation.

Pat Taggart, business manager of the Waco News-Tribune, is Southwest's recently re-elected president. Other officers of the school are E. M. (Ted) Dealey, publisher of the Dallas Morning News, vice president, and William Egan, president of Egan Printing Company in Dallas, secretary-treasurer.

John A. Scott Company Promotes Three Executives

THE John A. Scott Company, typographers, has announced three promotions and broadening of its services to advertisers, advertising agencies and printers.

Marvin T. Scott has been elevated from secretary of the company to vice president. Bill Wagley, sales manager, has been made secretary and Jack Berry has been appointed account service executive.

The company has complete day and night service, specializing in linotype, monotype, monotabular composition and newspaper mats, stereotypes and plastic reproduction plates.

Early this summer, Scott distributed a new 500-page type specimen book, called "Type Faces," which is being furnished to its customers throughout the Southwest.

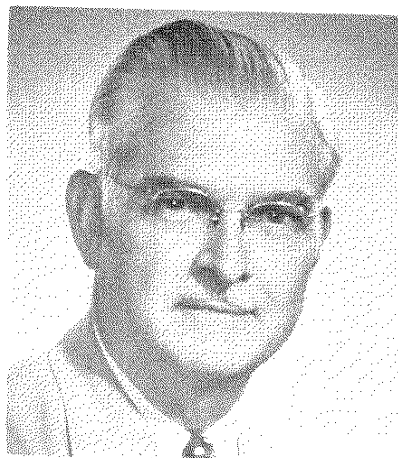

Mr. Scott and Mr. Berry have had more than 20 years experience in creative printing, layout and typography. Mr. Wagley, who will continue to serve the company as sales manager, joined the typography firm in 1948 after having gained extensive experience in newspaper advertising.

In his new position, Mr. Berry will be available for consultation in all matters of layout and type selection for greater impact and results. He will continue as night superintendent of the plant.

Herb Hill is Scott's day superintendent and also an account manager.

John A. Scott is president of the company bearing his name. The company's offices and plant is located at 3812 Taylor Street.

Neiman-Marcus Texas

By Frank X. Tolbert. published by Holt, $2.95.

THE Dallas institution most talked about abroad and the town's leading writing professional get together in print in this book. "The store," of course, you already know. Tolbert is a big, slow-moving, hairtrigger-minded Dallas man who writes and edits for the Dallas News and also steadily supplies the largest of the American magazines with some of their more readable short stories and articles. The combination of Tolbert and Neiman-Marcus makes for a rare thing among books about business houses. It is a book to be read rather than shown to visitors of the firm.

The book about a business firm is a special breed of publication. Most businesses have a longer book that they don't want written than the one they would like. This isn't because the business houses have anything scandalous to hide, either. The manager of a business has to think about the effect of the book on his customers and his competitors, and the average firm is about as receptive to humor at its expense as high military brass is. As a result, the average book on a business house is a sedate history based on safe and inherently uninteresting material and written with rather more awe than Gibbon showed for the Roman Empire.

Tolbert's book did not entirely escape this hazard, and its main fault is a few patches of bad editing where excisions were made. On the whole, though, the Marci, as Tolbert calls them, had the good taste that they show in almost everything. They let Tolbert have his head. The Neiman-Marcus that emerges is a human, friendly place; and the book that emerges, a mixture of store history, personalities and the better Neiman anecdotes, all frothy, lively and fun to read.

Tolbert is an author that a businessman, or anyone else, can understand. He writes as another man might practice law, as a career, without any monkey business. He is capable of writing for almost any publication but understandably Visitors literally by the thousands have been flocking into Dallas for summer conventions. Just as one convention pulls out another seems to be setting up its registration tables. The Statler Hotel's announcement that it will begin its new Dallas facility in October adds new interest to convention possibilities for the future.

The American Fashion Association, for instance, has just closed its winter market, the six-day show that brought some 5,000 money-spending buyers to Dallas. Although the group chooses Dallas four times a year for its big markets, Dallas merchants never tire of the news that market week is coming up.

*

A few of the major conventions scheduled in September include the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen which is expected to attract 1,500 visitors from September 13-16; the National Fraternal Congress, reserving accommodations for 500 from September 13-17, and the Texas Academy of General Practice, which will bring 1,000 doctors to Dallas from September 20-23.

Convention gatherings in August emphasized the approaching school season. More than 1,000 high school vocational agriculture teachers came to Dallas to map plans for 1953-54. Think of the Dallas impressions these teachers will take back to students in 849 high schools throughout the state.

Homemaking teachers from high schools and colleges chose Dallas for a five-day training conference this month. Sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, it attracted 800 teachers.

Last month's convention of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association emphasized the value of professional meetings in Dallas. More than 1,500 druggists came to town to see 200 lines of new fall and holiday merchandise exhibits.

That same month, more than 2,000 members of the Retail Furniture Association of Texas flocked to Fair Park to view the latest lines of new furniture.

Another mass invitation from Dallas has been extended to 1,500 Latin American cattlemen and government officials to attend the State Fair's Pan-American Livestock Exposition in October. In addition, 8,000 brochures printed in Spanish have been distributed in Central and South America by Braniff, Delta and Pan-American airlines and Lykes Steamship Lines.

Dallas has room for other visitors besides those attending the conventions. Top officials of the Studebaker Corporation came here to discuss retail business problems with dealers from Texas and Southern New Mexico. Included in the group of executives were Harold S. Vance, Studebaker president; Paul G. Hoffman, chairman of the board of directors; K. B. Elliott, vice president in charge of sales; H. E. Churchill, vice president in charge of engineering, and Paul R. Davis, general sales manager.

*

On a tour of the nation, Federal Housing Chief Albert M. Cole, national head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, came to Dallas for a two-day visit with home builders in the metropolitan area. Dallas was one of his stops on a tour to get a firsthand view of the national building situation.

Dallas will be the scene of the Southwest division of the "Amateur Baseball World Series." This tournament will include teams from California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Alabama, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and Missouri. It will be played at Reverchon Park, September 4-8.

Location of the tournament in Dallas came as a result of an almost universal request on the part of neighboring states. All of them look to Dallas as the sports center of the Southwest and in a vote taken in the eight states, Dallas was the unanimous selection.

The tournament not only will bring national publicity to Dallas but will also mean the expenditure of some $25,000 among merchants here during its running.

Industrial Publications Create New Business Tool

By Bob Jones

THE company publication, more familiarly known as the "house organ," has really come of age.

The greatest single stimulus for the growth of industrial journalism was World War II. What developed as a necessity for helping hold a hastily recruited war-time labor force together, has developed into a highly effective and respected employe relations tool.

Dallas, well known for its progressive and forward looking management, has become headquarters for an ever increasing number of company publications. The local roster of the Society of Associated Editors lists some 70 members. This organization, dedicated to the advancement of the profession of industrial editing and the improvement of industrial publications, cuts across almost every segment of Dallas business.

Representing the great Dallas insurance and banking fields are no less than 17 publications. The aircraft industry, petroleum, transportation (rail and air), public utilities, soft drink bottling, automobile industry and many others have company publications in this area. Service organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce, Red Cross, and Community Chest also produce top-notch magazines and newsletters.

Many of these publications have regional and national circulation. The magazines of many of Dallas' large insurance companies, for instance, go to almost every state in the union, keeping their field representatives in touch with the home office. One oil company sends its publication to production crews operating as far away as Canada.

Another branch of industrial journalism, the trade publication, is also well represented in Dallas. What the house organ does for the employes of a company, the trade journal does for companies engaged in the same type of business.

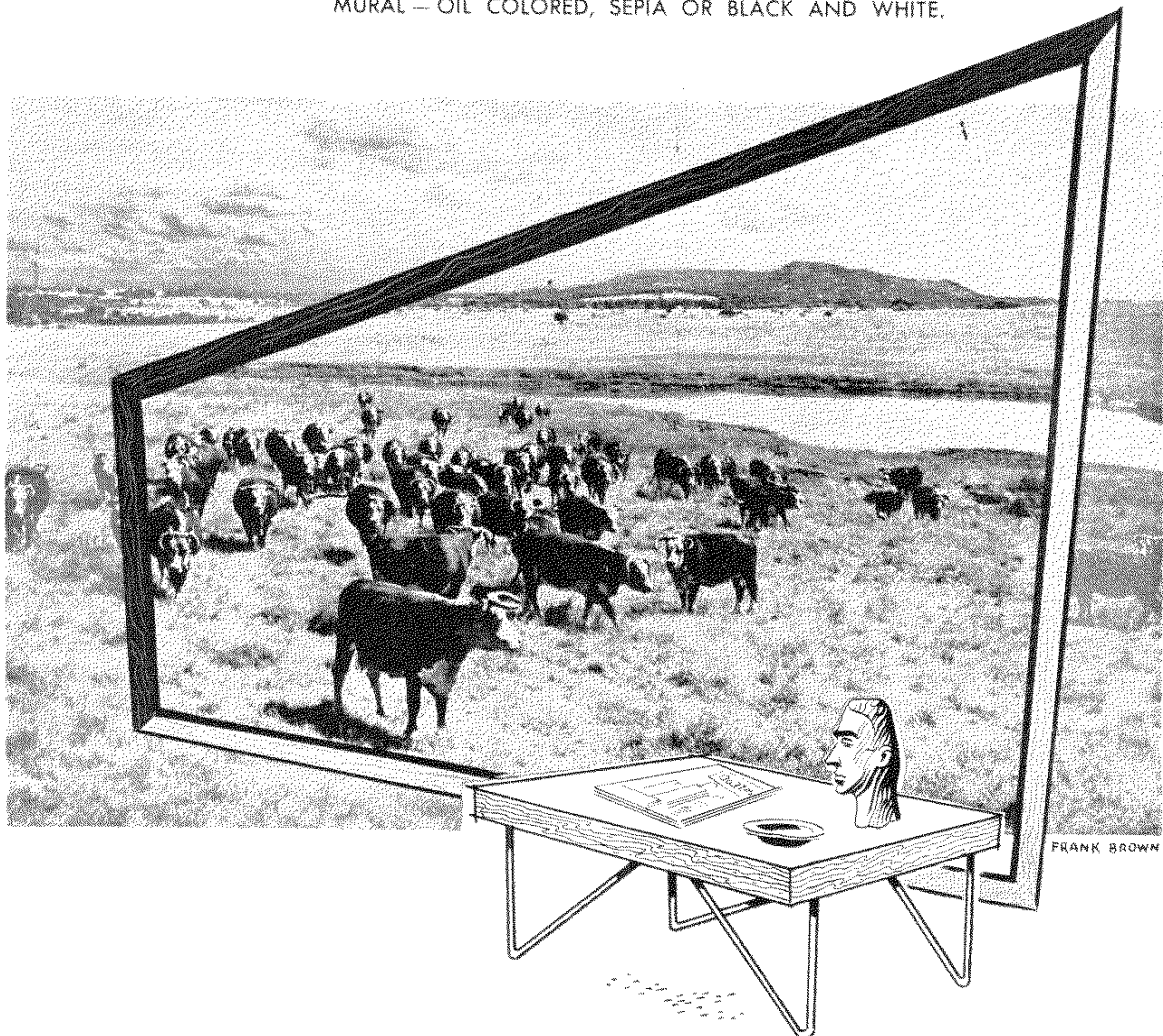

Since the war, Dallas has become one of the big company publication towns in the nation. Dallas' progressive graphic arts industry is one of the big reasons why. Many of these companies — with publications of their own — keep in constant touch with the editing field through membership in S.A.I.E.

Post Office Lists Ways to Speed Mail

METHODS of speeding delivery of both local and out-of-town mail were announced this month by J. Howard Payne, Dallas postmaster.

Pointing to the wide fluctuation in the volume of mail handled at different hours during the day, Mr. Payne said that Dallas businessmen could speed up their mail delivery by as much as 24 hours if they mailed during early hours.

In the above chart prepared especially for DALLAS magazine by the U. S. Post Office, the effects of peak afternoon mailing show that as much as two days delay may be caused by the large volume of mail reaching the post office from 5 to 7 p.m.

Mr. Payne urged Dallas businessmen to practice mailing twice daily in place of only once.

By getting letters to the post office at noon or by as early as 4 o'clock, delivery to most points would be speeded up by a full day.

For concerns that use post office meters, no additional bookkeeping is required for the additional mailings, since the entire day's mailing can be included on one report to be filed with the post office with the last mailing of the day.

In addition to a large volume of local business mail handled daily by the post office, many major publications are using Dallas as a central mailing point for towns in a 600-mile radius. Charm, Mademoiselle, Living for Young Home Makers, Woman's Home Companion, Popular Mechanics, The Ladies' Home Journal, Country Gentleman, Saturday Evening Post, Better Homes and Gardens, Esquire and Seventeen all mail from Dallas. These publications are passing water freight rates to a port city because of Dallas' superior location as a mail distribution point.

Turning from publications to advertising material in the form of catalogs, last year 892,285 printed elsewhere were shipped to Dallas, usually in carload lots and placed in the mails here. The revenue from these mailings was $134,339.95. 535,000 Sears, Roebuck catalogs represented approximately 90% of the total weight.

Much third and fourth-class mail shipped in from Oklahoma City, Chattanooga, Chicago, New York, et cetera, enters the mails through the Dallas post office. Merchandise shipped into Dallas by motor freight and distributed from here as parcel post runs into large volume.

In one month alone, clothing, cosmetics, preserves, patterns, posters, et cetera, coming from 10 firms in Massachusetts, New Jersey, Oregon, Missouri, Illinois, New York and Connecticut, and totaling more than 45 tons in weight were mailed in Dallas. There is an Oregon orchard which mails a carload of fruit (perishables) each month. Postage on this merchandise when entered in the Dallas mails amounts to about $5,500 annually.

Another new service for Dallas citizens is late pick-ups from residential boxes. Mail from some 126 boxes placed strategically throughout the city is picked up between 8 and 9 p.m. nightly.

Boxes receiving the late service are designated with two yellow circles on the side. This is another service that gives next-day delivery to many Dallas addresses and improves the service on out-of-town mail.

This is Your Republic

Oil powers its progress . . . your bank helps you produce it!

Oil lies buried under one . . . two . . . three miles of dirt and rock. Finding it—recovering it—is a job for men of courage and skill—oilmen—with the will to work and the right to profit.

It is also a job for money. Lots of it. And hundreds of millions of dollars of it have come from our bank. It is supplied by our depositors—and by our stockholders who provide our capital and surplus of $50,000,000, giving us the highest lending limit of any bank in the South.

Years ago the Republic pioneered the first oil production loans by commercial banks. Since then our bank has made so many oil loans—in every oil-producing state in the nation—that oil men call us "The Oil Bank."

We like that name. It tells the story of Republic's leadership in working for this dynamic industry. It tells, too, of the many ways our bank works for you—for every oilman!

Oil is America's fortune. It means better living—bigger business for every American. We're glad your bank has a hand in it.

Gibraltar Life to Dedicate $3,000,000 Office Building

THE new home office building of Gibraltar Life Insurance Company of America will be formally dedicated the latter part of September. President William E. Nettle has announced.

Dedication ceremonies have been tentatively scheduled for September 25, according to Mr. Nettle, who founded the company almost seven years ago. At that time, Dallas and Texas insurance executives, civic leaders and other business friends of Gibraltar Life will be entertained at several open houses.

This month, the recently completed 11-story home office building at Bryan and Harwood was the scene of the annual Gibraltar Life Company convention, attended by 85 leading producers of the company.

It was announced at the convention that the company has established a home office general agency in Dallas, under the supervision of W. A. Lewis, agency director for the company, and Merton Bell, company educational director.

Gibraltar occupies the second and third floors of the $3,000,000 building, which is Dallas' newest skyline addition. Contemporary and functional in design, the structure is built of steel, masonry, granite, aluminum, glass and limestone. Vertical fins serve to partially shade office windows and also enclose the building's air conditioning ducts. Planned so that nine additional floors may be constructed later, the building has space for stores and service establishments on the ground level, with both street and lobby entrances.

One of the service features of the Gibraltar building is an off-street loading dock on Harwood. A basement elevator rises to truck-bed level for loading and unloading convenience. Storage space for building tenants is available in the basement, part of which is occupied by the insurance company's files, supplies, mailing room operations and its printing department.

Completely air conditioned, the building features acoustical ceilings and fluorescent lighting throughout. Thomas, Jameson and Merrill, architectural-engineering firm, designed the building.

The rapid growth of Gibraltar Life Insurance Company — climaxed by the opening of the company's Dallas home offices is reflected in the steadily-increasing volume of the company's insurance in force. At the end of 1947, the company's first full year of operations, insurance in force totaled $3,621,427. The figure has jumped steadily each year since. As of June 30, 1953, the insurance in force was approximately $55,000,000.

of the district and its 90,491 school-age children — policies that Dr. W. T. White, superintendent, and his staff must carry out with speed and efficiency to meet educational demands in a city where a classroom full of children are born daily.

While private business last spring was digging into downtown Dallas to the tune of $30,000,000 worth of construction work, the public schools were closing out a building improvement project totaling $25,000,000, sprinkling the city with new schools and additions.

Comparative major private construction jobs are the extension to Titcher-Goettinger Company, the Republic Bank Building, and Corrigan office building.

Big school construction problems last spring centered on four junior high schools — Thomas J. Rusk, W. H. Gaston, L. V. Stockard and one in Walnut Hill, yet unnamed.

The opening of the city's 102 public schools on September 9 will signal the close of a 1949 $16,500,000 improvement bond project, with the exception of La Reunion Elementary School. And the

Dallas Leads State in School Building

By Frankie Waits

NINE Dallas professional men and women are setting the pace for the city's biggest and fastest growing business — the public schools.

And their booming enterprise is actually the baby of the bunch among Dallas' larger public institutions. Although it's the second largest school district in Texas (Houston is first), Dallas building jobs total more than any other school district in Texas and amount to the most vast single construction project in Dallas.

Leading the fast-stepping parade of the Dallas Independent School District is the nine-member Board of Education, a policy-making group.

They chart the route and set the speed for improving the multi-million dollar educational system. It is a race to keep building in step with rapid rises in student enrollment that averages 4,000 to 5,000 additional kids each year.

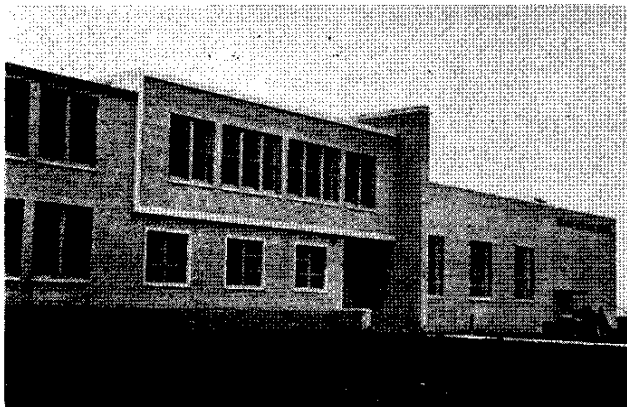

Their business, all voluntary, is to set school policy that will guide the future building budget has a balance of $500,000 despite soaring costs and the Korean War.

In fact, the school building boom has continued without interruption since the end of World War II. But schoolmen, architects, contractors and builders have been harassed every step of the way by rising costs of material, labor and equipment.

Since the district was established in 1947 by separation from the city, two bond programs totaling $26,500,000 have been completed. Out of that have come 53 projects, 24 of which were new schools. Another $24,830,000 (voted in October) will produce 30 new schools by the opening of the 1955-56 year.

Officials and board members hope this progress will meet the mounting wave of student enrollment. The greatest factor in bristling registration is the crop of "war babies" born during World War II. This group will enter junior high this fall. In two years they will move to senior high school and space will be at a premium.

By working closely with the administration and cooperating with the City Plan Commission, the Board of Education spots future building sites, first in communities bulging with student population. Sites must be purchased in strategic locations — not more than one mile from each other. The board will buy 300 acres this year (186 acres have already been contracted for) to build the 30 new schools.

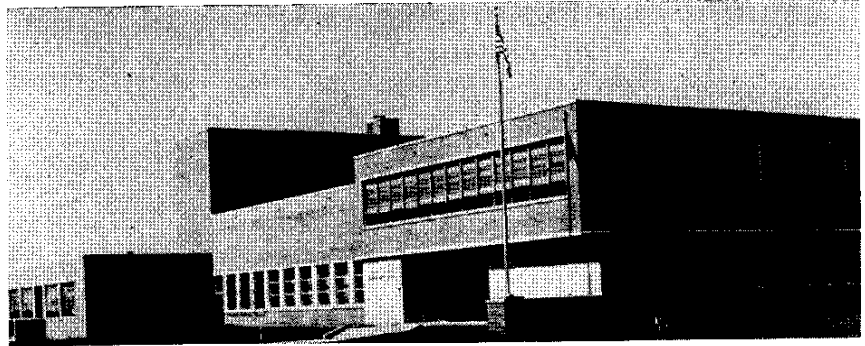

The six-year-old independent school district has a current valuation of $925,000,000. Its boundaries have spread over 190-square-miles of Dallas County.

Throughout the three construction projects of 1947, 1949 and 1952, with jobs totaling $51,830,000, the district has raised taxes 31 cents in the past seven years.

Current rate of $1.31 per $100 valuation is the fourth time school taxes have been increased and the first boost since 1950.

Heading the board this year as president is Dr. Edwin L. Rippey, a physician. Mrs. Tracy H. Rutherford, secretary-treasurer of the Rutherford Metropolitan School of Business, is board vice president.

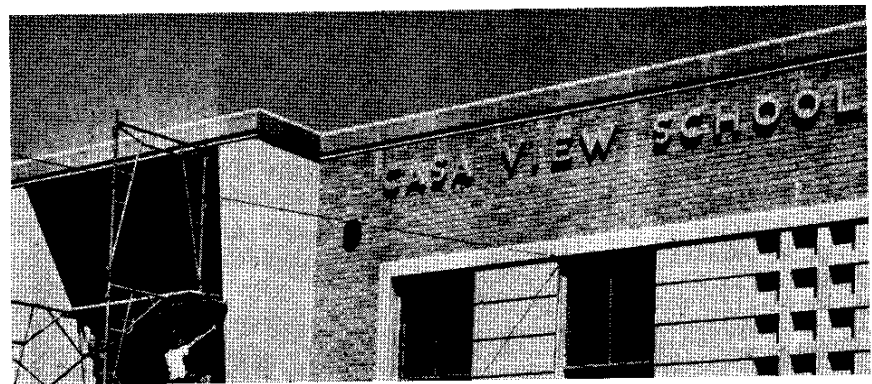

PRELIMINARY PLANS for the L. V. Stockard Junior High School have been approved and Architects Buford and Feinberg are making working drawings of the structure with a capacity of 1,400 pupils.

A $1,057,000 SCHOOL, Thomas J. Rusk Junior High includes metal and wood shops and homemaking classrooms. It is representative of Dallas' comprehensive-type junior high schools.

NEWEST IN DALLAS, the Stephen C. Foster Elementary School was completed in August and is ready for final inspection by the Board of Education. The major unit cost $525,043.

OPENING SEPTEMBER 9, the $624,526 Casa View Elementary School is built for a capacity crowd of 1,000 pupils. The structure contains innovations in classroom lighting.

Parade of Homes Opens Next Month In Oak Cliff

Dallas' 1953 Parade of Homes, a parade of model residences being built on Pentagon Parkway in South Oak Cliff, will be open to the public September 19-27.

Twelve builders have been rushing construction on the homes to have them ready in time for Dallas' observance of National Home Week. Builders across the nation will be staging Parades of Homes at the same time.

Distinctive features of this year's Parade of Homes will include a large percentage of year-round air-conditioned homes in price ranges under $18,000.

Three of the model houses will be of frame construction in the $9,500 to $11,500 class, while the remainder will range up to $20,000.

The purpose of the Parade of Homes is to demonstrate to the public that innovations in homes can be presented within chosen price fields each year.

The innovations this year include design improvements, new structural methods and materials. Use of outside space around the model homes also will be accentuated.

Casa View Area Gets New Shopping Center

A 35-acre suburban shopping center is being built at Gus Thomasson and Ferguson Roads to serve the rapidly growing Casa View section of East Dallas.

A five-square-mile section north of Buckner Boulevard and U. S. Highway 67 has grown from four homes in July, 1949, to more than 3,200. Some 400 new homes are under construction and 4,300 other homesites are being planned. More than 30 builders are participating in the projects.

Ben Tisinger, developer of the center, is negotiating with appliance and children's clothing stores and a number of other firms to provide the community a complete shopping service. Drive-in groceries and service stations already have been built and Wyatt Food Stores is planning to locate its largest retail outlet there.

The new shopping center will provide parking space for 2,500 cars.

Homes will range in price from $9,000 to $13,000. Five school sites and numerous church locations have been reserved.

Aluminum Company Opens Dallas Plant

AlSCO North Texas, Inc., has opened a new office and warehouse at 1831 Levee Street in the Trinity Industrial District. Al Small, president of AlSCO's North Texas division, said the 7,400-square-foot Dallas plant will be used to assemble aluminum products from AlSCO, Inc., plants located in Akron and Gnadenhütten, Ohio. The Akron company is a manufacturer of aluminum combination storm doors and aluminum extrusions. The new Dallas facility will distribute the finished products throughout North Texas. Owned by W. E. Reid, the plant was built by Williams and Wagner, general contractors. Lease negotiations were handled by Tom A. Whitley, associated with Howell H. Watson and Jack D. Watson, Dallas realtors.

Cleaning Firm Buys Adjacent Laundry

The Fishburn Cleaning and Laundry Company, 3200 Ross Avenue, has purchased the adjacent Ideal Laundry Company.

The purchase makes the firm the largest cleaning and laundry company in Texas, according to Denys Slater, president of Fishburn's. The transaction has expanded the Fishburn plant 400 feet on Ross and by 34,000 square feet of floor space.

Mr. Slater said that the expansion will enable the company to more than double its capacity of laundry service and also will allow more space for dry cleaning work.

Fishburn's now has 30 outlets throughout Dallas.

Dallas Civil Service Serves New Region

Dallas' federal civil service office has added three states to its region as part of an Eisenhower administration reorganization designed to save the government $250,000 a year.

To Texas, the office has added Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, territory formerly served by the New Orleans and St. Louis regional offices.

Although the New Orleans office has become a branch of the Dallas office, St. Louis has remained a regional office, taking over some territory served by the St. Paul office which has been closed.

The new region will have some 220,000 federal employees, according to Regional Director Paul Figg.

Leases Facilities. An office and warehouse have been opened at 4421 Greenville by Professional Paints, Inc., national manufacturer of paints sold only to painting contractors. Natural Gas Air Conditioning Is Cheapest to Operate!

If you are planning to modernize your factory or business, decide now to install gas-operated air-conditioning.

Gas-operated air-conditioning can lower your overhead because units, regardless of size, are cheaper to run. Owners report fuel savings of 50% or more.

Raising output or efficiency is also a large item in your profit picture. With a gas-operated air-conditioning system, every employee in your factory or business can enjoy proper temperature and humidity for his particular job. Gas-operated equipment is flexible—it operates at any speed between high and low to maintain proper temperature with no erratic switching on and off. It adjusts easily to the varying temperature requirements of the unpredictable Texas weather.

Gas-operated air-conditioning can meet any need because of variety of different types of equipment. This makes for greater flexibility in the design and layout of a system for a particular plant or business.

Investigate gas-operated air-conditioning. For details write our Industrial Department, Dallas, Texas.

There are four types of gas-operated air-conditioners.

prefers $1,000 from the Saturday Evening Post to the $200 that he might get from one of the more literary monthlies. His steady production for such magazines as the Post, Collier's, Look and True give him a five figure income, and certain Tolbert stories appearing in the big magazines have been superior to certain other Texas stories appearing in the Atlantic Monthly.

An anthropology major who failed the only college course in journalism that he ever took, Tolbert is now one of the country's most competent journalists. He worked on newspapers in Amarillo, Wichita Falls and Fort Worth before World War II. During the war, he was managing editor of Leatherneck, the Marine Corps equivalent of Yank. He could have been production manager of one of the nation's larger magazines afterward but preferred to come back to Texas, first to a ranch near Lubbock. After he had grown tired of keeping windmills in repair, he moved to Dallas and took a job with the News, not particularly to be near Neiman-Marcus though that turned out fortunately.

Tolbert is an entertaining writer, a fine copy editor, an excellent practitioner of picture journalism and an ingenious layout man. He is capable of writing a section of a magazine article or short story in the few minutes between newspaper assignments. He writes swiftly and needs little revision. He first-drafted "Neiman-Marcus Texas" in five days.

He and his wife, Kay, and their two youngsters live on Robin Road.

This is his first book, but Tolbert didn't write just one first book. He wrote two. Bigamy Jones, an unusual comic western novel, will appear later in the fall. — Paul Crume.

Arthur L. Kramer, Jr., has announced completion of preliminary plans for A. Harris & Company's $5,000,000 Oak Cliff Center. A. In addition to reinforced concrete, building materials will include fieldstone, textured concrete and glass. The architectural firm of Welton Becket, F.A.I.A. and Associates of Los Angeles, is designing the project in conjunction with a local architect. Several Dallas Firms Hire Ex-F.B.I. Agents

A number of Dallas-area firms are utilizing the training of former F.B.I. men by putting them to work in various capacities, according to Attorney Hugh L. Steger, head of the local chapter of the Society of Former Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Many of the former G-men are with law firms, Mr. Steger says.

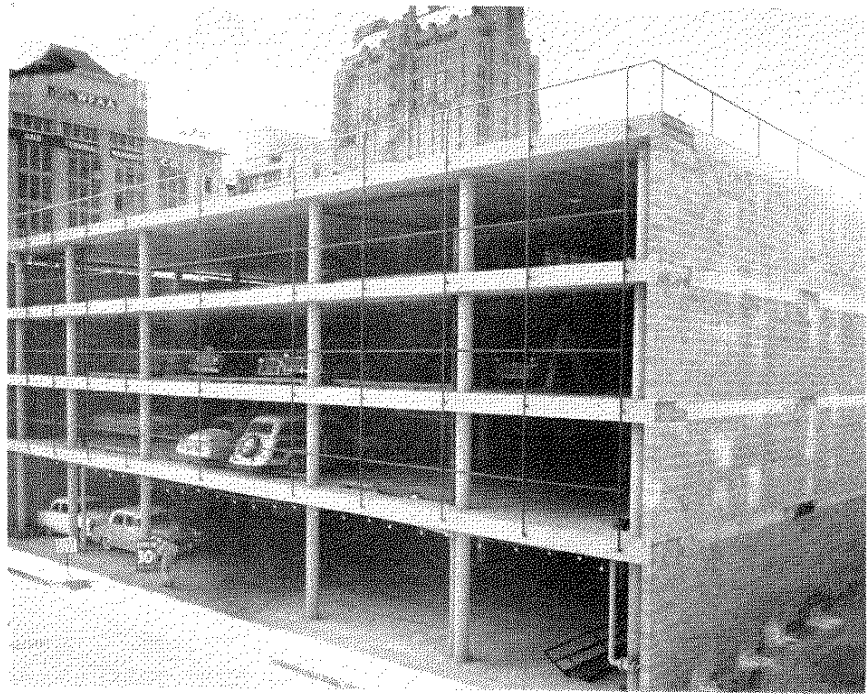

The society is composed of men who left the F.B.I. in good standing to resume private activities. Their skills cover a wide field, including law, accounting, personnel relations, industrial relations, public relations and security work.

"The desirability of these men is readily apparent. They have been chosen after scrupulous and detailed investigation. They have been found to be men of reliability, capability and integrity and they have had invaluable training and extensive experience in the many and varied fields within the jurisdiction of the F.B.I.," Mr. Steger says.

305-Car Parking Garage Opens

A five-level downtown parking garage with a capacity of 305 vehicles opened early this month. Located on Wood and Jackson, between Field and Akard, the garage represents an investment of $600,000, according to owners and operators Trammell Crow and Eugene M. Locke. The structure, the first major downtown public project of its kind in almost 20 years, is an important step in easing downtown parking problems, City Traffic Engineer Lloyd Braff said. Constructed in just 60 days, the garage is of reinforced concrete. Beams supporting the parking level were pre-cast of concrete and steel. Cars are parked on the ground level and on the four levels above, including the roof. The building faces 100 feet on Wood, 62 feet on Jackson, and is 200 feet deep.

Textbook representative BEN EVERITT, who served as a superintendent of public schools for many years, has joined Banks Upshaw and Company, publishers.

R. D. BENNETT and F. BUCK HOWARD have recently joined the Dallas sales staff of Texas Empire Life and Accident Insurance Company.

The map includes a complete and revised street guide index; routes of Dallas streetcar, motor coach and trolley coach lines; a list of in-bound and outbound highway routes; telephone listings of Dallas hospitals, public buildings and passenger depots, and interesting photographs and facts about Dallas. Chamber members are invited to write, come in or call Mrs. Foster for a complimentary map.

New Pools Planned. Dallas Parks Director L. B. Houston says the park board has tentative plans for building two more neighborhood swimming pools if there is enough community interest. Space is available in Walnut Hill Park at Midway and Walnut Lane and at Pleasant Mound Park between Pleasant Mound and Pleasant Grove. Mr. Houston explained that the pools would be similar to the new $75,000 one at Weiss park in West Oak Cliff.

Garage Nears Finish. An underground garage which also may be used as a bomb shelter — first of its type in the Southwest — is scheduled to be finished by September 15 in the Highland Park Shopping Village. Hugh Prather, Jr., vice president of Flippen-Prather Stores, Inc., said that when completed the garage, which is on two underground levels will accommodate 300 vehicles and 3,500 persons. The bottom level is 20 feet below the ground entrance. The garage is patterned after a subterranean structure built a year ago in Los Angeles.

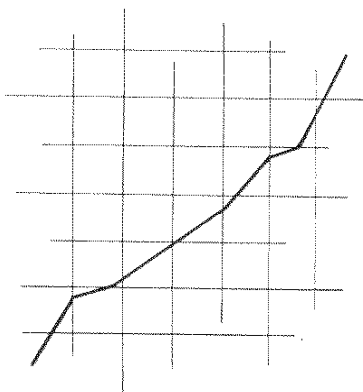

Frito Buys Mills. The Frito Company of Dallas has purchased two San Antonio vegetable oil processing firms. They are the Texas Vegetable Oil Company and its subsidiary, Vegetable Oil Refining Company. C. E. Doolin, Frito president, was elected president of the two firms following the purchase. Mr. Doolin said that one of the primary interests of the Frito Company had in the purchase of the firms was for the development and promulgation of sesame seed oil as an important new agricultural crop for the Southwest.

Pittsburgh Builds Dallas Branch

The new Dallas branch warehouse and office of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is now under construction at Industrial Boulevard and Glass Street in the Trinity Industrial District. The 83,000-square-foot structure may be the largest Pittsburgh installation of its kind in the nation, according to T. E. Jackson, southwestern manager. Cost of the building and equipment has been estimated at near $500,000. The company's complete line of paint and glass products will be warehoused and distributed to an area in Texas comprising 70 counties and parts of five others. Curved automobile glass will be one of the principal items handled through the Dallas branch in car lot shipments from the factory. J. E. Morgan and Sons is general contractor of the building and George L. Dahl is architect and engineer.

Belmont Features Three New Dining Rooms

Belmont Motor Hotel has remodeled and expanded its restaurant located at 901 Fort Worth Avenue, on U. S. Highway 80. Seating capacity has been increased from 64 to 200 and the dining area has been more than doubled to 3,620 feet. Completely redecorated and refurnished, the $200,000 restaurant features three dining rooms — the Mobile, Dallas and Cosmopolitan Rooms. The Dallas room, above, which contains the main entrance to the establishment, features black-on-white murals of the Dallas skyline by Linwood P. Frye, Dallas artist. The restaurant's kitchen space has been doubled to 1,500 square feet. Mr. and Mrs. John B. Malone own and manage the motor hotel. Robert Henseler, who has been head chef of Fort Worth's Western Hills Hotel since it was opened two years ago, is the new chief chef and catering manager of the Belmont Restaurant.

Center Stresses Business Art

DALLAS being the graphic arts center of the Southwest, should have some means of training new artists to fill the demand in its expanding advertising market.

This was the thinking of E. R. Henderson, who is head of E. R. Henderson and Associates Advertising Agency and a commercial artist himself.

So in July, 1952, Mr. Henderson bought the Young's School of Commercial Art, changed the name to Art Center Studios and immediately began setting up a practical plan of instruction, which, based on his own experience in the field, is geared to fit the needs of advertisers, agencies, letterpress printers and lithographers.

While considerable stress is made on originality, and on good drawing and rendering for all types of reproduction, the more mechanical side is also emphasized, points out Mr. Henderson.

Students are also taught layout, lettering, type styling and selection, assembly and paste-up for engravers and lithographers under conditions similar to those of a professional art studio.

The Art Center Studios are located at 2818 Routh Street in one of the old colonial homes in the Fairmount-Cedar Springs area that has become the art and antique center of Dallas.

The Dallas chapter was organized early this year to extend the activities of the national association into the Southwest.

American Thread Manager

J. F. Humphries has been named Dallas manager of the American Thread Company. Associated with American Thread for three years, Mr. Humphries was formerly with the Southern Freight Tariff Bureau in Atlanta. He served in the Air Force during World War II, in the Asiatic-Pacific area. A member of Delta Sigma Phi, international professional fraternity in the field of commerce, Mr. Humphries is a graduate of the University of Georgia.

During the year, many employers will be "guilty" of failing to set up a Safety Program. Of course, these employers do realize the great value of a Safety Program in saving lives and limbs...in conserving manpower and reducing insurance costs...yet often they just don't take the time to plan and install a Safety Program...or they fail to give the Program they do have, their support.

Will you be included in this "guilty" group, or will you do something about Accident Prevention NOW? It's to your advantage to have a Safety Program and to see that it works.

The SURE Way to SAVE

Most people realize the wisdom of saving money and many do start a savings program . . . but too few ever reach their goal. One of the surest ways to save is through life insurance. Money saved through life insurance will provide funds for retirement . . . for the education of children, and for other worthwhile purposes. Should a man not live to complete his insurance savings program, then his family will receive the sum he planned to save . . . in full . . . which you'll agree is wonderful security for them. Why not let the Southland Representative show you how easy . . . and how rewarding it is to save . . . the Southland way.

Fairfax Nisbet

By Joseph Sterne

ONE Friday evening in the mid-thirties, an amusements reporter on the old Dallas Journal got a dream assignment: Go interview Clark Gable when he lands at Love Field.

Fairfax Nisbet, a chatterbox newshen with a granite faith that her work is really play, needed no second bidding. She rushed to the airport, rushed through a hurried 15-minute interview, then came back to write her story for the Saturday Journal.

But Miss Nisbet made one mistake for those Gable-crazed days. She mentioned that the star would return to Dallas Sunday evening to see a friend he used to hobo with.

When Reporter Nisbet, on her own time, went back to Love Field that Sunday evening, she found herself in the middle of a mob scene. Women were climbing over fences and standing atop cars in an attempt to see their idol.

Gable landed in a private plane, took one look at the excited women and asked the pilot to jump over to Fort Worth. As an added fillip, Gertrude Stein of "a rose is a rose is a rose" fame landed in the midst of the uproar. When Fairfax asked the poet what she thought of Clark Gable, Miss Stein replied: "Who's Gable?"

Miss Nisbet went back to her office to write a page one story that Dallas News Amusements Editor John Rosenfield still calls "brilliant."

Fairfax Nisbet comes by her newspapering naturally. Her maternal grandfather, Dr. J. B. Gambrell, was editor of the Baptist Standard and she had uncles on the Macon (Georgia) Telegraph and the New Orleans Times Picayune.

At the University of Texas, Fairfax was confronted with two roommates who were rather unprolific when it came to freshman English themes. To test her versatility, Fairfax wrote themes for the two roommates, and developed distinctive styles for each.

As a freelancer, she wrote for the St. Louis Post Dispatch, the San Antonio

Light and Ted Dealey's feature page in the Dallas News. One story for this page — a feature on a popular singer named Alice Joy at the State Fair auditorium — got Miss Nisbet her job with the News.

It happened this way. Mr. Rosenfield was standing by the elevator of the old Dallas News building saying farewell to a departing assistant when Miss Nisbet strolled by. The amusements editor remembered the Alice Joy story; quickly asked Fairfax if she wanted a job. Miss Nisbet hung up her hat and has been working for Critic Rosenfield ever since.

The Rosenfield-Nisbet team was a sure-fire combination from the start. While Mr. Rosenfield rolled off his polysyllabic high-brow stuff, Miss Nisbet directed her stories to the "gum-chewing, cheesecake" set. Says her boss: "Fairfax has a remarkable ability of using slang with taste. She is a good writer and a good humorist."

In her early days on the job, Miss Nisbet wrote a column in the Journal called "Pardon My Southern Accent" and reviewed the "B" pictures. John Rosenfield soon nicknamed her "Queen of the Bees." She also took the night club and film row news beat under her wing. In the course of her career, she has dived into water tanks, has ridden circus elephants and has been sawed in half by Thurston the Magician.

On more normal assignments, Miss Nisbet follows some smart reporting practices. She never takes a note when interviewing a subject, unless it be a name or a date.

"I just gab away," she explains. "Pretty soon my subject loosens up and he doesn't have an unholy terror that every word will wind up in cold print."

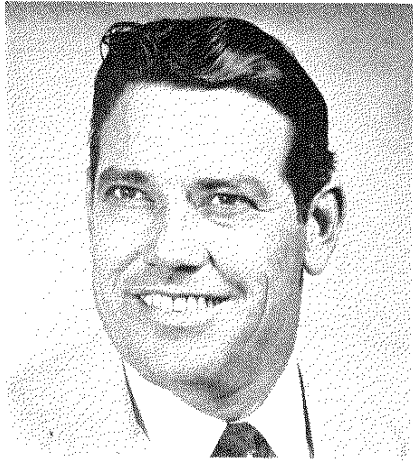

Miss Nisbet and the relentless discipline of newspaper deadlines have been a constant battleground in the Dallas News amusements department. Reporter Nisbet will chat on her favorite instrument — the telephone — until 30 minutes before deadline, then roar a feverish pace through her story.

On her first assignment, Mr. Rosenfield sent her to the Peacock Terrace of the Baker Hotel to interview some celebrities. When the regular deadline passed at midnight, there was no Fairfax in sight.

At 1 a.m. Mr. Rosenfield called the Baker in desperation. "What are you doing, Fairfax?" he asked. "Why, John, I'm dancing," she replied.

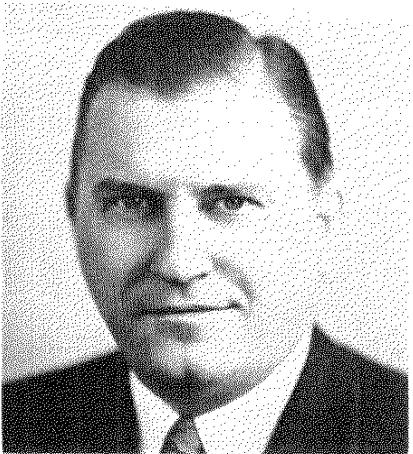

And she hasn't changed very much. Mr. Rosenfield added with a pained grin. "Why, on her birthday recently, she didn't show up till quarter of one.

"But," he added, "she wrote a good story."

Pioneer Increases Dallas Air Service 50 Per Cent

Pioneer Air Lines has increased its service to Dallas 50 per cent. The increase started August 10 when new schedules went into effect.

Harding L. Lawrence, vice president for traffic and sales, explained that Pioneer added four new daily flights to and from Dallas. This brought the total to 12 flights daily.

The four new flights provide an additional daily roundtrip between Dallas and Houston via Waco, Temple and College Station-Bryan, and between Dallas and Midland-Odessa by way of Fort Worth, Abilene, Sweetwater and Big Spring.

There are also five flights daily leaving Dallas at 7 a.m., 9 a.m., 2:15 p.m., 5:45 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. west bound for Abilene. Three of the flights stop at Abilene enroute to Midland-Odessa via Sweetwater and Big Spring and two of the flights are enroute to Albuquerque via Lubbock, Clovis and Santa Fe.

Pioneer launched a new program August 1 to restore flights suspended March 15. Part of the program includes transition from Martin Pacemasters to DC-3 planes.

The nation's oldest local service airline, Pioneer presently serves some 21 cities in Texas and New Mexico over 1,973 route miles.

The running of the fourteenth annual Turtle Derby will be staged September 5 at the Fair Park Ice Arena by the Variety Club of Dallas for the benefit of Boys Ranch at Bedford.

Turtle sales have been running high, according to General Chairman John H. Rowley, and club officials expect turtle owners from over the country to be on hand when the flag goes down for the first race at 1 p.m.

All proceeds of the event go to the Variety Club Boys Ranch at Bedford, on U.S. Highway 183 between Dallas and Fort Worth, where unfortunate youngsters are given a chance to a normal and useful life.

Boys Ranch eventually will take care of more than 100 homeless and abandoned boys.

Special features of Turtle Derby Day, besides the races themselves, include an ice follies show staged by Dorothy Franey and a tumbling act put on by boys from Boys Ranch.

MORE THAN $250,000 in wages were paid to handicapped workers last year through selling repaired material in Goodwill stores. Ninety-eight per cent self-supporting, Goodwill Industries receives two per cent of its budget from the Community Chest.

Goodwill Industries Wages Reach $2,000,000 Mark

GOODWILL Industries of Dallas, a Community Chest agency that provides special training, rehabilitation and employment for handicapped workers, reached a new milestone this month. It paid its two millionth dollar in wages to the handicapped.

Organized in 1923, Goodwill Industries of Dallas paid its millionth dollar in wages to handicapped workers in July, 1949. A ceremony was held and movie actress Ilona Massey made the presentation.

That was only four years ago, yet Goodwill has now paid out another million dollars in wages. In a special ceremony, the two millionth dollar, a silver dollar, was paid to handicapped worker John W. Sheehan, a victim of polio since early childhood.

A cashier in the Goodwill store at 2509 Elm Street, Mr. Sheehan and his family reside at 731 South Storey Street. He was selected by his fellow workers to receive the dollar, which was presented to him by Gerald L. Clore, executive director of Goodwill Industries.

To tour the Goodwill training center at 2511 Elm Street presents a fascinating picture of how handicapped men and women, who once were considered unemployable, are given the opportunity of learning a trade and earning a wage.

OVER 400 persons were helped by Goodwill in 1952.

Mr. Clore points out that Goodwill is just the first stop for a handicapped person.

"Once he has been able to master one of the 15 trades taught in our skillshops we try to place him in a job with private industry, thus making it possible for another person to begin the cycle of rehabilitation," he states.

Goodwill, like many agencies in the ever expanding Southwest, finds the lack of space a problem. At the present 214 handicapped persons are receiving training. An additional 200 are on its waiting list. During the course of a year over 400 persons will be given training.

Not everyone who is given training at Goodwill is employable in private industry. About 30 per cent are classified as sheltered employees. For those who are so handicapped in body or mind that their potential is limited, Goodwill provides a place for permanent employment.

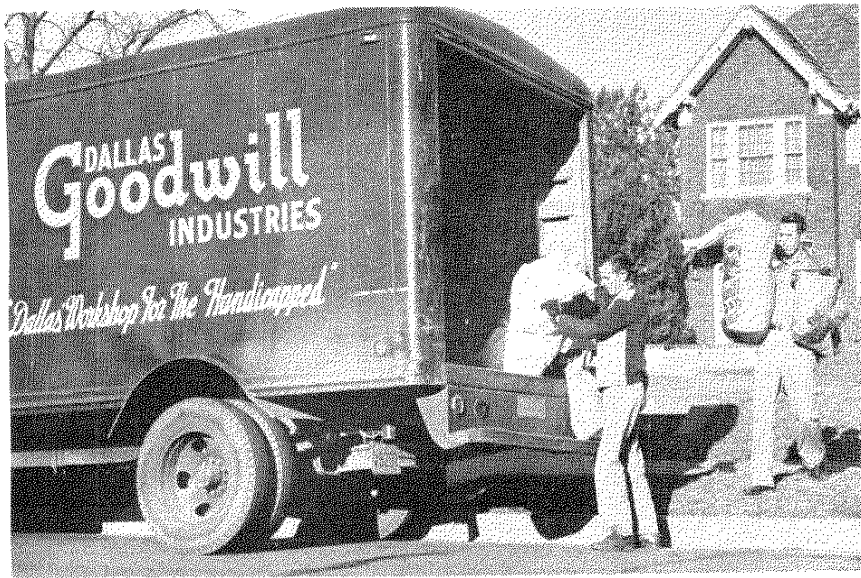

The operations of Goodwill are made possible through the contributions of discarded clothing and household articles. Last year over 40,000 Dallas families and business firms participated in the program. Additional material was gathered during Smile Day, sponsored by the Boy Scouts and the School Day Clothing Drive.

Contributed discards supply the materials for skillshop training. Such skills as hat blocking, commercial cleaning, power machine sewing, paint spraying, wood work, electrical repair, shoe repair, upholstery, printing, clock repair and stove repair are among the many trades taught.

After the material is used in the training shops it is sent to the three Goodwill stores where it is sold. Families of limited income are the most frequent customers.

RADIO REPAIR is one of the trades taught at Goodwill.

40,000 FAMILIES and business firms last year contributed discarded materials to Dallas' Goodwill Industries.

For them the Goodwill store is a place where they can buy good material at a price they can afford.

Through the sale of the repaired materials Goodwill is able to pay wages to the handicapped, and to meet part of its operating expenses. Last year $264,000 in wages were paid.

Goodwill is 98 per cent self-supporting. The Community Chest makes up the two per cent difference.

Allen Melton, Dallas attorney, and president of the Goodwill board of directors, states, "Goodwill is able to save the taxpayer of Texas nearly half a million dollars a year by taking people who are normally unemployable because of a physical or mental handicap, teaching them a trade and paying a wage while in training and adjusting them so that a place can be found for them in private industry."

Mr. Melton added that the stigma of charity is also removed at Goodwill. By working and earning and paying taxes the handicapped person has the experience of contributing to our society.

Handicapped persons, whoever they may be, wherever they may live, regardless of color or creed, are eligible for the services of Goodwill Industries.

Goodwill seeks to provide something more than a job and training and therapeutic work. Goodwill Industries provides opportunities for personal growth by helping even the most severely handicapped person to enjoy normal social intercourse, individual and group recreational activities, self-expression both on and off the job, and religious inspiration.

30,146 MEALS at a cost of 25 cents per meal were served over 400 handicapped men and women during 1952 by Goodwill.

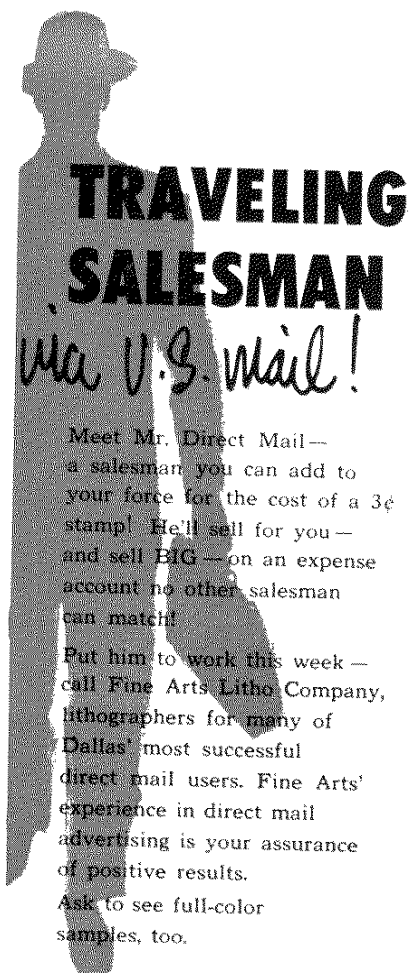

UPHOLSTERING is one of the 15 trades taught handicapped persons in Dallas' Goodwill skillshops.

PAINT-SPRAYING requires only one good arm, as do many of the other skills taught at Goodwill's shops. Pay day, below, is an especially happy occasion for Goodwill workers, many of whom are working for the first time in years.

DOWNTOWN PARKING was obviously not a major Dallas civic problem about 1892 as shown by this Main Street view* of that period. During the '80's the population of Dallas had grown to almost 40,000 people and in 1890 the horse-drawn streetcars in Dallas were electrified. That same year, Oak Cliff was incorporated by the Texas Legislature. In 1891, the National Bank of Commerce was purchased by Flippen, Adoue & Lobit, a pioneer private bank that had been organized in 1878, and the merged institution was moved to its building at the corner of Elm and Poydras. J. B. Adoue became president of the merged institution and records show that in 1892 its deposits were $126,000; its earned surplus was $10,000 and its undivided profits and reserves were $3,200. Under the same family management since 1891, the deposits of the National Bank of Commerce have grown to $15,500,000; its earned surplus to $250,000 and its undivided profits and reserves to $440,000. While the stockholders of the bank have been paid more than $900,000 in the form of cash dividends, its capital has remained the same. Today in its seventy-fifth year, and under the presidency of J. B. Adoue, Jr., son of the founder, the bank is located on the same site it occupied in 1880.

ReBulet, dated 10/8/53, in regard to the above-captioned matter

This is to advise you that at the time that my letter, dated September 30, 1953 regarding the above-captioned matter was transmitted, previous contact had been had with former FBI Agents, as follows:

[redacted] had, in conversations previous to my letter, stated that there were several ex-Bureau Agents in the City of Dallas and on two or three occasions they had gotten together and had lunch. He also advised that during the Annual Bar Convention, he had gotten together with several ex-Bureau Agents in the State of Texas and had lunch and discussed "old times" in the Bureau. [redacted] during these conversations was unaware of any active chapter of a society of former FBI Agents in Dallas and stated that on different occasions he wished there was such an organization inasmuch as he missed association with the Bureau very much.

b6

[redacted] has related approximately the same information as did [redacted] stating that at one time a few of the ex-Agents, including [redacted] had discussed forming a local chapter of ex-Bureau Agents.

[redacted] states that he has inquired from time to time if there was an active organization of ex-Bureau Agents in Dallas and has been unable to obtain any information regarding such.

At the time of my letter of September 30, 1953, [redacted] transmitted a copy of the magazine "Dallas", an ex-Bureau Agent, who is well acquainted with the other ex-Bureau Agents in Dallas and this area, stated to Special Agent [redacted] that he knew that occasionally some of the ex-Agents who had been friends while they were Special Agents of the Bureau had gotten together for lunch but that he did not think there was an active chapter of ex-Bureau Agents in this area and if there were, he had never heard any of his friends mention such.

A discreet inquiry was made of [redacted] located in [redacted] whom you stated was listed as [redacted] the local chapter of the Society of Former FBI Agents, Dallas, Texas. [redacted] stated that he was unaware of the fact that he was [redacted] and that no meetings had ever been called by him on any organized basis or otherwise of the above-captioned organization. [redacted] was also unaware of any charter being granted to the ex-Bureau Agents in Dallas. He stated that he had gotten together with a few of his friends who were ex-Agents residing in this area and had lunch from time to time with them, but there was not any planned program of any objective behind this meeting. He stated he sent in his membership dues to the National organization in New York purely for the purpose of obtaining a directory of ex-Agents so he might keep up with friends of his who had left the Bureau's service. He stated from time to time he communicated with them in various parts of the country on a friendship basis and also on a business basis. b6

A discreet inquiry was also made of [redacted] who stated that about three years ago, he had gotten a few of his friends who were ex-Bureau Agents together and they had lunched together. He stated that since that time they have had breakfast at the Bar Convention with other ex-Bureau Agents from all over the State of Texas. He stated that approximately a year and one-half ago, he got together with a few of his friends who were ex-Agents and at that time could not recall the particular names and had decided to make application for a local chapter of the Society of Former FBI Agents. He stated this was forwarded to the National Headquarters in New York and approximately fifteen months ago, he received a letter from [redacted] the National Headquarters, stating that a local charter had been issued. He stated he had never seen any such charter and only had the letter.

[redacted] stated that he had listed the names of the individuals indicated in referenced Bureau letter and had also listed the name of [redacted] but as far as he could recall, he had forgotten to advise [redacted] that he had listed his name as [redacted]. He further advised that he had never bothered to advise any of the other ex-Agents in this area that there actually was a charter existing since they had had no active organization other than to get together for lunch.

In addition, [redacted] stated that approximately seven or eight months ago a few of them, names of whom he could not recall at this time, had lunch together, but he said they were just more or less talking about their Bureau experiences and that no business of any kind was discussed.

b6

The above-mentioned ex-Agents are very friendly toward this Bureau and have, from time to time, voluntarily stated that they would like to be of any assistance in any manner possible and that they would appreciate the Bureau calling on them at any time for any assistance they might be able to render.

In the future, the Bureau will be kept promptly advised of any activity concerning the above-captioned matter.

Withdrawal Of Retirement Deductions

Thanks To Seery

Following the move of the Society's offices to new quarters, Room 2000 at the Hotel Roosevelt, 45th Street and Madison Avenue in New York, the Society, at its quarterly meeting Sept. 23, presented a resolution of thanks to William F. Seery, who had furnished office space and other facilities for six years.

The resolution, signed by President John L. Brennan and attested by Secretary Robert M. Dore, follows:

Whereas, William F. Seery has furnished office space and other facilities for the maintenance of the general offices of the Society of Former Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Inc., for some six years, solely at his personal expense and with considerable inconvenience to his business, and

Whereas, William F. Seery, as an officer, committee chairman, committee member and as a member of the Society since its inception has devoted long hours actively engaged in the conduct of the Society's day to day business, motivated solely by the development, growth and advancement of the Society and its purposes, and

Whereas, the members and the Executive Committee of the Society gratefully appreciate the splendid cooperation William F. Seery has exhibited over the years, be it Resolved, that the members and the Executive Committee of the Society of Former Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Inc., express to William F. Seery heartfelt thanks and sincere appreciation for all that he has done for the Society.

FINAL REPORT

By JOHN L. BRENNAN

During 1953, I am happy to report that the committee chairman, the officers and the members of the Executive Committee carried out their responsibilities in splendid fashion. The reports of the various committees and officers substantiate this conclusion. I want each of these gentlemen to know that I am grateful for their help and assistance, and I am sure that I speak for the membership generally in expressing this appreciation.

However, no matter how well any administration functions, there is always so much more that could and should be done—if time and talent were applied exclusively to the Society's welfare.

I should like to leave this one thought with the members, based on my experience of over 12 years as a member of the Society, some of which were spent in various committee capacities. At present we have approximately 2,500 members throughout the world. I am of the firm conviction that this number could be increased to 4,000, based on a rough survey of the number of potential members who have not joined the Society. If a concerted drive were made on a year-round basis. But this requires much time and effort, and no one of us who is engaged in daily pursuits possesses the time necessary.

That is why I believe the Society urgently needs a full-time competent operating head. Such an individual could spend his time coming up with ideas to further the purposes of the membership of the Society. In addition to this function, he could be exploring these ideas to determine if and where

John Devlin, Chairman of the Pittsburgh Chapter, recently wrote us for information as to potential benefits to former special agents of the Bureau in the way of retirement annuities to which they may some day be entitled, and respecting the Civil Service Commission's current regulations concerning the right to withdraw retirement deductions which were made during their Government service. The subject is a complicated one, but a brief outline of the more important aspects of the Civil Service retirement regulations may be of general interest and of some value.

Retirement deductions currently are made automatically from the employee's basic salary each pay period. Deductions during the past were as follows: August 1, 1920 to June 30, 1926, at 2½%; July 1, 1926 to June 30, 1942, at 3½%; July 1, 1942 to the day before the first pay period after June 30, 1948, at 5%; and thereafter, 6%.

The Government makes annual appropriations sufficient to maintain the retirement fund in sound financial condition. An employee must retire at age 70 if he has at least 15 years of service. He may retire at 60 with 30 years of service. He may retire at age 62 with 15 years of service. He may retire at 55 with 30 years of service but in this case, the annuity will be scaled down from what he would receive if he were age 60. There is also a discontinued service retirement which may be obtained at the age of 62, if at the time an employee was separated from the service he had completed five or more years of service.

These are the general rules, but there are special provisions for agents of the FBI.

Agents of the FBI were first

Hudson and the IWW's

In our June issue, we invited former agents to send us stories of their more interesting investigations. George H. Hudson of Daly City, Calif., who served in the Bureau 1917-22 as Agent in Charge of the Fresno District, tells us the story of his part in breaking up the sabotage activities of the Industrial Workers of the World in California during World War I. Attesting to George's claim that things were rough and tough around Fresno in those days is the fact that he was shot twice in the left forearm, once with both barrels of a 12 gauge shotgun, and was away from the office only a total of five days—and had to pay his own medical expenses because he did not secure the services of a government physician, the nearest being in San Francisco. Here is his story:

The IWW was organized in 1900, and in a short time had thousands of paidup members in a number of industries. Within the IWW was the saboteur unit, known as the "cats." It was up to them to handle the setting of fires and other violence, including murder.

A worker who had not joined the IWW was called a "scissor-bill," and a favorite method of "persuading" a non-member was to put concentrated lye into his shoes. We found many scissor-bills who were crippled for life by this direct action method.

Many of these persons were government witnesses in the many trials held during 1917 to 1920, when hundreds of the "cats" and member organizers of the IWW were convicted on evidence gathered by FBI agents. Thousands of pounds of IWW letters were seized in California by special agents.

Also seized as evidence was 30 pounds of yellow phosphorous, used by "cats" to start fires. The candle stick phosphorous was cut under water to proper size, then wrapped in wet rags, secured by string or wire. Each "cat" had handy at all times a bottle containing several of these fire bombs, immersed in water. When he wanted to start a fire in a haystack or building, he would throw in a ball. He'd be miles away by the time the rag dried and the fire started.

The special agents, in their raids on IWW jungle camp headquarters, also gathered hundreds of pounds of emery dust, to be used in damaging bearings and other moving parts of machinery.

When the IWW "cats" broke Record Holder?

Frederick P. Schmid of 9 Brockway Road, Hanover, N. H., enters his claim as Society member who entered the Bureau's service earliest, with March 5, 1909 his starting date. Fred served until Sept. 30, 1919. Schmid says he "came into this greatly confused world on Sept. 11, 1876," and adds "I would like to brag about my service record but my courage fails me."

His is the earliest service date called to our attention since Tom McDade raised the question in The Editor's Mailbox recently. John Gregurevich of Freeport, Long Island has recorded the earliest birth date, Dec. 2, 1871.

Insurance Booming

It is always nice to make a favorable report. Since admission to the Society's insurance plan was reopened as of June 1, 1953, the number of participants has almost doubled. To be exact, as of Oct. 20 there are 1,067 members participating in the Society's Group Life Insurance Plan. As each new batch of Society members comes in, more are added to the insurance plan, as they are aware of the time limit for taking advantage of this wonderful plan without medical examination.

There is a job here on which the presidents of the various chapters throughout the country could be of great assistance. Headquarters can supply each chairman with the names of their local members participating in the plan. If these chairmen would then contact the members in their chapter who are not participating, to find out why and to point out the advantages, it would help the Insurance Committee very much. One way to assure the permanence of a plan of this kind is to have as many members as possible participate.

If the chairman of the chapters want literature, it is available from the Society's Secretary. You will be doing a member a favor in getting him to become a policyholder. Remember, it is still the most insurance for the smallest cost available anywhere in the world.

Mortimer J. Davis,
Chairman, Insurance Committee

R. E. Lee to FCC

Robert E. Lee was appointed to the Federal Communications Commission by President Dwight D. Eisenhower on Oct. 6. The former special agent (1938-47) was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of former Chairman Paul A. Walker. His term is for seven years.

Variety, show business trade weekly, reported that there had been strong "in-fighting" for the FCC post, and indicated that Lee's appointment over other aspirants came as a promotion for his services as Director of Surveys and Investigations for the House Appropriations Committee.

Lee, 41, a Chicagoan, joined the FBI in 1938 as a special agent specializing in anti-trust and bankruptcy law. In 1941 he was made administrative assistant to Director J. Edgar Hoover. He was subsequently appointed the Bureau's chief clerk. He went to the House Appropriations Committee to direct studies to improve efficiency in government.

Appointment of Lee, who participated in the 1952 campaign for Eisenhower, brings Republican membership in the FCC to four, highest number one party may have under law. There are two Democrats and one independent on the Commission.

A Suggestion

Jack Fogarty, hospitalized several months at Yonkers, N. Y., has been doing some constructive thinking in behalf of the Society, and in a letter to Mort Davis suggests that the Society be made a limited beneficiary of the group life insurance carried by many of its members.

"We are growing so big and can do so much with a substantial treasury," he writes. "I can speak objectively as I couldn't possibly benefit by such a fund but have had the opportunity to do a lot of thinking along that line. It could be used for aid to a member's family; to help one who would otherwise have to go to a nursing home; to finance a special operation; to establish a scholarship open to members' children, based on an exam and thesis on Americanism; to defray delegate expenses to a national convention; to maintain a national headquarters; or for a hundred other objectives.

"It would be a great thing, too, to have a group sickness policy. Years ago I suggested to Jack Manning that we should go for both forms of insurance."

Final Report

they fit into our scheme of things. He could help give direction to the Society, rather than have it drift and be passive where it should be active in matters affecting its members.

Your officers are elected for a period of one year. Your Executive Committee members function for a period of three years. No one of these individuals is entirely familiar with past operating or administrative problems of the Society, carried over from year to year. It is essential that some capable former agent be at the helm as Executive Director to correlate and discharge daily duties and responsibilities as they arise.

I believe that if the Society intends to continue to progress and be of additional service to its members, consideration must be given to employing an operating director. He could handle, among others, the following continuing assignments and Miss Keogh could carry out the myriad details of a Society office:

- 1—An increased national membership drive which should have as its objective the setting up of the mechanics to obtain the names of all potential new members throughout the world.
- 2—Coordination, editing and publication of material for The Grapevine.
- 3—Improvement of form, etc., and publication of the Directory.
- 4—Exploration of additional benefits to the membership.
- 5—Consideration and implementation of a public relations program regarding the Society and its members, to supplement the work of the Placement Committee, and to obtain new applicants as well as retain existing members.
- 6—Exploration of the possibility of streamlining and reducing existing operating costs.

HEADS DEARBORN C. OF C.

Richard L. Chapman (FBI 1937-44) has been elected President of the Dearborn, Mich. Chamber of Commerce for 1953-54.

Mr. Chapman has been an attorney with the Ford Motor Company since he left the Bureau in 1944. He resides in Dearborn with his wife Ruth and three children, Ralph, 17, Richard, 12, and Johnny, 7. He is a member of the Christ Episcopal Church, the Masonic lodge and the Dearborn Country Club, and is President of the Dearborn Boys' Club.

Down Memory Lane

Frank J. McArdle (FBI 1934-41), now Territorial Security Supervisor for Sears, Roebuck & Co. in Atlanta, stirs up a memory or two. In a recent letter to Tom McDade, Chairman of the Publications Committee:

"I know you will be too modest to tell the story about yourself, but you will recall that for a long time you carried the copper head of a spent .45 calibre bullet which showed on its side the indentations made when it plunked into the old fashioned chamber pot underneath the body of Ma Barker. Of course we never did know and neither did you know if that particular bullet was fired by you at the Barkers.

"But what will not be found in the Bureau records was that on that occasion Bureau regulations were broken by some of those in that gun fight who discarded their steel vests because they were too hot and too heavy, and depended on luck and the sanctuary of trees and bushes while trading tommy-gun slugs with the Barkers, who were barricaded in their house.

"If you want a free idea for nothing . . . you might play around with the thought that reposing in the attics and basements of many ex-agents, including the writer, are hundreds of photos and negatives of pictures taken which have an historical value and would be of personal interest to Society members. It might work out well to solicit from the membership contributions of these photos or negatives with the usual identifying data and have a committee select those that depict incidents or people of wide interest. They could be printed in an album or portfolio or book, and either sold to the membership or otherwise distributed."

Or maybe published in the Grapevine?

PHOTOSTATS, ANYONE?

Lawrence A. Winsch has resigned from the Bureau after twelve years of service, and is now General Manager of the Photo Reprint Company, Inc., 40 Wall Street, New York. His firm has been serving New York's downtown area since 1924 with photostats as well as mimeograph, multigraph and offset work.

BACK FROM KOREAN SERVICE

Lt. Col. Tyler M. Birch, USAF, is back in the United States, living at 351 Grove Street, Oradell, N. J., after 19 months in Korea.

"Most Exclusive Club"

Members and prospective members of the Society have been receiving copies of a new prospectus on "the most exclusive club in the world," the Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI, Inc.

The folder traces the history of the organization and points out that it now numbers some 2,500 members, located in each of the 48 states and many foreign countries, and making up 32 active chapters.

It lists the Society's purposes, loyalty, friendship and the promotion of good will among the members.

It describes various membership benefits, including association with a most carefully chosen group of men, inclusion in the Membership Directory, subscription to The Grapevine, eligibility for life insurance, Placement Bureau service, expansion of social and business contacts through periodic meetings, membership card and information service.

Requirements for membership are stated, and applicants are directed how to apply for enrollment in any of the 32 chapters listed alphabetically in the folder.

Call Him Judge

Evelle J. Younger, Chairman of the Los Angeles Chapter, has been appointed Judge of the Municipal Court in the Los Angeles Judicial District, effective Sept. 1, 1953.

Before his appointment, Judge Younger was associated with the law firm of Guthrie, Darling and Shattuck in Los Angeles. He also held the position of Deputy City Attorney in Los Angeles, City Prosecutor in Pasadena, and was a member of the President's Highway Safety Council. In his spare time he acted as Chairman of the Republican Central Committee for Los Angeles County, and taught criminal law at Southwestern University Law School in Los Angeles.

Judge Younger joined the Bureau as a special agent in 1940 and worked in the Washington, D. C., and New York field offices for five years before resigning in 1945 to return to his home in Los Angeles, where he resides with his wife Mildred and son Eric.

DANNER NOW A TEXAN

CHAPTER NEWS

Buffalo

Leaving behind the littered debris of empty lobster shells, well-cleaned dessert plates, old cigar butts and an atmosphere charged with tension from stories of fearless deeds and close escapes from the Inspectors, a tired little band of ex-G-men were shunted into waiting cars by patient but exasperated wives on the night of August 28th, following a big day at the palatial estate of Woody Genrich in the peaceful suburban community of Snyder, N. Y., just two miles east of Buffalo on Route 5, with a left-hand turn that dares you to make it.

Brother Genrich graciously offered his place for the third quarterly meeting of the Buffalo Chapter, and it proved to be one of the most pleasant clambakes held in a long time. For the younger, more vigorous set there was swimming in the spacious pool. It was here that Ralph Gregg was awarded the Order of the Cardiac for his persistent efforts to navigate the waters faster than Old Pro Rutzen. Despite the 90 degree temperature, inviting water and attractive girls, there were several strenuous games of Lotto in progress on the porch.

At dusk the fire was lighted and lobsters broiled and served. For the next half-hour conversation was absent—a most amazing tribute to our host!

Prizes were awarded by Chairman Glen Gannon with lyrics by John Leach, whose dignity lends prestige to most any occasion. There were several abortive attempts at speechmaking but these were successfully defeated either by offering the individual another lobster or turning up the television. Undoubtedly because of oversight, the subject of the next meeting was never brought up. It was a wonderful meeting!

Jim Duggan,
Secretary.

Chicago

Senator Paul H. Douglas was guest of honor at the Oct. 28 dinner meeting of the William S. Devereaux Chapter in the Illinois Room of the Palmer House. Senator Douglas was there through the good offices of Pat Filter.

Of primary importance to members of the chapter is a deal negotiated by John Brown. When the chapter's friend at Fox DeLuxe left that company, the membership concluded that the deal for free beer had evaporated. But master arranger Brown lined up another source. Now it's Meisterbrau.

Placement Director George Stevens has lined up jobs for two ex-agents in recent months, and is continuing to keep things rolling. He has sent out a placement letter to about 500 top executives in the Chicago area, calling their attention to the Society as an excellent source of top level manpower.

Chicago Chatter: Mike Farrin is a father again, a daughter this time. That makes three boys and two girls in the Farrin household. . . . New membership applications include John Paul D. L. Christensen, Robert Barnes and Frederick Murphy.

Detroit

Walter Horn was elected Chairman of the Detroit Chapter at its Oct. 8 meeting at the Old Wayne Club. At this meeting, which launched the chapter's fall and winter season, Milt Dickerson was elected Vice Chairman, Ray Ulaeth Secretary and Harry O'Connor Treasurer. An Executive Committee consisting of Bill Quinn, Milt Boyd and Harold Fleming was elected.

The winning candidates were unanimously elected by the membership, after nomination by a committee headed by Cliff Whaling and including Larry Verdier, Walt Crow and Bill Staples.

Fred Kaess, newly appointed United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Michigan, a long time friend of many of the Detroit members, was guest speaker at the meeting. He presented a frank statement of the activities of the United States Attorney's office and highly complimented Bureau agents for their method of investigating, preparing and presenting cases.

New members present included Walt Butler of Bull Dog Electric Products, John O'Brien (not the Saginaw John) of Senate Steel Company, attorney Ken Halsey, Howard Burkhardt of Ford Motors and Bernie Downey, now living in Ferndale.

Houston

Members of the Houston Chapter honored their wives with a dinner dance at the River Oaks Country Club on the evening of Sept. 27. Preceding the event, Chapter Chairman and Mrs. Murry D. Kennedy entertained the group at a cocktail party.

Attending this social get-together were Mr. and Mrs. Franklin C. Jones Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. Parker Breese Jr., Mr. Anton Dal Sasso, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill V. Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Murry D. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kuntz, Mr. and Mrs. Day Lindburg, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Morris A. Ruebright, Mr. Charles E. Houston Happenings: Mr. and Mrs. William E. Harlan have just returned to Houston after an extended vacation in Cuba, Florida and New Orleans.

Indianapolis

Bill Williamson, President of the Indianapolis Chapter, described the Society's insurance plan and purposes of the organization, at the recent meeting of the Indiana Chapter at the Marott Hotel in Indianapolis.

An Employment Committee was set up, with Richard C. Gottier as Chairman.

The chapter mapped out an intensive membership campaign to bring in the several former agents in the Indianapolis area who are not yet members of the Society.

Kansas City

The Kansas City Chapter held a picnic at Marshall Long's Johnson County farm Sunday, Aug. 30. Chairman Wayne S. Murphy was the main promoter of the event and did a good job, too. Twenty Society members, their wives and 38 children attended. Chairman Murphy saw to it that there were plenty of fried chicken, ice cream and trimmings for all. Renewal of acquaintances and just plain visiting among the oldsters and games for the youngsters were the order of the day. When darkness came and the crowd left for home, everyone agreed that an outing such as this should be made an annual affair.

Bob Callahan, a new member of the Society, recently became affiliated with the sales staff of the Prudential Life Insurance Company at Kansas City. Bob resigned from the Bureau in September 1952 after almost two years of service. He is an ex-Marine and played pro football with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Buffalo Bills and Detroit Lions. We are glad to welcome him to the Society and hope that many years of successful business activity are in store for him at Kansas City.

Merle Spar, now with the Kansas City Division of the Ford Motor Company and formerly a Bureau agent assigned to the Augusta, Ga. Resident Agency out of Atlanta, put in his appearance at the Society's picnic Aug. 30.

Marion B. Rhodes

Los Angeles

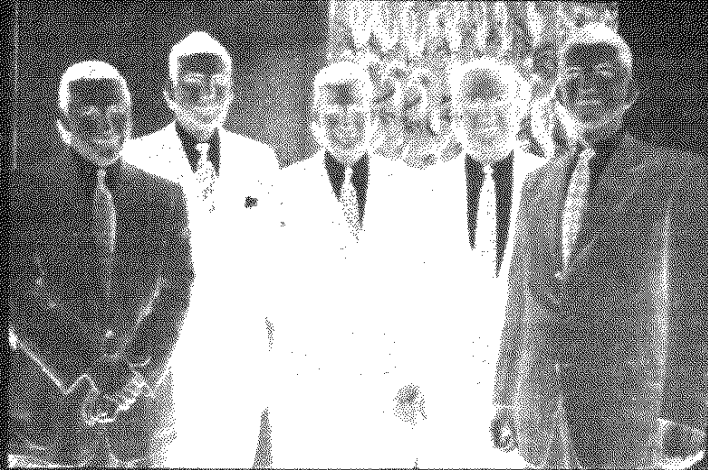

Donald L. Jackson, Congressman and member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, was guest of honor of the Los Angeles Chapter at its September meeting at the Chapman Park Hotel. He described the work of the Committee, which is entirely separate from the Bureau. He told where criticism of the Committee usually originates, and expressed his belief that the Committee's work is now receiving the public support and recognition it has long merited.

Two more members of the Los Angeles Chapter have been appointed Judges of the Los Angeles Judicial District, Municipal Court. They are Evelle Younger, Chapter President, and Bernard Lawler, who were appointed by then-Governor Earl Warren, now Chief Justice of the United States.

S. Ernest Roll, District Attorney for the County of Los Angeles, is the scheduled guest of honor and speaker at the November meeting.

Genial Gene Biscailuz, Sheriff of Los Angeles County since 1932, was guest speaker at the July meeting. The popular sheriff's son, Warren Biscailuz, counsel for Pacific Freight Lines, also was a guest, as were J. G. Bowers, Chief of the Detective Division; Captain James E. Pascoe of the Security Detail; and Harold C. Marlowe were also present from the sheriff's office. Chief Bowers and Captain Pascoe are graduates of the FBI National Academy and Deputy Marlowe is a former special agent. The sheriff's associates were introduced by member Pete Pitchess, Undersheriff of Los Angeles County.

General Researchers

Practically a Society chapter in itself is the General Research Company of Houston, whose personnel includes these five former special agents pictured here (l. to r.), Merrill V. Gregory, William H. Storey, Roland S. Torn, M. A. Ruebright and George L. Kroll. Each has more than ten years of Bureau experience. Rounding out the staff are two former Bureau stenographers. The firm, organized Jan. 1, 1953 to provide private business and industry with professional investigative services of the highest character, has already performed a wide range of services, including personal investigations, management surveys, investigations of misappropriations by employees, locating missing persons and investigations of damages and injury claims.

"Beans" Reardon, former major league umpire, told several of his baseball stories, and contributed several cases of Budweiser as door prizes. Desmond's, Bob Erskine and Ross Miller provided other items for the drawing.

Not all absentee members had as good an excuse as Ken Knudson, who was visiting his father's birthplace in Norway. Emmett McGaughey, recently returned from Europe, was at the meeting. He had just been reappointed to the Police Commission. One of the Los Angeles dailies recently "did him dirt," quite by accident, by printing his name under a picture of a dope peddler.

Evelle J. Younger

San Francisco

Highlights of the 1952 season of the San Francisco Forty-Niners professional football team were reviewed in a film presentation at the quarterly meeting of the San Francisco Chapter at the Leopard Cafe.

Bob Love, Chairman of the Placement Committee, reported several openings available to members in the San Francisco area.

Bill Connolly appointed a Nominating Committee to nominate a slate of officers for the chapter's election, to be held at the November meeting. On the committee are Emmet McCarthy, Vic Slavin, Jack Hempker and Bob Kopriva.

James B. Werson
Secretary-Treasurer

St. Louis

Approximately fifty ex-agents and their wives attended a barbecue held recently at William Siebert's country estate in suburban Webster Groves. A string quartet provided music for dancing.

At an earlier dinner meeting, Bob Herr was elected Chairman of the Program Committee, Ed Peters was named to head the Membership Committee and Lon Wilson was made editor-in-chief of the chapter's bi-weekly news letter.

Oscar J. Conrad, Jr.
Secretary

Seattle

The annual picnic of the Pacific Northwest Chapter was held Sunday, Aug. 30 at the home of Glenn Dierst on beautiful Lake Burien, with barbecued salmon and tossed salad the feature attraction. Chef Jack Wilcox and his assistants, Lee Miller and Jerry Pennington, received many a compliment from the diners, particularly from the feminine guests, relieved of the problems of planning and preparing the feast.

Special guests at the picnic included Dan Currie, John Holtzman and J. H. Harrington of the Seattle FBI field office, and their wives.

Attendance at this picnic was a record high, 36.

News from Members Around the World

Cuba

Kenneth Crosby, Manager of the Havana branch of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, writes us of life in Cuba:

Cuba is so dominated by Yankee influences and customs—in short, so Americanized—that we who live here frequently forget we are in a foreign country. Most of the upper class Cubans speak English, the Cuban peso is at par with the U. S. dollar, and imports of all American products so prevalent that with the exception of a somewhat higher cost of living, there is little difference from the routine comforts of living in the U. S.

Aside from the traditional rum and rumba, one of the most attractive features of living in Havana is the climate. It is never cold enough during the winter for heat, and my old Bureau covert cloth topcoat hasn't been off the hanger in years. Even now at the peak of summer, we find it more comfortable than the heat of New York, Washington or Atlanta, for example. Of course, such comfort might partially be attributed to the easy pace indicated by the closing of all banks, stores and offices during two hours at noon for the customary casual lunch schedule and siesta. This pleasant break in the day is a Latin habit that even the most energetic Americans seem to appreciate.

The Cuban people are better educated and enjoy a higher standard of living and social progress than in most Latin American countries. They are friendly and easy to meet, but often difficult to understand. Cubans are highly temperamental, wear their pride on their sleeves, enjoy arguing politics, and love the idea of dueling—provided no one gets hurt. In fact, I was once challenged by a prominent Cuban attorney who felt his professional reputation slandered by my questioning his secretary as to his unusual delay in the preparation of some routine legal documents required for a financial transaction of a mutual friend. Needless to say, the matter was settled off the field of honor, and we became close friends.

Tourists visiting Cuba are amazed at the speed and recklessness of the Cuban driving, as well as their emotional outbursts at anyone or anything that slows their tempo. Hence, traffic becomes a more serious hazard than dueling. The danger is aggravated by narrow streets in the old section of downtown Havana, center of the financial district and most office buildings, where some of the streets are barely wide enough to fit an automobile and require backing and filling to turn a corner. By contrast, some of the approaching avenues and boulevards stemming from exclusive residential districts are unequalled in width and beauty.

As to Bureau influence, Cuba is a remarkable example of the high measure of Bureau prestige throughout Latin America. For many years, top agents of the Bureau have maintained close liaison with the police departments and intelligence agencies of Cuba, enjoying a marked degree of cooperation and regard which has proved highly advantageous to both countries. Director Hoover was decorated by the Cuban government during the war and has been held in profound esteem by successive Cuban governments as an outstanding individual as well as Director of the Bureau. This, of course, is a source of pride to the several former agents residing here in Havana, namely Bill Beaulieu of the National City Bank of New York; Bob Durkin of the First National Bank of Boston; George Hauer, Sales Manager of the Horter Co.; and Clarence Moore, public relations counselor.

Hawaii

In recent issues of The Grapevine, Larry Olney, with the Treasury Department in Honolulu, has told us of the typical reception accorded a visitor to Hawaii, and of some of the customs of the islands. This month, Larry gives us more information on life in the Territory that probably will become our 49th state:

The only way to really know a place is to live there, and that is true of Hawaii. Come out to my place. I'll pick you up at 4:00 PM. We drive around Diamond Head to the Kahala residential district, one of the prettiest locations of homes in Hawaii. It is only ten minutes from Waikiki and about 15 minutes from downtown. You will notice that the homes are not especially large and pretentious. They are comfortable, and although they look small they are quite roomy. Nearly all of them are one story, and my place contains three bedrooms, two baths, maid's quarters attached and a lanai. A lanai is an outdoor porch glassed or screened in, and usually a part of the living room.

The Kahala District is land leased by the Bishop Estate, an old missionary family whose heirs are all deceased. The income from the estate goes to the upkeep and maintenance of Kamehameha Schools. At first you have a doubt in your mind about buying a home on leased land and you don't think much of the idea of having a home and not owning the land. However, the leases are always extended and the new lease is based on the market value of the land. For instance, I have a lease running until 1968, which is 15 years. I pay a yearly rent of $160. If I bought this land, I certainly would have to pay not less than $6,000, or probably at the present market, around $10,000 because land is not cheap in Hawaii. Figuring six percent on your investment, at a rate of $6,000 value, the yearly cost would amount to $360. The rental of $160, as you can see, is very reasonable.

Ten blocks from my home is a lovely beach which the children visit at every opportunity. Our family's entertainment is almost exclusively at the Oahu Country Club. There is all kinds of entertainment in Hawaii, but we take our friends and visitors to the Club for special entertainment and lovely dinners; and it has one of the finest 18-hole golf courses in the country. The view there is breath-taking as the Club is located between two mountains and you have a clear view, looking out over the city and the ocean. Some of our friends belong to the Outrigger Club, which is located on the beach at Waikiki.

Almost every form of entertainment you have on the mainland you will find in Hawaii. Of course, we don't have national ball clubs or national football, but we do have good baseball games and football games, and our polo games are tops. We play Yale, Harvard, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Texas, etc. in polo, and usually we beat them.

The living costs in Hawaii are high, and that is the reason the plantation workers, pineapple workers, etc., are paid among the highest wages of any in the United States for that type of labor. The government recognizes that and gives us a differential of 20 per cent as additional living expenses. Some things the 20 per cent does not cover but other things are cheaper, so you average out at least 20 percent more for living costs. However, you do save on clothing, and if your budget carries a large amount of clothing on the mainland, you can almost figure that it will cost you not more than one-third of that much here. You never wear topcoats, hats, overcoats, furs or heavy clothing of any kind.

I have never given very much thought to what the symbols of success of Hawaii really are. I don't believe there is really a standard symbol of success here. This probably reflects the fact that Hawaii is populated by several different races, and that people in Hawaii habitually take things easy. Certainly in Hawaii the amount of money you have is no symbol of success, and a pretentious home does not mean success either, because some of the top officials of large companies live in very conservative homes.

I think one element that enters into it is the length of time you have lived in Hawaii. You are very much a malihini (newcomer) even after living here for five years and even ten. The kamaainas (old timers) are those who really were born here or have lived nearly all of their lives in Hawaii.

Another element is the prominence you have taken in the promotion, welfare and build-up throughout the years of Hawaii.

Then, of course, there is the element of reputation, honesty and fair dealing.

Those elements, together with a successful business or position, a nice home and family, and participation in the affairs and for the well-being of Hawaii, will mark a symbol of success.

With best wishes and "Aloha" to you, I quote Webley Edwards on "Hawaii Calls": "Come over and see us sometime."

WINTER, SUMMER RESORT

There's skiing in the winter, swimming in the summer at Bob Mahoney's Holiday Inn at Lake Placid, N. Y. His AAA-recommended establishment is located on the lake adjoining the exclusive Lake Placid Club and just a few blocks from the Olympic Arena and the business center. Winter activities available to guests include skiing, sleighing, fishing, hockey, ski jumping, dog sledding and ice skating, as well as ice shows and the winter carnival. For summer guests, activities include swimming, boating, mountain climbing, horseback riding, tennis, golf, ice skating (indoors, at the Olympic Arena) and figure skating shows. Orrin Waterman spent a few days at Holiday Inn last August and reports a thoroughly delightful time in beautiful surroundings. Holiday Inn operates on the European plan, and rates, says Bob Mahoney, are reasonable.

Hudson and IWW's

loose in California early in 1917, SAC Hudson, having had years of experience and contact with the IWW element, was instructed by Division Agent in Charge C. L. Keep of Los Angeles to proceed immediately with emergency investigation, by forming a special service bureau of agents and operatives. Chief SAC E. M. Blandford assigned Fred W. Kelly and Ed Morse of his San Francisco office to report to Hudson, and Keep assigned agents Kosterlitsky and Hopkins from his Los Angeles office. At Fresno, Hudson had operatives Countts, Dimond, Buresch and Prendergast, as well as several hundred members of the American Protective League, commendable volunteer secret organization headed by Emory Wishon. Other law enforcement bodies coordinated their efforts through the Fresno FBI office.

This organization set to work digging into the inner workings of the IWW "cats." Agent Hudson and operatives worked undercover for months in the "wobbly cats" jungle camps and in their special meetings in halls and offices, before word leaked out that Hudson was a government agent. After that, Hudson avoided direct contact and switched tactics, raiding their office headquarters and places where they kept their valuable documentary matter and membership rolls.

In all federal indictments were secured against 54 "cats" at Sacramento, 18 at Fresno, 200 "cats" and member officers of the IWW at Chicago, 29 "cats" and officers at Kansas City, 38 "cats" and delegates at Wichita, other indictments at Seattle, Butte and Tulsa. Many other radical members were prosecuted under state criminal syndicalism laws, to avoid loading the federal courts with IWW cases. The federal trials resulted in the conviction of all IWW's arrested, and a time later the IWW organization was broken up. Since then, California has had no general fires traceable to any organized group.

After the IWW was destroyed, it was succeeded by the Communist Soviet Party, which many of the old IWW members joined. The party's principals, beliefs and teachings are the same as the IWW's were—down with capitalism, direct action against the employer, the creation of dissension, chaos and collapse.

OBITUARIES

J. B. Murphy Killed

J. Brady Murphy, 35-year-old FBI agent, was killed Sept. 25 in a gun fight in a Baltimore theatre with John Elgin Johnson, 34-year-old parolee from Alcatraz and suspect in a West Coast killing. Murphy was the 18th Bureau agent killed in the line of duty.

FBI agents were alerted to Johnson's presence in the theatre by Sid Hughes of the Los Angeles Mirror. Johnson had telephoned Hughes and was told to call back in an hour. On the second call, the newspaperman stalled the fugitive for 55 minutes while Bureau agents were notified and moved into position in the theatre, whose patrons sat watching the Mickey Spillane thriller, "I, the Jury," unaware that an actual drama of life and death was being played on the theatre's mezzanine floor.

Johnson, who was wanted for questioning in the killing by strangulation of Richard Fagner, 34, on Aug. 4 in Huntington Park, Calif., saw agents Murphy and Ray Fox approaching up the theatre stairs and opened fire through the glass door of the telephone booth. FBI bullets literally poured through the wall. Johnson, mortally wounded, slumped down, his body blocking the door. One finger caught on the jagged glass and was almost severed.

Murphy, shot in the stomach, died early the next day in a Baltimore hospital. Fox was wounded in the hip.

The slain agent was a native of Baltimore, a graduate of Loyola High School and Loyola College. He also attended Georgetown University in Washington. He had served in the Bureau for 13 years, in San Francisco, Cleveland, Chicago, Atlanta and Detroit. He is survived by his wife and three young sons.

William E. Hynan

William E. Hynan of 939 Bonifant Street, Silver Spring, Md., died Oct. 15. Mr. Hynan served in the Bureau 1934-36, and was a member of the Washington Chapter of the Society. He was an accountant.

brought within the operation of the Civil Service Retirement System on June 22, 1936 by a Special Act of Congress. A provision of law enacted July 11, 1947 enables special agents of the FBI to retire after attaining age 50 and rendering 20 years of service as a special agent. Provision was also made for more liberal annuities for special agents of the FBI and others engaged in hazardous investigative positions in Federal service. The annuity for such employees is computed on a 2% basis rather than on the 1½% basis, which is detailed below.

Creditable service includes civilian service in or under the Federal Government and generally, all periods of active honorable military service, regardless of when rendered. Military service includes service in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard. Furthermore, full credit is given, without deposit, for all civilian service performed before August 1, 1920. Credit is allowed for service, for which a refund of deductions has been obtained, only by making a re-deposit to the retirement fund. The amount required will be the sum refunded with interest and no credit will be given unless the re-deposit is made.

Annuities are computed under a basic formula as follows:

- a—1% of the average annual basic salary for any five consecutive years, plus $25, multiplied by the years of service; or
- b—1½% of the average annual basic salary for any five consecutive years, multiplied by the years of service.

The 1% plus $25 is used for average salaries up to $5,000, while the 1½% is used where the average salary exceeds $5,000.

Annuities depend, therefore, on age, length of service, average basic salary for the highest five consecutive years and the amount contributed to the retirement fund. If you leave Government service before becoming eligible for retirement on annuity, you may receive the following:

- 1—With less than five years of civilian service, you may receive a refund of the amount deducted from your salary, plus interest at 4% to Dec. 31, 1947 and 3% thereafter, compounded annually, to date of separation, except that no interest is paid if the refund period is one year or less.

- 2—With five or more but less than 20 years of civilian service you may receive:

- a—A discontinued service annuity at age 62, or
- b—A refund of the amount deducted from your salary, plus interest at 4% to Dec. 31, 1947 and 3% thereafter, compounded annually, to date of separation.

- 3—With 20 or more years of civilian service, you will receive a discontinued service annuity at age 62. You can not obtain a refund of the deductions taken from your salary.

4—When an employee member of the retirement system dies, there may be money in the fund to his credit. Whether it may be paid immediately to the beneficiary he has named (or to his estate) depends on whether he leaves a surviving widow or children. If he does not leave a widow or children, his beneficiary will receive, in the form of a lump sum payment, everything in the fund to the employee's credit, with interest, regardless of how long the worker was employed. If no one is named beneficiary, any lump sum payment which may be payable will go to the administrator or executor of the estate or to the next of kin, in that order.

It will be noted from the above that a minimum of five years of Federal civilian service is needed to qualify for any annuity benefits. Military service cannot be substituted for civilian work in connection with this minimum. However, full credit is given for military service and it is not necessary that any payment be made to the retirement fund to receive full credit therefor.

We have tried to highlight information which would be of interest to former employees of the Government who would normally be eligible only for the discontinued service annuity at age 62 on the basis of having served five or more years. Details on the other types of annuities applicable to persons now in Government service would not be of any particular interest to former employees. It is important to know, with regard to all annuity balances and benefits, that payments are not awarded automatically but claim must be filed on forms supplied by the Civil Service Commission.

Obviously, it is not possible to detail the manifold regulations relating to the Federal Civil Service Retirement System to a degree which would permit everyone to compute the potential benefits, if any, to which he may be entitled. However, if any Society member has a particular problem on this subject, the Civil Service Commission's 46-page pamphlet entitled "Questions and Answers Concerning the Federal Civil Service Retirement Law" (Pamphlet 18, May 1951) covers the subject fully and may be obtained by writing the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

November 20, 1953

Dear Member:

The results of the recent election were tabulated just before our last annual meeting and you have chosen the following officers for the year 1953-1954.

President - Robert M. Dore
1st V. P. - Thomas O. Davis Secretary - A. Hale Watkins
2nd V. P. - William A. Costello Treasurer - Eugene M. Ward
3rd V. P. - John A. Breen Executive - Ralph F. Batch
4th V. P. - George R. Blue Committee - Daniel L. O'Connor

On behalf of all of the successful candidates, including myself, I wish to thank you for the expression of confidence you have displayed in us. The new officers who were at the annual meeting on November 9th at the Hotel Roosevelt, in New York City were installed by John L. Brennan.

This year should mark a new mile-stone in the Society. During the past year John Brennan who was then President, and the Executive Committee authorized the moving of our office from an office in the financial district of New York to the centrally located Hotel Roosevelt in the same City. This move will enable us to provide better service and facilities for our members and permit us to inaugurate several new programs. Don't fail to visit our office on your next trip to New York.

There are a great many ex-agents of the F. B. I. that are not members of the Society and we want them in our midst. We want to increase our membership so that we can secure sufficient revenue to provide additional facilities for you. We would like to recommend this slogan for the next three months:

"EVERY MEMBER GET A MEMBER"

Take some non-member to lunch and get him to fill out the enclosed application.

The Public Relations Committee will endeavor to embark on a program that will enhance the stature of all of us. They hope to convince several of the larger magazines that stories about former agents make good copy, and that ex-agents are dependable, top level executive material.

Last year the Chapter Committee under the capable direction of Sam D'Anna did a wonderful job. This year we are planning a closer liaison between the Chapters and our Headquarters, and we are hoping to work out a program wherein every member of the Society (outside of headquarters City) regardless of his whereabouts becomes a member of a specific chapter.

We are anxious to have everyone of us take a more active part in the functions of the Society.

I would very much like to have an expression of opinion from every member of the Society as to what we can do to further the interest of everyone of us and what we can do to make our Society bigger and stronger than it ever was before.

Cordially,

Robert M. Dore

Honorable Hugh Clegg, Assistant Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Clegg:

The Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI has appointed me the Editor of the GRAPEVINE, our international magazine which depicts the happenings of our former associates.

I am planning to revise the publication and make it in magazine form with a three color cover. I would appreciate your kindness in furnishing me with an unusual fire arms picture, either at Quantico or at the indoor range at Washington. We would like to use such cover on our first issue.

Also, in keeping with the theme of the cover, I would appreciate a story concerning any new weapons the Bureau is using at the present time, together with information concerning possible changes in the courses given by the fire arms instructor and any new training techniques.

As you are aware, the publication circulates internationally to the more than 2500 former special agents and familiar scenes and thoughts dominate our discussions on mutual interests. The publication goes to press the first week in January, and I would appreciate your early reply to our request.

With warm personal regards, I am,

Sincerely yours,

/s/ Gordon A. Phillips
